EUROPEAN PLAYGROUND NOW PLOTTING GROUND

BY HENRY WOOD,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BERNE, Switzerland. (By mail.)—From "The Playground of Europe" of before the war, Switzerland has become "The Plotting Ground of Europe" of after the war.

And all this plotting may now be summarized in one general end of "The Constitution of a Danubian Confederation."

To the credit of the Swiss it must be said that they resent in the extreme degree the abuse that is now being made of their country and their hospitality by the exiled rulers and statesmen of erstwhile empires and states, but they are as helpless in the matter as they are innocent. While they cannot keep their little country from being converted into an incubator, however, they can at least try to keep the plots being brooded therein from actually hatching, and the Swiss secret service together with its gendarmes, its policemen, its detectives and its public officials generally are putting in quite a few sleepless nights to this end.

In fact there is every reason to presume that they are losing more sleep trying to keep the plots from hatching than the plotters are in trying to make them hatch. Exiled statesmen and rulers have to keep busy; plotting is life itself to ex-statesmen and ex-diplomats and it is entirely possible that Switzerland is taking the plotting that is going on within her borders about a hundred times more seriously than are the plotters themselves. In any event both are keeping busy.

One Great Scheme.

Now that the gradual readjustment of Europe has left no doubts in the minds of certain exiled rulers like ex-king Constantine of Greece and some of the former rulers of German states of the hopelessness of their causes, all of the plotting in Switzerland has come slowly to center on one great scheme, a scheme that is not only considered possible but that is considered by many of the greatest minds and authorities of Europe as being absolutely imperative and inevitable.

This is the constitution of a Danubian Federation to replace the old Dual Monarchy, and which according to its backers, is the only thing that can insure the life of the half dozen or more states into which the old Austrian-Hungarian monarchy has been divided.

Whether this Danubian Federation has its center north of the Danube with what is left of Hungary and Austria as a basis or whether it has its center south of the Danube with Serbia and Rumania playing the leading role; whether it be monarchial or republican in form, together with half a dozen other possibilities or ramifications, are generally considered unimportant. All that is regarded as vital and imperative is that such a confederation be constituted and that it be organized in full harmony with and support of the allies.

Six Eyes Look Askance.

The new states like Poland and Czecho-Slovakia figure they can go it alone. They don't know as a matter of fact because they have not tried yet, and they are determined to try, but the political and economical statesmen of Europe are loking mighy askance. Finally Serbia and Rumania which have already demonstrated their ability to go it alone will, it is generally conceded, with their increased territory and population resources—and war debts—be able to get away with it, and yet it is insisted they would be able to do it much better in a confederae existence than alone.

Hungaria and German Austria, as they will exist when the peace conference finishes its work, will be dead states—their own people and statsmen admit that. Poland and Czecho-Slovakia are merely gambling bets. But Serbia and Rumania are considered as the two big future bets of south central Europe.

On the other hand there are just as many supporters and just as many plotters in Switzerland, who would like to see Vienna regain some of its past glory as the center of the new Danubian confederacy; Budapest is equally well represented while there are plenty of others who can demonstrate from a dozen standpoints why Warsaw is inevitably destined as the future great center of middle European life.

2-YEAR HUNT ENDS IN ARREST OF TWO ALLEGED SLACKERS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 1.—A hunt of nearly two years ended here yesterday when Frank B. Bernal, 27 and Edward Bernal, 26, sons of Francisco Bernal, a prosperous farmer of Bell station, near here, were arrested by federal officials on charges of having evaded the draft. It was charged that they fled to Mexico after failing to register in 1917, and only captured back to Los Angeles last Monday.

Walla Walla Valley Fruit Prospect Poor.

E. G. Wood, district horticultural inspector at Walla Walla, has completed an investigation of fruit prospects in the valley, following the recent cold spell, and reached the following conclusions:

Buds on peach apricot and sweet cherry trees have practically all been killed and there will be no crop next year. Prunes escaped damage. Apples were slightly damaged but enough buds wereleftto make a good crop in some orchards.

Eight Fishermen Missing.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 1.—Eight fishermen occupants of two small crafts out near the Farallon islands, were missing last night, while wreckage from one of the boats was cast along the ocean beach near the Golden Gate. The opinion was expressed along the waterfront that the boats were caught in the heavy fog last night and sank.

The captain of another codfish smack reported that while he was returning to port yesterday he heard cries for help, but was unable to locate their source in a long search.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANP SHADE

She Mixed Sulphur With It to Restore Color, Gloss Youthfulness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

To be efficient for 1920 requires keen comfortable vision.
