"The Home Ideal"

The intending home builder, is for the most part, like a traveler in a strange and foreign land. He is not sure of his bearings; he is confused by conflicting claims, in doubt as to real values and in constant danger of being imposed upon by strangers. He should avail himself of a reliable guide as to where to go, what to look at and what to buy. Come in and let us explain our free plans and service to you. See us if you want a load of good RockSprings Coal.
