YOUR ROMPING, ROLICKING BOY NEEDS STURDY CLOTHES

It's certain that the confident philosopher who bravely claims that "all things are possible" never tried to keep a healthy, active boy from climbing trees, or investigating everything he should not.

It cannot be done! The only practical alternative is to have him wear our Right-Posture suits. They're made to go everywhere a boy goes—and come back whole!

Suits $12.50 to $27.50

LITTLE THINGS OF BIG IMPORTANCE

BOARDMAN FIELD SHOW

would be made to hold 123,000 acre feet of water.

2500 Attended.

The crowd at Boardman yesterday was made up of people from as far west as Arlington and east as far as Pendleton. Hundreds were in attendance from Heppner and other points in Morrow county and likewise from the west end section of Umatilla county. Hermiston and Heppner were both represented by boys' bands.

At noon a barbecue was served cafeteria style and the rush for food resulted in a human jam rivaling a Happy Canyon crowd trying to get into the pavilion during the Round-Up. All were well cared for, however, and many compliments were paid to S. H. Boardman and others who took the lead in the affair. The scene of the celebration was the Broadview ranch, near the edge of the project and newly cut alfalfa was used to provide covering for a grand stand, a speakers' stand, the cafeteria and for numerous booths about the ground.

C. C. Clark of Arlington, who presided during the program, declared the chief purpose of the gathering was to arouse more popular interest in the project with a view to securing action by the federal government. Among the speakers of the day were Col. Emmett Callahan of Boardman and Portland, Farmer Smith of the O. W. R. & N. Co., A. Buckley, division superintendent. A. Hunt, county press agent for Morrow county, A. G. Hawn of New York, J. R. Raley, president of the Pendleton Commercial Association, J. S. Stewart of Corvallis and John H. Lewis, former state engineer.

"Old Man John Day." When the speakers had finished an interesting stunt was pulled off. "Old Man John Day," driving a horse and mule ambled up to the speakers' stand and proceeded to protest against the scheme to use the John Day river water to make good alfalfa land when the land is already supporting coyotes, snakes, cactus, owls, etc. A collection of these animals on exhibit just across the feed canal and outside the present irrigated area furnished a striking illustration of the difference produced when water is put upon the land.

Following the exercises at Broadview ranch a ball game was played at Boardman between Arlington and Hermiston.
