A New Magazine

The Dearborn Independent, the Ford international weekly, has been presented to the County Library by Henry Ford. One article in the magazine explains the 1920 Ford plan, bonus and stock sharing. Mr. Ford's industrial belief is given in the following statement: "Every red blooded man wants a try-out in life. He wants a fair field and no favor. But if he does not make top notch, that does not mean he should be thrown on the human scrap-heap. Keep industry free enough to give every man a chance to be the best success he can; but keep industry fair and just enough to prevent men becoming adject failures. Profit sharing does this."
