

People Here and There

Five children in college and all five of them democrats in the boat of J. K. Shotwell, of Hermiston, who is well known as a road contractor. Mr. Shotwell was a business visitor here on Friday and asserted his claim to the double record. It is believed that no one in Umatilla county has more offspring in institutions of higher learning and all of the Jeffersonian political faith, as is their father. Mr. Shotwell came to the west 13 years ago from Illinois. He had the contract for the Old Oregon Trail between Echo and Hermiston and is now at work on the Sunny-side-Umatilla road.

George Wright, who has not been in Pendleton since 14 years ago is in the city. Mr. Wright is a carpenter and followed that trade while here, besides being employed by the railroad. He is here with expectation of again taking up his residence in the city.

Col. J. H. Raley and Dr. E. J. Somerville have been pals for many years, their early days having been spent as partners in a drug store business here. They are still pals and left in the former's auto this morning for the Raley cabin near Grant Meadows to spend the next few days hunting and fishing.

Elbert Tate, assistant cashier of the Bank of Helix and formerly with the American National Bank here, came in from Helix this morning on his way to Portland to spend the coming two holidays with friends.

Lou Pinson, proprietor of the Office Lunch, returned home today from Seattle where he has been for a week on a combined trip of business and pleasure.

L. E. Wilson, of Lima, Ohio, Pacific Coast service representative for the Garford Truck Co., and E. C. Hurrie, of Portland, superintendent of service with the Portland branch, are in Pendleton today.

When the window signs on the American National bank were being repainted a few days ago, a mistake in the banking hours was inadvertently made. Instead of 10 o'clock as the opening hour, 11 o'clock was painted on the door. Some of the employees rejoiced at the shortened business hours. But others, according to one of the officials, suggested that it would be more acceptable if they took that extra hour off in the afternoon instead of in the morning, it now reads 10 to 2.

Homer I. Watts, attorney and former mayor of Athena, left on No. 17 today for Portland for a four days' stay.

Wheat in the Helix district looks like it will yield better than at any time for the last five years. Dan McIntyre, a successful wheat man from the Helix region, is authority for the statement. Mr. McIntyre says that in spite of the good outlook, harvest probably will not start before August 1.

George Oil, of Weston, reports a good looking crop of wheat in his vicinity. Mr. Oil is in town today on business.

The first alfalfa crop in the Umatilla vicinity will be ready to cut next week, according to R. E. Bean, republican candidate for county commissioner, who stopped in Pendleton today on his way home from the I. C. O. P. convention in Baker. Mrs. Bean accompanied him. Baker county crops are badly retarded by cold weather. Mr. Bean said their alfalfa not standing six inches high at this time.

Roy Furnish has returned from Corvallis where he has spent the past week with friends at O. A. C.

J. W. Kelley, owner of the Walla Walla Bulletin was a Pendleton visitor yesterday.

James McKay, known to many as a horseman and formerly of this city, is here for a few days transacting business. Mr. McKay, who is now in the stock business at Galena, Grant County, is one of the pioneer horse trainers of Oregon and was for a long time with the Frank Frazier racing stables, touring the East with the celebrated pacing horse, Chehalis.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Collins, Elmer Moore and R. M. Crommelin left early today on a motor trip to Condon and Wasco. They will see the races at the Condon race meet, and Mr. Collins will transact business in Wasco.

After an absence of 25 years, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Wheeler will arrive in Pendleton tonight to visit at the home of Mr. Wheeler's nephew, D. B. Waffle. Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler are on their way from their home in Seattle to Salt Lake. Mrs. Wheeler will be remembered here as Miss Belle Crisp.

Sheriff T. D. Taylor laid sleuthing aside today and motored to Walla Walla where he will take part in the Shriners' going in the neighboring city.

W. C. E. Pruitt, local automobile dealer, returned today from a short business visit to Portland.

Fred C. Schmidt local attorney, was a passenger to Echo this morning on legal business.

Ira K. Durrell, well known wheat buyer of Echo, is a Pendleton business visitor today.

Charles Wells, Nolin farmer, is a business visitor in the city today.

Luggage of Distinction

A seasoned globe trotter says "Spread Out Your Money"

When purchasing for your outing a common fault is to spend all one's time and attention on clothes, neglecting entirely one's luggage.

Luggage conveys a silent but forceful message—at the train or depot—in hotel or guest's home.

Is it not most embarrassing to have conspicuously cheap or shabby luggage?

Spread out your money when purchasing your vacation outfit. Then you'll not overlook the underpriced and masterfully finished Bags, Suit Cases and Trunks at our store.

WINE-O

An occasional bottle during these strenuous days, will do much toward relieving the fatigue and nervous strain of the industrious housewife.

A bottle of WINE-O at dinner, also, will soothe the irritability of father, when he comes home and finds the house topy-turvy.

Besides, it is good for the kiddies.

Keep a case of Wine-O in the house all the time.

NEWS OF THE COUNTY OFFICES AND OFFICERS

Registration Books Again Open
Registration books open this week following the primary and referendum election, and voters may register now for the general election, which comes on Nov. 2. The books will be open until within 30 days of the election. So far not a name has been registered here since the primaries.

County Schools Closing
Several more schools over the county closed yesterday afternoon and only a few remain in session, according to County Superintendent W. W. Green. A few have already taken up summer sessions. Among those which ended their year yesterday was district No. 12, a Youkum, of which Miss Ethel Miller is teacher. She has left for her homestead in Post, Oregon.

Jenkins Appraisers Named
J. W. Maloney, C. E. Wallis and George C. Baer today were named by the probate court to appraise the state of the late Charles Jenkins.

A CRYSTAL FROCK

Elaine Hammerstein has a frock of white net, embroidered in crystal beads. The embroidery is dropped over a straight foundation of white silk, with practically no fulness. Then from high on the left side, diagonally across the front, sweeps a tunic ending in a long, graceful train with two points, each tassel-tipped.
