MRS. RUPPE ENTERTAINS

Mrs. C. Ernest Ruppe entertained yesterday with a tea at her residence in Irvington. Honor guests were Mrs. Lambert Dunbar of Hongkong, China, who is spending a few weeks here, and Mrs. Herbert Ruppe of Calgary, Canada.—Oregonian.

VISITING TEAM HONORED

Honoring members of the Baker basketball team a dancing party was given at Liberty hall last evening. The affair followed the game and was delightfully informal.

WILL BE GUESTS OF MRS. BENNETT

Mrs. W. H. Lyons, of Seattle, mother of Mrs. M. O. Bennett of this city, and Mrs. H. Ough, grandmother of Mrs. Bennett, will arrive in Pendleton tonight. With them will be Mrs. Bennett's cousin, Mrs. Walter H. Pflor, of New York, and Mrs. Pflor's niece, Miss Margaret West. Mrs. Lyons and Mrs. Ough will remain at the Bennett home during the absence of Mrs. Bennett, who will leave on Monday with Mrs. Pflor and Miss West for a trip to New York. They will visit in Arizona, and other points of interest. Mrs. Bennett expects to be absent from Pendleton for three months.

MUSICAL CLUBS TO FEDERATE

Of interest to Pendleton musicians will be a meeting of all Oregon musical organizations, large and small, which is scheduled for Easter week, April 5, 6 and 7, in Portland. The purpose of the session is to organize a state federation of musical clubs. The assembly will open in the hall room of the Multnomah Hotel on Monday, April 5, at 10 o'clock when the roll of every musical society in Oregon will be called for reports. The national president Mrs. Frank A. Seiberling will make the formal opening address in the ball room at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. A three-day program is being prepared.

COLESWORTHYS ENJOY HOME

Domiciled in their new home in Sawtelle, California, members of the C. F. Coleworthy family, who recently removed from Pendleton, are enjoying days of motoring in the southern state, according to a note received from Mrs. Coleworthy today by Mrs. Mary Lane. Mrs. Coleworthy writes that their car reached them the week after their arrival and that almost each day is spent, "from breakfast until dusk," enjoying the exquisitely sunny days out of doors. A recent trip took them through the Santa Monica mountains.

Mrs. Coleworthy says they are "camping" in their new home just at present and are considering removing to another residence in the suburb city, Sawtelle being just out of Los Angeles. She writes that flowers and fruits—bread-fruit, pomegranates and varieties peculiar to the southern state—are there in abundance and the only regret in the enjoyment of their new surroundings is the lack of "old friends" to give them to.

HERE AND THERE

Two school friends of days gone by met this morning in Pendleton. They are Rev. J. W. MacCallum, and Dr. James A. Best. They attended the same school in Kingston, Ontario, and are friends of long standing. Rev. MacCallum arrived here last night to conduct the joint Methodist-Protestant revival meetings at the Presbyterian church.

RETURNS TO PORTLAND

Mrs. C. H. Phillips, who has been the guest for the past week of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Phillips, left for her home in Portland today on No. 17.

MRS. DUNLAP IS HOSTESS

The Want-to-Come club of the Royal Neighbors of America were entertained in a delightful way yesterday as guests of Mrs. L. Dunlap at her home on West Webb street. Instrumental solos by Mrs. Eugene Lyman were enjoyed after a short business session and Mrs. C. Christensen gave an interesting reading. Two guessing contests proved interesting, prizes in the first, which employed a knowledge of flowers, being awarded to Mrs. J. D. Finson and Mrs. M. A. Ferguson, and in the other, to Mrs. Lottie Long and to Mrs. Lyman.

Spring blossoms decked the Dunlap home and a lovely cluster of violets, tied with a bow of white to represent the club colors, formed a charming centerpiece for the luncheon table. Guests other than club members who enjoyed Mrs. Dunlap's hospitality were Mrs. Mary Trader, of Grandview, Wash., Mrs. Andy Leedy, Miss Ada Leedy, Mrs. Joe Boyd, Mrs. Leman, Mrs. W. F. Irwin, Mrs. J. P. McCarty and Mrs. Finson.

CLOTHING SCHOOL POPULAR

So much interest has been awakened in the clothing school to be held here during the coming week that all but a few of the places in the class to be formed have been taken. Miss Byles of O. A. C. who is to conduct the work will arrive in time to begin with the lectures on Monday. On Saturday of next week a millinery school will be held.

CLUB ENJOYS MEETING

Marked by simplicity but gracious hospitality was the meeting yesterday of the Current Literature Club for which Mrs. I. U. Temple was hostess. Her guests were entertained in the club room of the library and the program devoted to China, included the following numbers:

The Chinese Boxer Uprising—Miss Helen Johns.
Shanghai, the London of China—Mrs. C. S. Jerard.
Modes of Travel—Miss Beth Smith.
Miss Mildred Berkeley, accompanied by Mrs. M. O. Bennett at the piano, sang a group of delightful solos just preceding the tea hour, appointments of which were charmingly apropos of the occasion. Chinese lines and ferns centered the dainty table where tea and Oriental candies formed part of the light menu. Mrs. Mary Dismosway, club president, and Mrs. Norborne Berkeley, president-elect, were asked to pour and assist in serving were Mrs. T. M. Henderson, Mrs. E. O. Parker and Miss Smith.

Mrs. Temple asked a few additional guests to share the meeting.

MRS. HADLEY IN CHARGE

The committee in charge of the library club room has appointed Mrs. F. R. Hadley as supervisor of the kitchen whenever clubs or other organizations serve refreshments. Hostesses needing her assistance are asked to phone her at 249-R at least one day before hand.

Because money for furnishings of the kitchen has been donated, the committee members find it necessary to always have the same person in charge of the room and contents. This will avoid unnecessary annoyance to those responsible for the library building as well as breakage and injury to kitchen facilities.

DOMICILED IN NEW HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand G. Breding (Miss Sybil Gilliland) whose marriage was an event of last week, are now domiciled in their attractive new bungalow at 721 Marie street.

BALFOUR-GUTHRIE CO. WILL RE-OPEN OFFICE

After a seven years' absence from the field, Balfour-Guthrie Co. will open offices in Pendleton next week with A. M. Crystal in charge. Mr. Crystal has been with the Portland office for a number of years and will have quarters with Livermore, Bickers & Friedly on Court street.

Balfour-Guthrie formerly owned the warehouse business which H. W. Collins purchased in 1913. Mr. Collins was formerly employed with the company here and since he bought the out has had close business connections with them. The concern is one of the pioneer wheat and grain companies of the coast and has headquarters in San Francisco.

The Crown and Goldenrod mills are owned by the concern, whose senior member is Lord Balfour, of England. They export large quantities of grain to Europe and South Africa from Portland and Puget Sound and their re-entry in this field is welcomed.

MRS. HAWLEY WILL APPEAL DIVORCE SUIT

OREGON CITY, Mar. 13.—Mrs. Marjorie Hawley will appeal to the Supreme Court of Oregon from the decision of Circuit Judge George B. Bagley, under which she loses permanent care and custody of her child and all hope of alimony. Judge Bagley awarded the divorce decree to Willard Hawley, the defendant, and gave the child to him.

C. Schuebel, chief counsel for Mrs. Hawley, said Wednesday very emphatically that an early appeal would be taken, though he was not prepared to state that the court's ruling on the question of attorney's fees would be taken up to the higher court. Judge Bagley gave the attorney $3500, though $15,000 was asked for in the complaint, and this fee covers the legal services incident to an appeal. The court allowed an additional $1000 for court costs for the prosecution of an appeal.

This decision means that Mrs. Hawley will continue to occupy the family residence and retain the custody of her baby until the final determination of the suit, which will be a matter of probably six months or more. She will enjoy an income during this period of $250 a month for the care of the child. It is understood that Mrs. Hawley will permit her to continue to live in the house, as recommended, but not ordered, by Judge Bagley, until the Supreme Court passes upon the case.
