THE DOG OF IT.

When he jumps on you with muddy paws,
When an ancient bone he knaws,
You'll hear some cynic say
In a cold-disgusted way,
"That's the dog of it."

"That's the dog of it"—perhaps 'tis true,
But when you're down and out and through,
When you haven't a single friend,
His love livest o' the end,
That's the dog of it.

And when you're under the ground,
Forgotten your lonely mound,
He will remember, and steal away
To lie beside it night and day,
That's the dog of it.

—David Wharton.

MORE ROADS AT LESS COST

DECISION of the Clatsop county court to purchase paving machinery and do its own road improvement work in the future means an undertaking fraught with great possibilities. It can result in more roads at a considerable money saving and it can result in poorer roads and wasted money. The success of the project will depend largely upon the character of the organization which will carry on the work.

There is little question but that, with a properly organized crew under the direction of supervisors of practical and technical knowledge, a great saving of money in the building of roads can be attained. It can be assumed that the members of the court are fully cognizant of this fact and that the machinery they intend purchasing includes the human as well as the mechanical parts. They have the experience of other cities and counties to guide them and no reason is apparent why the success achieved in other places cannot be duplicated there.

Two counties in Oregon have been operating their own paving plants and each appears to have made a success of the project.

Those counties are Clackamas and Marion. In the former, it is claimed a considerable saving in costs was made, while in Marion county the result was so satisfactory that two additional paving plants are being purchased for operation next summer.

Experience has shown that, even under the contract system, Clatsop county has constructed roads, with a five-inch concrete base, as cheaply as the state highway commission builds them of crushed rock. By doing its own work, a county should be able to save the contractors' profit, as well as the expense of hiring inspectors and at the same time eliminate the numerous delays in completing the pavements.

In Umatilla county one problem deserving of serious study is, how to provide a proper pavement on the highways that will lead to the Columbia river and over which heavy trucking will be done. It is obvious that these roads will require a different type of construction from the roads used for lighter travel.

THE PORTLAND PRESS SHOULD STUDY ARITHMETIC

BETTER salaries should be paid to teachers in Oregon but higher salaries will not end the teacher shortage so long as we need 1000 new teachers annually and have only one normal school turning out but a handful each year. At the last election a constructive measure on this subject was upon the ballot and if adopted would have solved the problem. Not a Portland newspaper supported the measure and the Oregonian actively opposed it. The measure was beaten and as a result there is a more pronounced teacher shortage in Oregon and the bolsheviks are trying to get in their work. It is a logical development and will probably continue until in some way the Portland press is awakened to the fact that when the divisor is large and the dividend small you cannot expect the quotient to get very far, even if given a crutch.

ABOUT CABINET CHANGES

"A CABINET of changes," sneers Harper's Weekly apropos of the prospective retirement of Franklin K. Lane, and "there is still time for several more changes."

How differently things were ordered in those dear Roosevelt days! Wilson has had two secretaries of state and Roosevelt had only three, comments the New York World in a recent editorial. Wilson has had one secretary of the navy and Roosevelt had only six. Wilson has had one secretary of the interior and Roosevelt had only two. Wilson has had two secretaries of war and Roosevelt had only three. Wilson has had only one postmaster general and Roosevelt had only five. Wilson has had as many attorney generals as Roosevelt, and two secretaries of the treasury to Roosevelt's three.

During the Roosevelt administration there were nine departments of government and twenty-nine more or less distinguished statesmen wandered in and out of the cabinet, and only one of them managed to survive both of the Roosevelt administrations. But it is the Wilson cabinet, of course, that is "a cabinet of changes."

It is probable that a state reapportionment bill will be passed in Oregon following the announcement of the present census. When that reapportionment is made representatives will be awarded the various counties on a basis of population, which is one good reason why Pendleton and Umatilla county should insist upon an accurate census.

Pendleton extends cordial welcome to new business houses whether in retail or wholesale lines. This is an old town but it has young ideas and one of them is a desire to grow in accord with the requirements of its large and productive territory.

AN OVERSEAS DIARY

(By Rev. J. E. Cornelson who served with the Y. M. C. A. overseas.)
Friday, August 20.—Our canteen supplies are getting low. Mr. Cappe has gone to headquarters to secure more. We are out of many things that the men want and ask for so often that it is hard to tell them that we have none, but were expecting them any time. Truly "hope deferred maketh the heart sick." But in this front line "Y" service when supplies fail to arrive, no matter who is to blame, it has two effects, it makes the "Y" man sick to be forever saying that certain things are out, and it makes the "dough-boy" miss the "Y" for something that cannot be prevented. The quartermaster fails to furnish the supplies to the "Y" and often the "Y" can't get the transportation.

Oh, oh! Boo, hoo, hoo! Some Tommy came in and claimed our little dog and took her right out of her nice bed. He said she had been with him for seven months that he cared for her after the shrapnel had wounded her. Of course we let her go with him.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify, and freshen the entire alimentary tract before eating more food.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless. Drink phosphated hot water every morning to rid your system of those vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

When the Grip Leaves You With a Cough

EPIDEMICS of LA GRIPPE often leave many persons with persistent, wearing coughs that hang on for months if neglected. There is one reliable family cough medicine that helps from the very first dose. It relieves the tightness and soreness, covers the inflamed surface with a soothing, healing coating, loosens and aids in expelling phlegm and mucus, clears the air passages, eases hoarseness and banishes the nervous tickling in the throat. That remedy is

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound

It contains no opium, morphine, chloroform or other injurious drug. It is an old-time home remedy combining the curative effects of pine tar and honey with plants and herbs found in forest and field.
