MRS. JUDD RETURNS.
Mrs. F. E. Judd arrived in Pendleton this morning from Portland. With Mr. Judd, who is now in Portland, and Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Jackson, she recently toured southern California by motor. Mr. and Mrs. Judd will in the future make their home in Portland and will occupy the W. H. Nunn home -96 Twenty-first street. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson remained in California for another month at El Encanto, Santa Barbara.

ARE GUESTS AT DINNER.
Dr. F. W. Vincent, Major Lee Moorhouse and John Lambirth were dinner guests Sunday of the King Chong Tai Co., the event being inspired by the old Chinese New Year observance. The dinner was a sumptuous affair with all the artistry of Chinese culinary practice displayed. Among the delicacies served were shi-ho sou, broiled pork, chicken and mushroom Chinese nuts and other dishes, with ginger flavoring and oriental spices predominating. The dining room was decorated in rich oriental style, the affair being a high compliment both to the honor guests and to the spirit of old China which is not forgotten by the older generation in Pendleton.

VISITING AT JERARD HOME.
Mrs. Frona Regan and daughter, Katherine, are here from Pasco for a short visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Jerard. Mrs. Regan is Mrs. Jerard's sister.

STUDENTS ARE ENTERTAINED.
Miss Gwendolyn Rogers, who is a student at Whitman college and Miss Edith Miller, also in Walla Walla attending St. Paul's school, were entertained in Pendleton over the weekend at the home of Miss Rogers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Rogers on north Main street. The girls came Saturday afternoon, returning last evening.

SURPRISE PARTY ENJOYED.
Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hall were delightfully surprised Saturday evening when a group of neighbors called unannounced at their home, 802 West Alta street, bringing with them bundles and baskets which later proved to be "goodies" for a supper. Musical numbers included a group of piano solos by Mrs. Eugene Lyman. Besides the honor guests the party included: Mr. and Mrs. Lee Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman, Mr. and Mrs. Pen Hicke, Mrs. Frank King, Miss Ada Brown, Mrs. Frank Taylor, Mrs. Helen Bells, Mrs. V. Stroble and little Miss Janet Lyman.

SAFE WHICH IS AUTOMATICALLY SET FREE AND FLOATS AWAY WHEN MAIL SHIP SINKS

A floating safe, an ingenious invention for the use aboard ships carrying valuable mail, has been adopted by the Dutch government. The device consists of the safe proper and a cradle in which it rests. If the ship sinks the cradle is released automatically and drifts away with the safe. The safe is kept on deck in full view of the bridge and is electrically protected against robbery. It is used to carry registered mail, bearing special stamps, which are obtained at all Dutch postoffices.

Pockets the Latest Thing in Bathing Suits Worn at Palm Beach

This is the very latest word in bathing suits, advised from Palm Beach state. Notice the pocket. When Mrs. Archibald McNeil, Jr., of Bridgeport, Conn., who was Miss Ann Orr, appeared on the beach in her new outfit she created quite a stir among the members of the fashionable colony.

DEANS OF WOMEN IN MEETING IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—Construction work among college women was the general topic for discussion at the meeting of the Association of Deans of Women of State Universities, which convened here today.

Frank ideas as to methods of gaining better results among college women will be presented according to Miss P. Louise Nardin, Madison, Wis., a member of the society.

Speakers from all parts of the country will be in attendance. Among speeches scheduled are: "How to Help the Self-supporting Girl," by Mrs. K. W. Jamison, dean of women of the University of Montana; "The Present Housing Situation and Plans for the Future" by Mrs. W. J. Keller, University of Wisconsin, and "Constructive Methods of Securing Better Dancing" by Miss Ella Fulton, dean of women of the University of North Dakota.

The report of the national foundation of Women for Social Health, will be given by Dean Ruby E. C. Mason of the University of Illinois.

A report on the salary and status of deans of women in state universities will also be presented, followed by the election of officers.

Dean Ruby E. C. Mason of the University of Illinois will preside. The convention will continue until Feb. 25.

ITALIAN FACES SECOND TRIAL ON ONE CHARGE

PORTLAND, Or., Feb. 23.—Joe Lombardi will go on trial here today for the second time on a charge of white slavery. The jury which previously heard the Lombardi case disagreed, after an all-night deliberation.

Joe, during the first trial, described the "love fever" that crept over him last July which caused him to propose marriage to a 16-year-old girl within a few hours after their first meeting.

He came to Portland from Yakima, Wash., he said, at the girl's own request and intended to marry her here, but was arrested before he could carry out his plans, he testified.

It appears it didn't make much difference to Lombardi whom he married. He had the "fever" and he just naturally wanted to wed some one. When informed by the mother of the girl he had brought to Portland that she was already married, he didn't quit seeking a mate, Joe stated under cross examination. He gained his liberty on bail and had married three days after his arrest.

The Italian had never seen the girl he married before. Mrs. Lombardi, young and pretty, sat at her husband's side throughout his first trial.

"MYSTERY MAN" IS FLU PATIENT IN SPOKANE

SPOKANE, Feb. 23.—His mind a blank the authorities are now attempting to establish the identity of a patient at the influenza hospital, according to Chief Deputy Sheriff Long, who was notified by the hospital attendants last night that the patient does not know his name.

Deputy Sheriff Long picked up the "mystery man" early this week at Geib station near Cheney. He appeared to be ill and was sent to the influenza hospital.

"He is about 55 years, old, wears a brown mackinaw and his clothing is rather rough," said Officer Long. "He had been wandering around several days when we found him."

LOOT LIONEL'S LAIR OF LAID-IN LIQUORS

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Friends of Lionel Barrymore are going to pine for the outside cellars of the actor's country home at Hempstead, L. I.

Outside of being a stage favorite, Mr. Barrymore has forthright and vision. More than a year ago he stored in the cellar whiskey, gin, cognac and Scotch. The goods would bring today about $10,000.

Mr. Barrymore is playing in Pittsburg and upon his return was to have given one of those house parties for which Nassau county has become famous since the dry law went into effect.

During two months robbers have entered the cellars of society people in the country and have stolen priceless wines and liquors but so far as is known have left a few bottles as a memory of the halcyon reign of King Bacchus. No other loot was taken.

Charles Jones, care taker for Mr. Barrymore, yesterday noticed footprints in the snow ending to an opened cellar door. A lock had been pried off. Entering the cellar, Mr. Jones took one look, then sped to police headquarters. Every bottle of the treasure had been stolen.

Friends told Mr. Barrymore of the disaster over long-distance telephone last night. They'll never forget his anguish—or his language.
