New Job Pressman Arrives
A. L. Meader, formerly of Pendleton but who has been in Portland during recent months, arrived Saturday to take a position as pressman in the job department of the East Oregonian. He will succeed George Rhodes who has resigned.

Major Swartzlander Ill.
Major E. L. Swartzlander, superintendent of the Umatilla Indian Agency, is ill at his home at Mission today with the grip. Inquiry at the agency today revealed that the Indians are not being afflicted with the influenza like they were last winter and so far no serious cases have been reported.

Consider Memorial Hall.
Residents of Pilot Rock and the south country district were called to meet at the Oddfellow Hall in Pilot Rock at 8 o'clock last night for the purpose of taking up consideration of a Community Hall as a memorial to the men of that region who died in service. The fund has already reached $1000 and various organizations are backing the movement.

Red Cross Directors to Meet.
Directors of the Umatilla County chapter of the American Red Cross have been called by President L. C. Scharpf to meet at the federal building on Wednesday at 2 p. m. Directors will be here from all the county towns and it is probable that steps will be taken by the chapter to assist in every way in stamping out the influenza and other contagious diseases.

Work Stopped On Building.
Construction work on the new addition to St. Joseph's academy has been halted by the cold, rainy weather. The framework of the building is completed and the other construction work is well under way. P. A. Baillargeon, of Seattle, is the architect and builder for the structure. At present the day school is closed because of the influenza situation, but the boarding school is continuing.

They will remain there until Saturday. They will be in Athena from February 2 to 4, inclusive, in Pendleton from February 5 to 14, inclusive, and March 6 to 15, inclusive, and in Echo February 16 to 17, inclusive.

Miss Reber Is Featured.
A picture of Miss Jean Reber, daughter of Dr. N. D. Reber, appears in this weeks fotogravure section of the New York Tribune, with the following comment: "Because she came out of the mountains of Oregon and achieved immediate success as a solo dancer in a Broadway operetta boasting a goodly number of talented artists, is one reason why Jean Ribera, of "The Magic Melody," is kept busy these days receiving congratulations." Miss Reber left Pendleton to study dancing in New York and has achieved success on the stage. Her sister, Miss Doris Reber, who visited here recently, is studying voice in Chicago. The two girls hope to go abroad later to study ogether.

Disconcerting.
"The chorus girls are somewhat timorous about doing their drill."
"Why, it went great at rehearsal."
"Yes, but they feel somewhat nervous under the scrutiny of an audience composed largely of second lieutenants."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

WOMEN TO BE INFORMED OF PHYSICAL RATING

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Jan. 27.—Each girl student in the University will receive a report on her physique, for her own information and that of her parents, exclusively, when a plan just decided on by Miss Mabel L. Cummings, head of the department of physical education for women, is put in operation.

Under the new system, each girl will be surveyed much as the entries in "better babies" contests, and the general result will be given to each, showing her how she stands with relation to the general average in physique.

"SILVER THAW JAG" WORKS MARVELOUS JOY EFFECT

PORTLAND, Jan. 27.—Louis Benjamin is partial to flowing whiskers and moonshine liquor. And Louis lives in South Portland.

It was late Friday night that Louis betook himself, whiskers and all, on an uncertain pilgrimage into the east side suburbs. He started out with a well filled bottle of that particular brand known as "white mule," but before he had reached his journey's end he had no more use for the bottle. The excessive cargo was stowed safely away down in thehold.

But the seas, early Saturday morning were exceedingly stormy. It was the chill morn of Portland's embryonic silver thaw, but Louis thought nothing of the freezing raindrops as he stumbled into a friendly bush and laid his weary head down in peace.

An hour later, a passerby came upon him. The rain pattered gently upon the sleeping one's hirsute appendage, and as it fell it turned to ice. The pedestrian stood for a moment entranced and alarmed, but recovering his equilibrium, telephoned a hurry-up call for the police.

When Louis, whiskers, moonshine and all, arrived at Second and Oak, he looked like a cross between Santa Claus and the emperor of Iceland. Icicles were frozen solidly to his flowing beard. The frost had nipped viciously at his nose and ears. He had been completely and exquisitely silverthawed.

It took Louis three days to thaw the ice from his whiskers and rid himself of the potency of the "white mule," and as he stood before Judge Rossman yesterday in municipal court he was the very personification of contrition. The court took into consideration the arctic hardships which the south Portlander had suffered and bade him go his way under a suspended sentence.
