Guests were greeted at the door by two colonial maids, represented by Mrs. C. H. Conroy and Mrs. Susan Payne, Mrs. Mary McGee, Mrs. Lola Taylor and Mrs. Tillie Walters.

U. is not finished and appealed for action in combating waywardness of young boys and girls of the coming generation. Mr. Keator declared present efforts are not strong enough and that through the home comes the dominant influence.

A tea table, charming in its appointments, was centered by snowdrop blossoms and calla lilies decked the club room. Mrs. S. A. Lowell and Mrs. L. H. Haley presided at the tea urns and in charge of serving were Mrs. M. J. Mathews, Mrs. William Goedecke, Mrs. James Akey and Mrs. J. W. Maloney.

is an abundance of salmon and halibut. A new industry which promises well in the raising of reindeer for meat and for their hides. They live on deer moss.

Prices of food in Alaska are very high, he says. The 25 cent piece is the smallest coin used so 25 cents is one of the favorite prices for small articles. Flour, rice, etc., cost 25 cents a pound. Eggs are $1.50 a dozen. Meats and caribou and other meats are plentiful, as are vegetables which thrive beneath the midnight sun and grow to an unusual size.

Winter Considered Mild
The winter was considered a mild one, states Mr. Goldman, and the spring "break-up" is on the way. By April 1, he predicts, the snow will be gone, and snow will not fall to any great extent until next November. The coldest weather experienced by Mr. Goldman was 76 below zero. He visited Ketchikan, Cordova and Tachovon, and later went into the interior as far as Fairbanks. He made the return trip to the coast by snow shoe and sailed from Cordova. The trip to Seattle took five days.

Mr. and Mrs. Goldman expect to leave soon for Boise as Mr. Goldman will take up his duties March 1. Mrs. Goldman returned from Alaska a few weeks ago, and has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Courts.

TROOPS ENTRAIN FOR MONTE SANO

MONTERANO, Feb. 25.—Lieutenant General Hunter Liggett of San Francisco, commanding the western department of the army, has authorized the commanding officer at Camp Lewis, Washington, to comply with the request of Governor Hart of Washington that troops be assigned to Montesauro during the remainder of the I. W. W. trials here as a precautionary measure.

The increasing drift of radicals to Montesauro, now the focal point of I. W. W. interest, coupled with vague but ugly rumors and threats that have reached the ears of state council, reassured Herman Allen prosecuting attorney of Lewis county, to call upon Governor Louis E. Hart yesterday afternoon for the assignment of a full company of regular infantry to the scene of the trial.

Direct Action Anticipated
"We will not let the boys die like dogs," is a statement attributed to the hidden leaders of the I. W. W., defense signifying that direct revolutionary action may be resorted to in the event the defendants are found guilty of the murder of Warren O. Grimm, one of the four legionaries whose death in the armistice-day ambush case. The action of Prosecutor Allen in calling for military protection for the Montesauro trial is dictated, he declares, by the desire of the state to preserve the peace and to insure a fair trial, protecting both the interests of the prosecution and the defense.

Foley's Honey and Tar is the best known and most successful amily cough medicine on the market and the following letter a positively true and genuine:

Says "It Acts Like Magic"
Gibber Fleming, 311 Building Av., Los Angeles, Cal., writes: "I have much pleasure in testifying to the very great benefit my family and I have derived from the use of Foley's Honey and Tar. Whenever there are any of our household suffering from heavy colds or bad coughs or influenza, we at once get a bottle from our local pharmacist, and after one or two doses obtain instant relief. Your company deserves great credit for a valuable production and from our own experience we cannot do otherwise but recommend it to our friends and this we willingly do and will continue to do."

has been float of the possibility of trouble, even of armed intervention on behalf of the defendants. Thus far no clash of any nature has occurred. With uniformed men of the American Legion walking the same streets as the I. W. W., not an instance of open friction has arisen. But it has been suggested that the elements of trouble are present. The circulating letters of anonymous origin have been frequent.

Information Source Kept MONTESANO, Feb. 25.—County peace officers today denied they were consulted before the request for troops to be sent to preserve order here during the Centralia murder trial was sent to Governor Hart by Prosecuting Attorney Allen. Although ugly rumors were current during the early part of the trial and that gatherings of I. W. W. industrialists for the purpose of jail delivery might be expected, no very definite reports were received, the peace officers said.

Allen refused to commit himself on the source of his information that "rumors of armed intervention of arms and rumors that jail delivery was being attempted."

The rabbits were attacked by the parasite in 1916, which caused a great shortage of food for lynx, foxes, etc. Since 1918 the shortage of young fur-bearing animals has been noticeable, as the majority of the animals killed have been the adult ones. Mr. Goldman predicts that by next year the fur business will begin to improve as rabbits will be more plentiful.

Fishing is Good
Mining, another Alaskan industry, has suffered because of the high cost of operation of mines, he says. Mr. Goldman says that this, coupled with the war has had a marked effect upon the population, which was once 60,000 before the war and is now about 15,000. The fishing industry, however, is good, says Mr. Goldman, as there
