THE LAND OF "PRETTY SOON"

I know of a land where the streets are paved
With the things we meant to achieve;
It is walled with the money we meant to have saved,
And the pleasures for which we grieve.
The kind words unspoken, the promises broken,
And many a coveted boon
Are stored away in that land somewhere—
The land of "Pretty Soon."

There are uncut jewels of possible fame . . .
Lying about in the dust,
And many a noble and lofty aim
Covered with mold and rust,
And of this place, while it seems so near,
Is farther away than the moon;
Though our purpose is fair, yet we never get there—
The land of "Pretty Soon."

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

LET POLITICS GO

SEVERAL days before the senate failed to ratify the peace treaty the Portland Oregonian expressing disgust over the Lodge proposals said that the reservation proposed to article 10 whittled the league covenant's big stick down to a "fragile switch."

Yesterday the Oregonian expressed the editorial view that "the worst that can be said of it (the amendment of article 10) is that it would delay action by this country until congress had voted." The candid view of the Oregonian was given when it spoke of the "fragile switch"; it is now talking politics.

A simple glance at the reading of article 10 and at the Lodge reservation will prove the point. Article 10 as given in the league covenant is as follows:

Article 10. The members of the league undertake to respect and preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of any members of the league. In case of any such aggression or in case of any threat or danger of such aggression, the council shall advise upon the means by which this obligation shall be fulfilled.

The foregoing is a clear cut declaration that the league members will stand together against any aggressor nation. It would stop Germany from trying to "come back." It would stop aggression by Japan because no power would dare go against such a league. It would preserve the world peace.

Now here is the article 10 amendment as contained in the Lodge resolutions:

The United States assumes no obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country or to interfere with controversies between nations whether members of the league or not under the provision of Article 10, or to employ the military or naval forces of the United States under any article of the treaty for any purpose, unless in any particular case the council, which under the constitution has the sole power to declare war or authorize the employment of the military or naval forces of the United States, shall by act or joint resolution so provide.

Even a school boy reading this amendment can discern that it takes the very life out of the League of Nations plan. It leaves the whole war subject open for future propaganda and chicanery by any nation that wishes to work such methods. It is an attempt to restore America to an isolated position, something that cannot be done.

A league covenant after the Lodge specifications would be worse than a "fragile switch." It would be so much stuff for the waste basket.

The Portland Oregonian was a good champion of the league covenant until recently. It should follow its convictions to the end and let politics ride where it may.

WHAT'S THE PROGRAM?

GOVERNOR OLCOTT has called a special session of the legislature for the announced reason that the workmen's compensation law needs attention. Perhaps it does, but the general situation permits of speculation as to other subjects that may have a bearing on the call just made. People have various measures they desire on the ballot next fall and it will be cheaper to have the legislature submit these measures than to circulate initiative petitions. The legislators can accomplish some good for Oregon if the special session is marked by a spirit of service to the state and is not too closely wedded to someone's slated program.

AN OVERSEAS DIARY

Thursday, August 8, 1918.—This morning we tied to the pier at La Havre, but couldn't go ashore till after breakfast. "France at last," was my thought and I was exceedingly glad. On going ashore we reported to "Y" headquarters with our papers of identification. Several of us walked to the top of the high cliff along and on which La Havre is built. The view over the harbor and city is very beautiful. The city of La Havre dates from 1215. The people along the streets, mostly old people and children, could not cover up the joy on their faces as the continuous stream of khaki-clad Americans marched by. I was conscious of a strange, happy feeling in the region of my heart because I was there among those Americans. By 12:50 p. m. we were aboard a very slow and jerky train for Paris.

Two coaches were full of army nurses. By invitation several of the (unmarried) "Y" men, of which number I was one, went to help entertain the corps of nurses. Those two coaches were pretty gay till we arrived at Paris, about midnight. We were met at the depot by a "Y" guide who took us to our hotel. Paris is the darkest place I have seen for some time.

3. LET US ASK WHAT YOUR IDEA IS OF PRESENT DAY OPPORTUNITIES.

Why the Most Widely Used

Over 50,000 Torbensen Internal Gear Drive rear axles for motor trucks are now in service. The tremendous demand for Torbensen Drive compelled a tripling of factory facilities in 1917 alone. Other big enlargements are inevitable. This insistent demand has made Torbensen Drive the most widely used make of motor truck rear axle in the world. And it has attained this great leadership over all other rear axles through sheer merit of design and good service.

There are two outstanding features. The first—What are the features of design that have made this rear axle the undisputed leader? For, in the last analysis, it is the design that determines the type of service that any rear axle can give.

The second feature is exclusive in Torbensen Drive—patented—impossible of imitation or improvement. A forged-steel I-Beam carries all the load. No other drive can have a forged-steel I-Beam load carrier with a patented shoulder engagement for maintaining practically perfect, permanent alignment of the load-carrying and driving parts.

This construction has made Torbensen Drive strong and long-lasting. And at the same time it has reduced its weight to about half that of ordinary rear axle drives. This strong, lightweight construction makes Torbensen Drive save gas, oil and repairs, and increases rear-tire mileage about twenty per cent.

Torbensen Drive has stood the test of seventeen years' hard work. Throughout this period its basic design has remained unchanged and unchanging—except for logical improvements in details.

This adherence to a fixed mechanical principle, and to an advanced form of its application, has resulted in a seasoned, thoroughly established rear-axle drive for motor trucks.
