FLUFFS AND FRILLS COME OUT IN ROWS AND ROWS AND ROWS

BY MARGARET RHODES
NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Such fuss and feathers, fluffs and frills will deck our garb this Spring in trimmings and trinkets feminine we'll not overlook a thing. The fine ribbon ruffling and the fluffing soft of silk, the puffings rows of narrow silken fringe. The fringe, uncut, has silken loops and its serene, too, but once within its dainty folds no maiden could be blue or tattered this frock is built, fringed panthers at each side, a fitted bodice, elbow sleeves and neck low, square and wide.

The fitted bodice is the thing. Its really come to stay whether it's with or sans the stay it's welcomed either way. Some high necked are some cut low that they are all cut up. The high ones snugly fit the throat then flare your chin to cup. The low-cut ones effect the square or else the oval line and wear a bit of hand made lace of texture supreme.

The slip on blouse is also good in any stuff at all this has an Oriental touch, a bit of Chinese shawl or gold and silken tulle or Batika, hectic tinted. These blouses reach just to the hips in manner rather staid. The knitted silks with metal threads are used perhaps the most to make these striking garments and you'll see of them a host, worn usually with pleated skirts of chiffon or Georgette, in fact, replete with plants we'll be which will delight, you bet, your bank roll to indulge in. They're expensive quite and yet if you don't own a pleated skirt you can't be in our set.

A rival of the pleated skirt is one of flounced gowns with Spanish lace in fulsome grace of flounces three or more but these aren't worn with elaborate waists their bodice is the same of lace or else of chiffon unless they do maintain a chic artistic contrast with velvet bodice tight that has short sleeves and low cut neck and makes you look a sight akin to some old painting by Spain's Velasquez great especially if a Spanish comb is perched atop your pate.

And then the velle—all all females this Spring will own a score, Salome's paltry seven would not do any more. The larzer and mora flowing there lacy squares can be the more appealing they become to each and every one. Of Spanish lace they cover hats of large and floppy trim or else around wee turban shapes they're gathered, taut and trim to drip and flutter down behind and shimmy in the breeze. Some only to the waist at tain, while some reach to the knees. Come take the veil they never fall one's beauty to enhance and on bright eyes behind a veil Love always takes a chance.
