Butter Fat and Butter
Butter, $1.25 @ $1.35.
Potatoes.
New potatoes, 3c a pound.

Hay Slightly Lower;
Other Grains Steady.
Hay is being offered by growers at $25.50, f. o. b. shipping point, in carload lots. This makes the retail price in Pendleton around $32 a ton. The prices quoted from Portland on coarse grains today are as follows: Mill feed, $42.25; No. 3 yellow corn, delivery, $50.37; December shipment, $64. Oats business houses. Wherever retail prices are given the fact will be specially mentioned. Barley is $63.50, 46s and $49.50. These are not retail prices at Pendleton but indicate the figure at which producers are offering their grain to jobbers on exchange in Bulk, f. o. b. in carload lots.

Prices Quoted for Grains
Are From Portland Exchange.

Local dealers in coarse grains report experiencing difficulty with some customers who misinterpret the market reports published when apprised of the retail price of coarse grains here and quote the figures in the East Oregonian as proof. For the benefit of such persons, the following explanation should be borne in mind: The market price of the East Oregonian is operated primarily for the benefit of the producer who has something to sell. The prices quoted, unless specifically noted otherwise, are those which jobbers will pay to producers. The grain prices on the exchange figures on the Portland exchange, which governs trade in this section. They are for bulk grain in carload lots and f. o. b. Portland. The retail prices which dealers charge here are made known in their advertisements, carried elsewhere in this paper.

Receipts Are Light
Prices Unchanged.
