A meeting of Royal Neighbors of America scheduled for this evening has been postponed the decision having been made in conformance with the necessity of conserving fuel and lights.

The home of Mrs. Frank Greulich, made charmingly suggestive of the holiday season by wreaths of bright holly and clusters of mauve chrysanthemums was yesterday the scene of a delightful meeting of the Inspiration club. Needlework and chatting were supplemented by a group of piano solos, contributed by Mrs. J. A. Lumsden and by a guessing contest in which trophies fell to Mrs. L. A. McClintock and Mrs. E. H. Johnson.

In serving a dainty luncheon, Mrs. Greulich was assisted by Mrs. J. Poezger.

The next meeting of the club will be held in a fortnight at the home of Mrs. Lumsden, on East Court street.

KNOW IT WELL

Familiar Features Well Known to Hundreds of Pendleton Citizens.

A familiar burden in many homes. The burden of a "bad back."

A lame, a weak or an aching back. Often tells you of Kidney Ills.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys. Here is Pendleton testimony.

Mrs. Mary A. Ellis, 210 E. Bluff St., Pendleton, says: "When I feel in need of a kidney medicine, I take Doan's Kidney Pills and they always give splendid satisfaction. I am subject to kidney disorders at times, but after I take Doan's Kidney Pills a week or two I feel as well as ever. I am glad to recommend Doan's for I know they are a medicine of merit."

Flanders, made that the world might be made safe in which to live? Did they have a vision of the countless widows and orphans who have been daily praying that this awful configuration might never again sweep the world, and who have been thanking God for Woodrow Wilson and for his efforts to promote world peace?

Did these men have a vision of the new governments now set up with a desire to assist them to enjoy their long coveted liberty? Who are these men to whom gratitude will be due "when it is all over?"

LaFollet, who in a speech during the war undertook to justify the sinking of the Lusitania, and came near being expelled from the senate for his scurrilous utterances.

Grinna, who refused to vote for the resolution declaring a state of war existed between this government and Germany.

Knox, whose speech in the senate only recently so aroused the republicans of California that they sent him a message in which they said that his speech would have sounded much better in the German reichstag.

Borah, who declared that he would "blow the treaty and league of nations if it were written by the Savior of mankind himself."

Wendexter, who, during the war declared that President Wilson ought to be impeached for his notes to Germany, which no doubt sounded much better several months and saved perhaps thousands of our boys from death on the battle fields of France.

Hiram Johnson, who like Wendexter, has also been grooming himself for the nomination for the Presidency and has stooped to every known scheme to discredit this government throughout the world and to place the brand of eternal infamy upon this nation.

Sherman, who in and out of season has been conducting a campaign of personal vituperation and abuse of President Wilson, and to hinder the president in his great world undertaking even filibustered to death the appropriation bills in the closing hours of congress March 4th last.

Lodge, who declared that he would not be deterred in his actions by the "clamor of the people." That so far as he was concerned the voice of the people had ceased to be the voice of God! That the representatives of the people had become the masters of, instead of the servants of the people, "the most dangerous doctrine ever promulgated by any man in public life since the foundation of this republic, a doctrine calculated to put representative government in this country to the test."

Penrose: The mention of whose name almost brings the tinge of shame to the countenance of any respectable man. Penrose, the man that Roosevelt denounced as a man with perhaps less official integrity than any man in public life today.

Newberry, the alleged senator from Michigan, now under indictment for perjury and violation of the corrupt practice act of the United States and according to the indictment returned against him, violated every law on the statute books of the United States and of the state of Michigan in undertaking to defame the electorate of the state of Michigan and who spent nearly a million dollars for the certificate of election, without when, Henry Ford would have been seated in the senate, the vote would have been a tie, the deciding vote would have been cast by the Vice President, the Foreign Relations Committee would not have been packed in order to defeat the peace treaty and league of nations, this "Round Robin" signed by these 39 patriots would never have been promulgated; the greatest of all world fiascos would never have been inflicted on a blessing world, the peace treaty and league of nations long since ratified, and the peace and stability of the world established.

FARMERS TASKS HARD IN RECENT COLD SNAP

(East Oregonian Special.) UMAPINE, Dec. 18.—These are cold days at Umapine. Thermometers are running down as far as 20 degrees below zero on many farms and although nearly every home has plenty of fuel on hand, the farmers have trouble getting their stock fed these wintry days. In this Hudson Bay country, famed throughout the northwest as the warmest valley in Oregon, many barns are not built for warmth but merely as a protection for the stock. This week and last, cattle are consuming twice as much hay as usual and it keeps the average farmer, hustling to finish his morning chores in time to begin the evening ones. He rises in the early morn only to discover zero or below weather, piper frozen, cows to milk, stock to feed hay to haul, pigs to feed, water troughs frozen, in chickens to feed. Pumps every morning are thawed out with hot water and stock watered by either pumping water by the old Armstrong method, or some are lucky enough to own a spring where all they have to do is chop a hole in the ice. Some ranchers have electricity for pumping purposes.

Umapine is not all a picture of woe, however. Many ranchers have rigged up the old sled with shafts, blankets and hot irons and with his feet gracefully encased in gummy socks, he is several mornings a week seen merrily sledding to the creamery, delivering his can of 95 per cent cream and maybe stopping at the store for some groceries and a chat with other neighbors on the same errand. Another bright spot in this picture is, however the thought to the farmer that his alfalfa meadow or grain field is covered with a foot of snow. This means an abundance of moisture and assures good crops next season.

FROM THE PEOPLE.

Those 39 Senators Editor East Oregonian: The following editorial appeared recently in a local paper: "When it is all over, we shall look back with gratitude to the act of the 39 senators, who, on March 4, gave informal written notice that they would not stand for the surrender of American sovereignty. They were men with the true vision of the future." Whether this brilliant effusion was from the versatile pen of Jonathan Bourne, or was evolved in the fertile brain of local home talent, makes it none the less offensive to every sane man who reads it. Speaking of that version: Did these 39 senators have a vision of the graves of millions of brave boys that now mark the battle fields of France and
