"Dr. 'Home-Path' Prescribes 'Home Trade Tonic'"

The economic development of our commerce is a marvel of the age. The producer, the jobber, the distributor, the retailers, have stopped at no end in their efforts to please the consumer, to offer constantly improved merchandise, to include constantly bettered service. The advantages we are offered in this respect as compared with those available to our forefathers are truly amazing.

Our home products have kept in step with this progress. They have invested enormous sums of money in plants and equipment to take care of our demands. They have spared no expense in their effort to give us the sort of goods we want. Now, they ask for our patronage and they are surely deserving of it.

Let us include a little more of the "golden rule" practice in making our purchases hereafter. Let us show our loyalty to our city and our industries by adhering to the Made at Home Rule.

When you hear a man "knock" the town in which he lives, you can put it down "pat" that an eclipse dwarfs his mental vision.
