Lower Apparel Prices

Reductions of wearing apparel prices by a large Eastern merchant, and followed by some Western firms, to the extent of twenty percent of their retail prices is a step in the right direction. But with this twenty percent reduction their prices are still higher than those asked by Penney stores.

If such a radical price cut can be made and maintained now why have they asked this extra profit for several years from the customers who have made their success possible?

Times like these prove the worth of Penney business policies and the fairness of one low price to everybody alike.

We invite you to compare the values and service we offer as a regular program with the special sale features of other stores.

Rallies Follow Decline in Coffee Futures.
NEW YORK, May 19.—An early decline was followed by slight rallies in the market for coffee futures, but the bulge met increased offerings and there was a sharp break in the late trading. The opening was three points higher on May which was influenced by covering but generally six to 17 points lower under realizing or scattering liquidation. Higher Rio cables seemed to have been discounted by the advance of the previous day and after rallies of several points the market broke again under the selling by Brazilian or importing interests. September contracts after selling at 15.10c rallied to 15.20c and broke to 14.95c with the general list closing at a net decline of 32 to 38 points. May 15.10c; July 15.40c; September 14.90c; October 14.80c; December, January and March 14.75c.

LOCAL FRIENDS OF NICK SINNOTT WANT HIM TO GET LANDSLIDE VOTE

Hon. N. J. Sinnott

Umatilla county friends of Congressman N. J. Sinnott are anxious to see him get a heavy vote Friday because they feel his record justifies his reelection. It is contended that his acquaintance in congress and his good committee assignments make him a valuable man for this district.

A recent statement from the publicity department of the republican national committee said: "As chairman of the House Public Lands Committee, Representative Sinnott of Oregon, reputation is largely responsible for the passage of the coal, oil, phosphate and sodium land leasing bill, which means so much to the west. It is one of the most important pieces of legislation enacted by this Congress. From $5,000,000 to $8,000,000 will be added to the fund for irrigation and millions more will be realized from leases on excess lands, which the oil companies must dispose of under the terms of the bill, permitting each individual or company to hold not more than 2500 acres."

Representative Sinnott is serving his fourth term in Congress. In view of the campaign being made against Congressman Sinnott the following editorial from the Redmond, Ore., Spokesman, is of interest:

FAVORING SINNOTT
"The Spokesman has felt that this district might as well have a change at Washington on the theory that it would do little harm and might do some good. We would have favored someone else sending this office the yearly assortment of garden seeds from Washington had it not been for the recent visit of Owen Jones, Baker minister, who is opposing Sinnott at the Republican primary."

"While at this office Jones was introduced to a visitor who wore a badge of a prominent fraternal order. Although not wearing his own badge regularly, he pulled out of a coat pocket an over-sized emblem indicating his high station in that particular order, this exercise being accompanied by the jingle of what was presumably a pocketful of campaign trophies.

"How does this look to you?" Jones asked.
"This opened and closed his presentation of qualifications before that particular visitor, and he then loaded the man up with cards and literature."
"Jones declares himself to be a friend of irrigation, which is good. The editor of this newspaper knew his son at the University of Oregon and was his friend, and had hoped to be able to support his father. But we prefer to think that the day for such campaign tricks at the expense of fraternal brotherhoods is past. And we can't help but think that a man who engages in such practices is unfit to succeed Nick Sinnott in the national house of representatives. One demonstration of this kind and we expect anything."

"This newspaper can stand a lot more from Sinnott without it bothering us as it has in the past. We will continue in this frame of mind toward Sinnott, until some candidate with ability and something besides a pocketful of lodge badges presents himself."
