

Social and Personal

Mrs. J. F. Sanders and her daughter Miss Ruth Sanders who have been making an extended visit at the home of Mrs. Sanders' sister, Mrs. Charles M. Peacock, 205 Garden street have been called to their home in North Powder by word of the illness of Mrs. Sanders' husband.

Mrs. T. C. Taylor and Mrs. R. N. Stanfield, formerly of this city, are among the patronesses for the lecture by Lieutenant Conroy Dawson, to be given in Portland February 29 for the benefit of the University of Oregon woman's building.

In the Portland Journal and Oregonian yesterday appeared attractive portraits of Mrs. John Ross Dickson, former Pendleton matron. Mr. Dickson has been elected president of the Portland Young Women's Christian Association.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Berkeley, former Pendletonians, who are now making their home at Hayward, Oregon, where Mr. Berkeley is present.

managers of the Baldwin Sheep Company, will be interested to know that they are enjoying an extensive visit in California. They are at present guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Monnessat Hollywood, a suburb of Los Angeles, and before returning to Oregon will enjoy with the Monnessats a motor trip through the southern state.

The Woman's Benefit Association of the Lady Macabees will not hold their scheduled meeting at 2 in Eagle-Woodman hall, indefinite postponement being made because of the influenza situation.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Rogers (Miss Elsie Geist) returned last evening from Walla Walla where their wedding was an event of Friday, the services being read at 12:20 o'clock in the Congregational Church with Reverend Homes officiating. The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brandley (Miss Edith Keateley) of Pendleton and only immediate friends and relatives were present.

The bride was charmingly attired in a traveling suit of deep blue worn with a small hat to match, and her train of honor chose a costume of the same color cut on tailored lines and worn with a hat of blue. After the service the wedding party enjoyed a dinner at Hotel Duces.

Mrs. Rogers, who is a sister of Edward E. Geist, came to Oregon last summer from her home in Minneapolis and has since been associated as stenographer with the Standard Oil Company. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Rogers and during the war was stationed with Company 1, 62nd infantry at the Presidio. He received his discharge from service last May while home on furlough. He is employed with Oddfield and Peterson in the automobile business.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers will be temporarily domiciled at 215 Blaine street.

The Ladies Pioneer club of Pendleton will not hold a regular session scheduled for tomorrow afternoon. The February meeting is to be cancelled, the club to convene again early in March.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Montgomery and little son Stephen are being welcomed for a stay in Pendleton. They have recently made their home in Baker. The Montgomerys are temporarily domiciled in the J. N. Burgess home on Jackson street.

Of interest to Umatilla county folk is the wedding in Corvallis on January 24 of Miss Ruby Davidson and Herman A. Stages. The ceremony culminates a romance which had its beginning at Philomath college during student days, the bride having specialized there in music.

Mrs. Stages is a former Elberton, Wash. girl and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Stages of Weston. The couple will reside at the groom's ranch home.

BABY NAMED LYDIA E.

Because Her Mother Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I could not write all my thanks for your blessed medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in a very bad condition and had lost two babies. One of my good friends told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and after I had taken eight or ten bottles I felt like a different woman. I kept on taking it until my baby girl was born last month and we have had her christened Lydia Elizabeth. I wish you to publish my letter to benefit other women who are suffering as I was."—Mrs. KATHERINE KUEZBACKER, 1086 Manhattan Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Women who suffer from any feminine ailment should not lose hope until they have tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The many convincing testimonials constantly published in the newspapers ought to be proof enough for women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine they need.

CROWN PRINCE EXPOSED BY SERIES OF MESSAGES

BERLIN, Feb. 2.—A series of telegrams alleged to have been sent in the early stages of the war by the then German Crown Prince Frederick to the emperor, the imperial chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, Count Ernst von Reventlow, editorial writer of the Tages-Zeitung, and others, containing criticisms of men and events, is published by the Vorwaerts.

In February, 1915, the crown prince is said by the newspaper to have wired to the chancellor, expressing disapproval of an editorial in the North German Gazette discussing the war aims. He also expresses disgust with Professor Hans Delbrueck of the University of Berlin, and others whom he designated as "reactionary idiots."

Tried His Patience
Delbrueck especially appears to have tried sorely the patience of the imperial heir, who, under date of December 26, 1914, wired his father as follows:

"Professor Delbrueck of Berlin has written an unkind article in the Prussian yearbook in which he displays the most vulgar and most unpatriotic sentiments. I urgently beg you to remove this fellow from the university. If he has influential friends in higher civilian positions, this circumstance does not alter the case."

The Vorwaerts expresses the belief that Delbrueck, whom the paper describes as "Bethmann's intellectual man who was pious in his devotion to the Hohenzollerns" will be surprised and amused when he learns of the proposed Christmas gift the crown prince had in store for him five years ago.

Only One War Aim
In a message to Reventlow the crown prince complimented the Pan-German editor for his rebuke to Editor Zimmerman of the Lokai Anzeiger, who, early in 1915, ventured to discuss war aims. That same day the Hohenzollern action telegraphed to August Seherl, owner of the Lokai-Anzeiger, thus:

"I regret exceedingly that your editor, Zimmerman, has been allowed to write such nonsense. All of us recognize only one war aim: 'Down with England.'"

The Vorwaerts states that the crown prince apparently inherited from his sire not only the "gift of gab" but also a fondness for telegraphing. The paper concludes:

"With such pleasantries this army leader and danger after politicians amused himself before the enemy."

GIRLS MUCH FETED IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—Miss Celia and Miss Rebecca Clare, daughters of Samuel L. Clare, a member of the Clifton delegation to the financial conference held in Washington, have been much feted during their visit in the Capital City. Among the many functions given in their honor was a dance at the Argentine embassy.
