TOUR OF PRINCE TO U. S. COST ONLY 35 THOUSAND

LONDON, March 13.—The expense account of the prince of Wales for his recent visit to the United States and Canada, just published, shows the tour cost only $35,000. The treasury had granted $125,000 for the journey. The prince paid the balance to his father's banking account.
 The statement discloses that the prince paid no hotel bills for himself but had to meet the cost of accommodation for a dozen officers and other members of his suite. Tips, personal purchase and gifts, ranging from walking sticks to jeweled bracelets, amounted to $14,000.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
 by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarhal Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the System. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the Mucous Surfaces. ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for any case of Catarhal Deafness that cannot be cured by HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE. All Druggists & Co. Circulars free. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

A WORLD OF JOY.

(By Frank L. Stanton.)

When that her little arms are curled—
 About my neck they twine—
 She says she loves me "all the world,"—
 Hence, all the world is mine!
 And sweeter do the heavens above
 Smile on that wondrous world of love!
 II.
 Not royally my mansion towers—
 So humbly doth it rise
 That you may lose it in the flowers
 That bloom "neath tranquil skies;
 Yet all the world is mine for she
 Gives all its bloom and light to me.

FACING A TRAGEDY

THE plain, unadulterated facts in connection with the plight of the higher educational institutions of Oregon, as revealed here last evening by President W. J. Kerr of O. A. C., show that the schools face a near tragedy.

All through the war period the money received by the schools from their millage arrangement has remained virtually the same each year. The millage tax nets no more money now than it did six or seven years ago. Since the dollar goes but half as far as it did the real situation is that the revenue for the schools has been reduced by one-half.

On top of this the attendance at the schools has more than doubled. When the millage tax was provided the agricultural college had 1364 students. Today it has 3378 students. The university had 691 students. Today it has 1745.

In other words, our schools are forced to handle more than double their former work with much less money when purchasing power is considered.

Is it surprising that President Kerr and President Campbell are hard pressed to solve the problem? Is it surprising that faculty members are breaking down from overwork for which they are given inadequate pay? Is it surprising that staff members have been resigning and that the schools face havoc if relief is not provided.

The people of Oregon have not known of the heroic fight these schools have made to keep going. They have not known of the sacrifices many faculty members have made for the good of their institutions by refusing to quit though offered outside positions at greatly increased salaries. Nor do most people know that the majority of students at these institutions come not from wealthy homes but instead are going through college on money they themselves earned by hard labor. Few know that hundreds of students now in school served this country on the fields of France and prompted by what they have learned in war want to equip themselves with educational advantages demanded by modern conditions.

There is no camouflage about the necessity of increasing the millage tax. The wonder is how the schools have managed to hang on as well as they have. The fact they have continued to function in spite of what seems like unsurmountable difficulties is a tribute to the efficiency of those in charge. But there is a limit to all things and we cannot expect our schools to continue doing double work at half price.

AT THE CROSS ROADS.

WHILE the senate has been haggling, among other things, over America's share of the expense in connection with the League of Nation's secretarial force in case this country enters the league, Secretary Daniels has given them something bigger to think about.

The secretary logically recommends three alternatives in connection with our naval development; the expenditure of a nominal amount on the navy if we join the league, the appropriation of a larger sum if action on the matter is deferred and the preparation for colossal expenditures in building up the navy if this country decides to keep out of the league.

The secretary's position is unanswerable. We must choose between perfecting a machine to provide peace or the perfecting of a machine to make us invincible in war. If we are to turn our backs on peace we must in common sense improve our armaments even though it will cost billions. If we reject the idea of an international police system to curb marauding nations then we must ourselves "go heeled." There is no escape from it. We are at the crossroads and the senate upon which body responsibility rests, has thus far engaged in nothing but palaver.
