

People Here and There

Y. G. Broom, well known farmer and stockman of the Canaan Prairie, is one of the first to drive out over the Yellowjacket road this spring. He arrived in Pendleton yesterday afternoon, having come from the mountains through this route. It is still rough and autos are using the Willow Springs, or stage route, he says.

Judge A. S. Bennett, who has been in Pendleton as a member of the supreme court bench, was here 28 years ago to attend supreme court session, according to the East Oregonian file of May 5, 1892. It chronicles that "Judge A. S. Bennett, of The Dalles, on democratic candidate for supreme judge" was in Pendleton on that date.

As sole member of an auto party, Benjamin F. Morse was in Pendleton yesterday, motoring from his home in Spokane to Vancouver, B. C. Mrs. Morse is visiting relatives at Vancouver and will make the return trip with Mr. Morse. While here Mr. Morse visited his brother, Roy Morse.

Looking none the worse for the experience, Conductor W. E. Ferguson, who was on ill-fated train No. 20 when the wreck occurred on Monday, is back on the run today. Conductor Ferguson was standing with his back to the engine when the collision took place and tumbled from his seat. Most of the injuries to the passengers consisted of cuts or bruises on the head, caused by being thrown forward. Lighting fixtures in the cars were broken off from the ceiling when the two engines collided.

Early in the morning, late at night, applies to the supreme court members and their game of golf, so it appears. At 7 o'clock yesterday morning, and probably earlier, only the neighbors don't arise any earlier, Judges A. S. Bennett and Henry J. Bean were seen on the course of the Pendleton Golf club. At 6 last evening they were again, or possibly still, at it. The ancient Scotch game has its followers among several others of the state supreme court bench also.

On a short trip combining business and politics, W. M. Peterson and A. H. Cox drove to Walla Walla today in the latter's car.

W. A. Ely, of Portland, is in the city today.

Carl Engdahl, of Helix, is spending a few days in Portland.

Martin Schwarz, of Echo, is in Pendleton today.

L. R. Appel of Chicago, is a business visitor in the city.

K. Sinclair of Portland, is here today.

H. B. Weaver is a visitor in the city from San Francisco. He is at hotel Pendleton.

ROTARY CLUB ENDORSES EDUCATIONAL TAX BILLS

The higher educational tax bill and the two mill tax for elementary schools were unanimously endorsed by members of the Pendleton Rotary club at the club's weekly luncheon, held today at the Commercial Club rooms. Both measures will come before the people May 21. Roy Bailey and Judge G. W. Phelps made talks favoring the bills. Matters of civic interest, among them the new auto camp grounds, were discussed also at today's meeting.

With the exception of four members, the entire number of Rotarians attended the luncheon, which was the first since the recent organization of the club in this city.

ENDORSEMENTS ROLL IN FOR EDUCATIONAL BILL

From 10 to 15 endorsements a day are now reported from various parts of the state in the case of the 1.23 mill higher educational bill for the protection of the work of the State University, the Oregon Agricultural College and the Normal school. This bill has now been endorsed by more than 300 organizations.

Multnomah county leads in the number of endorsements with 66. Umatilla county is second with 24, and Clatsop third with 15.

Although the only two unfavorable resolutions passed in all Oregon were passed in Salem, nevertheless Marion county is close to the front in number of its endorsements, having given 12. Its neighbors, Polk and Clackamas, have given 11 each. Walla Walla, Douglas, Benton and Deschutes have given 11 each.

Conspicuous among the endorsers are Grangers, Pomona Granges, in Multnomah County, Polk, Columbia, Lincoln, and other counties and numerous subordinate granges have sent endorsements. Conspicuous also are American Legion posts, which are interested because there are 1500 ex-service men at the University and the Agricultural College, who will be sufferers if the bill fails to pass. American Legion posts have given endorsements in the following places: Baker, Halfway, Marshfield, Roseburg, Albany, Salem, Dallas, Pendleton, La Grande, Molalla, Enterprise, Hermiston, Richland and Athena-Weston. The executive committee of the American Legion of Oregon has also endorsed it.
