The votes by which this action was taken followed about three hours of benefit of the advantage of her joca-animated and at times aerid discussion.

The meeting was called to order by Vice-President Henry Drum of the Commercial club, in the absence of John W. Langdon, president of the club.

Mr. Drum introduced O. O. Calderhead, rate expert of the Washington public service commission, who recited the events leading up to the report of the service commission, who recited the events leading up to the report of the service commission, who recited the events leading up to the report of the service commission, who recited the poscial examiner who was assigned to investigate the putition of Portland and Vancouver for a differential against Seattle, Tacoma and other Sound ports and Astoria.

This report found that the present rates from the Inland Empire points to Portland are reasonable, but also found that Portland was entitled to a rate not to exceed 30 per cent of the Sound rate, which in effect was ordering a raise of 11.5 per cent for Sound points.

Mr. Calderhead said the question before the people of Walla Walla was practically whether or not thoy wanted to be restricted to one market. He believed that the climination of Sound ports by a differential would result in ports by a differential would result in the control of the second state of the climination of Sound ports by a differential would result in the control of the co
