

People Here and There

It's a bit early in the season, but nevertheless John Dickson thinks he'll spend his summer vacation listening to the sea waves. You see, John is a member of the naval reserve and yesterday received notice that out of each year for the next seven years, he is to spend two weeks in naval training. He says he has outgrown the sailor suit he wore during the war and taking this fact as a forecast, he expects to buy a new one every year until the allotted years are past and only a happy memory of navy training remains.

T. H. Banfield stepped off No. 6 this morning and went to the Elks building before essaying a bit of breakfast, to see how work is progressing. Mr. Banfield is in charge of the construction, the contract being held by Parker & Banfield, of Portland.

The word "walk" is not found in the vocabulary of Alaska, says Luther J. Goldman, who returned yesterday after spending almost a year in the island of the midnight sun. Everybody "mushes" and Mr. Goldman did just the North Portland yards Monday that when he traveled from Fairbanks and caused a big slump in the coast, a distance of about 400 miles, by snow shoes. Mr. Goldman's nose is still peeling after getting a touch of frostbite when the mercury dropped to 70 degrees below zero. "It doesn't seem cold in Alaska if you keep moving," says the traveler.

Coyotes are scarce in the Prosser region, according to Stanley Jewett, of the United States Biological survey who returned from that region today. Mr. Jewett says that while coyotes have been struck in the Horse Heaven country, it is not found in commercial quantities.

Mr. and Mrs. Abs. Compton, who have made their residence in Pendleton for a decade, will leave tomorrow morning for Portland, later going to Bellingham, Wash., where they plan to take up their residence.

Frank Byrd, Pilot Rock stockman, figured like a great many other inland cattle raisers, that last week end would be the opportune time for shipping his cattle to market. His shipment was among the many which hit "mishers" and Mr. Goldman did just the North Portland yards Monday that when he traveled from Fairbanks and caused a big slump in the coast, a distance of about 400 miles, by snow shoes. Mr. Goldman's nose is still peeling after getting a touch of frostbite when the mercury dropped to 70 degrees below zero. "It doesn't seem cold in Alaska if you keep moving," says the traveler.

morning after experiencing reduced prices for his stock. Besides raising cattle, Mr. Byrd is vice president of the First Bank of Pilot Rock.

E. T. Avison, who with Mrs. Avison left this morning for Oregon City to reside, is a prominent member of the local Elks lodge and has been acting as chaplain for the order. He states that he will return to Pendleton for a visit when the dedication of the new Elks building occurs. From present indications, dedication will be sometime in September.

J. P. Richardson, specialty man for the Standard Oil company, usually makes a flying trip to Pendleton to look over the office here. This time, because of illness, he has been here for the past week under a doctor's care. Mr. Richardson, who travels all over the state and has headquarters in Portland, expects to leave here Friday.

Hornace Walker, formerly county commissioner from Starbuck, is in the city today. Mr. Walker doesn't mind private life, inasmuch as his home city still is represented with a commissioner.

S. D. Peterson is in Pendleton today from Milton to file a few papers with the county clerk and see what is in the air politically. Besides being a well-known lawyer, Mr. Peterson is as staunch a republican as his cousin, Will Peterson, is a democrat.

Jack Lodging, who owns the butcher shop in Helix, turned the cleaver over to the sausage boy today and came to Pendleton on a business trip.

The roads between Portland and Pendleton are in very good shape for travel at this time. E. E. Judd, director of the American National Bank, declared today after having made the trip with Thomas Thompson Monday and Tuesday. They drove from Portland to Wasco on Monday and spent the night there, completing the trip yesterday in seven hours. The distance was exactly 240 miles, using the route through Echo. Mr. Judd is just back from a long motor tour of California, having driven some 2500 miles without touching a tire. He is quite interested in one Douglas Fairbanks motion picture actor, with whom he became quite well acquainted while in Los Angeles. Doug, according to Mr. Judd, is a regular fellow and among other things spends two hours every morning working out in a big gymnasium of his own. He plans all of his own stories, works out his daring feats in the gym first and then places his scenery according to measurements. The star is a regular dynamo of energy and has all the personality off the screen that he shows thereon, Mr. Judd says. The Judds will remain here until March 1, when they plan to remove to Portland.

How to Use Vick's VapoRub To Prevent Flu

Flu Germs Are Breathed In. Inflamed Air Passages Make Ideal Breeding Grounds for These Germs. KEEP AIR PASSAGES OPEN

Melt a little Vick's VapoRub in a Spoon Night and Morning and Inhale Vapors—Apply Up the Nostrils Several Times a Day, Especially Just Before Being Exposed to Crowds.

Flu This Year is Milder While we know very little more about the flu now than we did last year—the germ itself has never been positively identified—still most authorities agree that the flu germs are breathed in. If the system is in good shape and the membrane or lining of the air passages is in healthy condition—these germs are thrown off. A good plan is to melt a little Vick's VapoRub in a spoon night and morning, and inhale the vapors, also apply a little up the nostrils several times a day, especially just before being exposed to crowds.

Treat All Colds Promptly Above all, keep free from colds, as colds irritate the lining of the air passages and make them real breeding grounds for germs. Prompt use of Vick's Vapo Rub aids in preventing colds. For head aches, sore throat, throat and chest and cover with a warm flannel cloth. For deep chest colds, severe sore throat or bronchitis, hot wet towels should first be applied to the throat, chest and back between the shoulder blades to open the pores. Then Vick's should be rubbed in over the throat and chest. The Vick's should be spread on thickly and covered with two thicknesses of hot flannel cloths. Leave the clothing loose around the neck, so the vapors released by the body heat, may be freely inhaled.

These vapors, inhaled with each breath, carry the medication directly to the lungs and air passages. At the same time Vick's is absorbed thru and stimulates the skin, thus aiding to relieve the congestion within.

Use of External Treatment for Colds Increasing.

Vick's VapoRub is the discovery of a North Carolina druggist who found how to combine in Salve form, the standard time tested remedies, Camphor—Menthol—Eucalyptus—Thyme, etc.—so that when the salve is applied to the body heat, these ingredients are liberated in the form of vapors.

Vick's is particularly recommended for children's croup or colds, since it is externally applied and therefore can be used freely and often without the slightest harmful effects.

The best evidence of the value of Vick's is the steadily increasing number of people who have been converted to the use of this "outside" treatment.

Beginning with the customers of a small retail drug store, the use of Vick's has grown—year by year—state by state—until now more than 75 million jars are used annually. And this is in spite of the fact that Vick's is a new form of treatment to many folks in the North and West. Vick's can be had at all druggists in three sizes—20c, 50c or $1.20.

Lee Savely today brought suit against E. W. Rhea and Effie Rhea to recover $1740 damages for alleged removal of property on which they are tenants. The plaintiff acquired title from the defendants by mesne conveyance and they remained as tenants by sufferance, later removing personal property alleged to be worth $580. The plaintiff is represented by Raley, Raley & Steiner and H. J. Warner.

APPLE SHIPMENT FROM HOOD RIVER IS HEAVY

HOOD RIVER, OR., Feb. 25.—Shipments of apples from here during the last week have been heavy, more than 250 cars of fruit having rolled to
