FIRST LEAGUE OF NATIONS CONFERENCE IN LONDON

FIRST LYCEUM NUMBER WILL BE HEARD TONIGHT

Pendleton will have the opportunity of hearing the nephew of David Lloyd George of England, speak tonight. The high school lyceum course brings Arthur Walwyn Evans, Welsh humorist, who has delighted audiences all over the world, with his lectures. He comes very highly recommended from Ellison-White and a good sized audience is expected tonight at the high school auditorium, where he will speak.

The topic of his lecture is "The Lords of the Land," and deals with a very important subject. Mr. Evans humor is known the world over and those who attend the lyceum tonight will be entertained as well as instructed, say those who have heard him.
