FINE LONG COATS FOR SUMMER TRAVEL—OR SHORT ONES FOR SPORT WEAR!

There's nothing more comfortable and nothing more "always in style" than the full length utility coat.

Whether in Serge, Tricotine or in Tweed, these serviceable garments fill a variety of needs. Trimming ideas include corded tucks, stitching and new arrangements of button trimmings. For street wear, travel or motoring, these highly desirable garments are recommended.

They are true to the contour of the Spring silhouette, straight of line and reaching almost to the hem of the skirt.

CARNIVAL SPARKLES WITH MUSIC AND FUN

Were you at the Round-Up band carnival last night? There were plenty of folks at the opening of the Greater Alamo show last night. The big lot starting at Alamo and Clay was a mass of humanity and apparently each one of them was enjoying every moment of the time. There was everything that goes to make up the happy carnival spirit, music, unusual sights. The Greater Alamo shows will conclude their engagement here Saturday night. The Round-Up band started the noise down town, with a concert and march to the grounds. They were followed by the show band and then the big crowd turned their steps toward the big play ground. Rides were well patronized, the whip, merry-go-round, ferris wheel and aerial swing were doing a rushing business. The autodrome, where "Suicide" Roberts drives a motorcycle around the top edge of a big cup shaped enclosure and where Miss Lorraine makes her little automobile around the track, was well patronized. The trained wild animal circus was a popular place, judging by the crowds. There are more than 30 wild and domestic animals taking part in the program. Neptune's daughters were pretty to "rock" the lieutenant again. The Alamo shows made many the friends when here last year and the good impression was evident last night. There was not an objectionable feature on the ground. Women and children were patronizing the various shows, with an apparent feeling that everything was well regulated and no doubt they found it so.

SEVENTY-FIVE MOTHERS

"Macree" and "The Girl" by Mrs. Harold Warner; piano solo, "The Lark," Miss Lois Gornall; reading, "The Inventor's Wife," Miss Ruth Taylor; and "Serenade" by Chaminate, and "The Herd Girl's Dream," by a trio, with Miss Gaynell Baldwin on the violin; Miss Mabel Johnson at the piano, and Miss Harriett Young and the cello. Miss Rita Ferguson, who was instrumental in planning the dinner, acted as toastmistress.

Miss Helen Raymond was chairman in charge of arrangements. Chairmen for committees were Miss Dorothy Bedwell, assisted by Miss Kate Voorhees; Mrs. Evelyn Sommerville; Mrs. Charles H. Marsh acted as adviser and a lot of much to make the dinner a success. The dinner was prepared by the girls themselves, and among those who assisted were Miss Laura Johnson, Miss Esther Earl, Miss Fern Stevens, Miss Jane Roosevelt, Miss Jennie Johnson, Miss Rhea Hawke, Miss Ruth Keane, Miss Hazel Meurer and Miss Helen Williams.
May Be Annual Affair.
Those appointed to assist in the serving last night were Miss Alberta McMonie, chairman, Miss Emily Johnson, Miss Helen Ideaman, Miss Katherine McNary, Miss Blanche Isaacs, Miss Geraldine Morrison, Miss Ruth Minnis, Miss Ruth Snow, Miss Edna Murphy, Miss Mary Clarke, Miss Irva Dale, Miss Mary Wilks, Miss Katherine Granholm, Miss Isabelle Ross and Miss Marjorie McMonie. Miss Genevieve Phelps was chairman of the ticket selling committee.
Last night's dinner was the first of its kind ever given in Pendleton but its success was such that it will probably be an annual event.

RURAL SCHOOLS IN SPOKANE COUNTY LACK TEACHERS

(By Associated Press)
SPOKANE, Wash., May 11.—Many of the smaller rural schools of Spokane county will be without teachers next year. P. V. Yeager, county superintendent of schools, said today he feared, on account of the small number of applications for such schools received to date. He said it would be possible to supply teachers for all town schools of the county.

MAN PLEADS GUILTY; JUDGE ATTACKS PAY

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, May 11.—Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis attacked salaries paid by the Chicago federal reserve Friday when Homer B. Whitehead, manager of publicity and in charge of the bank's mailing department, appeared in court to plead guilty to padding his departmental payroll. Whitehead told the court he received $30 a week.
"That's an outrage," Judge Landis declared. "Here is a man, manager of a department that has more than 60 men in it. The salary is a disgrace. I want the cashier of the bank brought into this court to explain why this man is not better paid."
Sterling B. Kramer, cashier of the bank, was summoned. In response to questioning by the judge, Mr. Kramer said his salary was $10,000 a year and that of the governor of the bank $25,000.
Judge Landis deferred sentence on Whitehead until May 12.
