Get the correct idea of The Bargain Basement. It is not a regular, ordinary shop wherein are offered complete lines of merchandise with all the colors, shades, sizes and widths, but, on the contrary it is "Special," "Out of the Ordinary Shop" wherein we offer you "Goods and Ends" at "Clean Up" prices—prices that have no bearing on original cost, quality or quantity. "PROFIT IN CASH" is forgotten. "CLEAN UP" is the main deal.

HIGH EXCHANGE NETS BIG POSTAL PROFITS

BY RALPH COUCH

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, March 2.—An overcharge of approximately 20 per cent, now is being levied against persons who buy U. S. postal money orders to send money to England, France and Italy.
The overcharge will amount to approximately $5,000,000 for the present fiscal year, it was indicated today by post office department records. This is borne directly by persons who use the post-office department to transmit cash abroad.
Since 1912 the post-office department has averaged a profit of approximately $1,600,000 on its foreign postal money transactions, reports show, all of it having come directly from the pockets of purchasers of money orders many of them persons of small means. Business men use express concerns, banks and other private concerns for transmitting money.

Profit $1.57 on Each.
The post office department now makes a profit of approximately $1.57 on each person who sends the equivalent of one British pound sterling to England. For a one-pound check the department charges $4.87 plus 5 cents for the check. The pound now actually is worth only about $3.30 according to prices paid in the New York financial markets. The actual price in New York varies from day to day. Recently the price have ranged from $3.15, the lowest record in history, to $3.50.
The present rate of $4.87 charged by the post office department was fixed in 1880. No change has been made in it since, although the British pound has been worth less than that since soon after August, 1914, when England entered the war.

The post-office rates for money orders to France and Italy are also proportionately far above the actual market value of the franc and lira.
Postmaster General Burleson has made no attempt to open negotiations to alter the rate on England, so far as can be learned. The rate is fixed by a treaty, called a postal convention, entered into between the British and United States postal departments. Under U. S. law, the postmaster-general may propose to open negotiations to change the rate at any time on his own responsibility.
There is every reason why England, France and Italy should wish to alter the rate, officials said here today, although it no doubt would be a blow to British pride to take such formal notice of the depreciation of the value of the pound sterling. All three countries stand to lose millions in issuing postal orders to their citizens to send it to America. The British postoffice, however, takes up the loss by charging a large fee for issuing the check.
Express Takes Trade.
Express companies now are taking most of the business from the postoffice departments of all four countries. American express companies have been selling checks for a pound sterling for about $3.50. They make no charge whatever for the service of writing the check. The United States postoffice, however, makes a charge of 5 cents for this service in addition to the profit it makes as a result of its high exchange rate.

To the American resident who wishes to pay an obligation of two pounds in London, the situation works like this: He goes to the nearest post-office and buys a check for two British pounds which he may mail to England. It is payable at any English postoffice for two pounds. At the U. S. postoffice, however, the American purchaser pays in $9.74 to cover the order plus 10 cents for the check. At the express company, he may get the check for nothing and need pay only $7 to cover it.
The U. S. postoffice department takes the $9.84 and need spend only about $6.60 for the two pounds sterling which it must place at the disposal of the British postoffice which pays the check. The profit to the postoffice, therefore, amounts to $3.24 on this transaction alone.

SEVERAL THOUSAND SUGAR BEING HELD

Approximately 1,000,000 persons sent post-office orders to France, England and Italy last year.
PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., March 2.—Sugar in an almost unlimited quantity is awaiting tonnage in Peru to bring it to market, according to a report brought here by an arrival of the steamer Annette Rolph, which brought a cargo of sugar to Vancouver.
It is stated that a tract ten acres square is covered with sacks of sugar, which is piled 70 feet high, or enough to load several thousand big steamers.

BANK OF HELIX FORCE INCREASED BY NEW MAN

(East Oregonian Special.)
HELIX, March 2.—Elbert Tate has accepted the position as assistant cashier in the Bank of Helix.
Many of Mrs. Viola Dudley's friends attended her funeral in Walla Walla Tuesday.
The commercial club is raising money for the community house and has almost raised the quota. A dance will be given Friday for the benefit of it.
Helix high school beat Athena on the home floor Monday night, 22 to 8. It was the first game played on the home floor. There was a large crowd out to yell for their home team. After the game the student body served a lunch to the Athena high school and everyone parted in good spirits. Helix will meet Athena on their floor Thursday.
ROME, Mar. 2.—Vesare Nava, minister of liberated regions yesterday declared that 100,000 persons are idle in war devastated districts. He said most of them are Italians repatriated by the war.

PRICE OF BEET SUGAR GOES UP FIVE CENTS

SEATTLE, March 2.—New supplies of beet sugar from Utah refineries will be held here at 18 1-2 cents a pound retail, an increase of 5 cents over the prevailing rate, it was announced today. The increase will bring the price of beet sugar to that of the cane variety.
The fact that Seattle wholesale houses were compelled to pay a fraction more than 16 cents for the new shipments, was given as the reason for the advanced retail price. Old supplies of beet sugar here are practically exhausted, it was said.
POLICEMAN ON TRIAL FOR BEATING 10 YEAR OLD SON WITH RAKE
SEATTLE, March 2.—Policeman U. M. Carson was to go on trial here today for the alleged beating of his 10-year-old son with a hearth-rake. The jury which tried Carson on the same charge several weeks ago disagreed after a stormy all-night debate.
