MRS. GULLIFORD FIGURED IN CITY'S EARLY HISTORY

The death of Mrs. Julia Ann Gulliford, whose funeral was held this afternoon from the Baptist church, marks the passing of one of the old pioneers of Umatilla county.

With her parents, Mrs. Gulliford crossed the plains from Illinois to Oregon in 1852. They settled in the Mohawk valley, and experienced the Indian outbreak in 1856, and also in the Rogue river uprising, in which Mrs. Gulliford's father defended the homes of the white settlers under the command of Captain Blakey, father of William Blakey of this city. Mrs. Gulliford's father and uncle were pioneer cattlemen of Oregon and drove their sheep 200 miles to the Cribou region in British Columbia.

Mrs. Gulliford's marriage to J. L. Gulliford, now deceased, occurred in 1859. They came to Umatilla county in 1872 and were identified with the early history of the county. In those days doctors and nurses were few and Mrs. Gulliford devoted much of her time to caring for the sick and needy. Herself a pioneer, Mrs. Gulliford came of pioneer stock, her grandfather, Captain Hungate, having fought in the Revolution. Many local people attended the funeral today, at which Rev. W. H. Cox, pastor of the Baptist church, officiated.

NO ADJOURNMENT TILL SATURDAY AT EARLIEST

(By Associated Press)
COLISEUM, June 9.—The republican national convention was in session only one hour today and devoted itself entirely to routine preliminaries. The temporary organizing committee was made permanent and the report of the credentials committee approved with the changes made last night. The platform committee is not ready to report and only sent word it is making progress.

For the second day sensation the convention heard a woman speaker, Mrs. Margaret Hill McCarter, of Kansas, the first woman to address a national convention.

The next session begins at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. "Saturday noon at the earliest," is the estimate of leaders when asked when the adjournment may come. The delay is more attributable to platform difficulties than to uncertainty over nomination. Word has gone out to give the radicals every chance to present their views, so as to stop any possibility of the charge of steam rolling, or as some call it, an "excuse for a bolt."

SINNOTT PARAPHRASES KIPLING IN SPEECH TO AID COMPENSATION BILL

Members of Pendleton Post, American Legion, are considerably interested in the boost recently given for adjusted compensation by N. J. Sinnott, representative from this district, when the matter was up for consideration in the house on Saturday, May 29. The little speech by the congressman, as received by Post Adjutant Perry Idleman, is as follows:

"Mr. Speaker, Kipling, in his poem on the survivors of the Battle of Balaklava, said:
"There were thirty millions English that talked of England's might;
There were twenty broken troopers that lacked a bed for the night;
They had neither food nor money, they had neither service nor trade,
They were only shiftless soldiers, the last of the Light Brigade."
They felt that life was fleeting; they knew that art was long.
That though they were dying of famine, they lived in deathless song;
They asked for a little money to keep the wolf from the door,
And the thirty million English sent twenty pounds and four."
"We might suggest an American version:
There were one hundred million Yankees that talked of Yankee might
And sent but sixty dollars to the boys that fought their fight;
Yes; sixty dollars; that and nothing more,
If that's to be in history America's low score—
Then—
"God of our fathers, known of old,
Lord of our far flung battle line,
Beneath whose awful hand we hold Dominion over palm and pine;
Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget—lest we forget!"

Questions and problems may be brought up and the meeting will be in the nature of a school. The demonstrators are holding a meeting this afternoon in Athena and tomorrow will be in Walla Walla.

CITY WILL HELP TEACHERS

The other towns in whatever way possible in their local celebrations. Pendleton likely will send a large delegation to the Strawberry Pete at Milton-Freewater during the latter part of June.

John Day Grade Needs Repair
Business which ordinarily came to Pilot Rock and Pendleton now is lost because of the almost impassable condition of the John Day grade, the association was informed. Grant county stockmen are unable to haul full loads over this road as formerly and therefore cannot do their buying in this region when they come out.

Naming of their local celebration, the county court the matter of making such repairs as will put the road in passable shape for loads. Willard Bond, J. V. Tallman, John Vaughan and Leon Cohen were named on that committee.

P. E. Magruder, a representative of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce, presented before the association the scope of work which the chamber plans to do for the state during the coming three years. He asked endorsement of the project and a local committee to cooperate in the work of raising funds. The budget for the three years' work is $150,000 a year, of which Portland will raise $60,000, he said. No quotas are apportioned to the smaller cities but they are expected to raise their proportion.

Committee Names Withheld
Naming of the committee to work on this task was requested withheld until Mr. Magruder could see each man and obtain his pledge to serve. The president named six men last evening.

The city affairs committee was given a proposition to place before the city council for adoption as an ordinance. The proposed ordinance would protect merchants and all business against "fly by nights," by requiring all transfer men to report moves. In this way, the association bills could be eliminated and credit placed upon a better footing.

Consideration of the gasoline shortage was taken up and after discussion had indicated that probably Pendleton is getting its share, the same as other towns, was dropped without definite action. J. V. Tallman, recently returned from California, reported the shortage serious all over the coast, due to the recent switchmen's strike, but said that east of Denver there is no shortage. Robert Simpson, chairman of the Automobile Association, reported that the Automobile Association is now making an effort to purchase a supply of gasoline in Idaho.

At least such an occurrence could not be improbable if one Chicago woman had her way, she says. "I think women and girls ought to be allowed to smoke in public and on the streets as well as men."
And yet there is the other side of the question. Alderman Max Adamson, owiski has proposed that a city ordinance be enacted that would prohibit the ladies from smoking in public. The cause of such antagonism—Well, his daughter saw some of the fair sex enjoying a few puffs from their favorite brands at a certain social function.
