PICTURE OF JACK IN SHIPYARD GARB MADE MAXINE DISCLOSE HIM

(By Associated Press.) SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—Anger at receiving from "Jack" Dempsey a photograph of himself as a Philadelphia shipyard worker in war time was the motive that prompted her to make public the fact that he was a slacker, Mrs. Maxine Dempsey, his former wife, declared on the witness stand in Dempsey's trial on a charge of evading the draft.

Attorney Gavin McNab, for the defense, asked her if her real motive was not a desire to get $40,000 or more from Dempsey out of the $250,000 he was expected to receive for boxing Carpenter for the heavyweight championship of the world, but she disclaimed any such intention.

McNab asked if it was not true that she had stated in Wells, Nev., that she was going to get $40,000 out of Dempsey. The witness replied that Reulah Taylor, another inmate of a resort at Wells, had said she ought to get $40,000 out of the pugilist, and later urged her to try for $75,000, to which her answer had been that she did not want anything.

Defense Attacks Her Testimony. A large part of the afternoon session was taken up with unsuccessful attempts of the defense to shake Mrs. Dempsey's testimony that she had only received about $200 from her husband from the time his questionnaire was made out in January, 1918, until their final separation December 1, of that year.

R. W. Burton, cashier of a telegraph office in Salt Lake City, said that on one occasion when Mrs. Dempsey received money from her husband by telegraph just after his match with Fred Fulton, she remarked, "Fulton must have hit Dempsey because $200 was jarred loose from him." Burton and two other employees of the office testified to paying telegraphic drafts from Dempsey to his wife and mother on various occasions in the year 1918.

YALE MEN ARE ASKED TO PRAY FOR FAIR DAY FOR HARVARD REGATTA

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 10.—Yale men were asked "to pray for a fair day" by the Yale News today in a forecast of arrangements for the Yale-Harvard regatta at New London, June 25. It discussed the changes of a dreary delay complicated with uncertainty as to whether the "varsity" race will be up stream or down.

Case May End Saturday.

One of the two, C. B. Thompson, said Mrs. Dempsey told him that "Jack always sent plenty of money when he had it." Col. C. W. Thomas, who is conducting the case for the government, announced in court that unless cross examination of Mrs. Dempsey developed new points, she would be the last government witness. Attorneys said the case might reach the jury Saturday.

SOMETHING TELLS 'EM HELIX IS DUE FOR A BIG SURPRISE SUNDAY

Nine Buckaroos and the Manager Have an Intuition That Undefeated Farmer Boys Will Have to Bite the Dust.

"Something tells me Helix is due for a trimming," said "Shorty" Miles, Buckaroo outfielder, after practice Wednesday night.

Nine more, including Manager Spell and Captain Gunner Peterson, expressed the same view. Every one of them is going to Helix Sunday with that idea firmly in mind.

The Helix boys, it may be said, have been going great guns all spring, in spite of the lack of rain. Crop worries have not had any effect of their game of baseball and, just as their little town sits out on the highest spot of any town that has a team in the league, so do they sit serenely upon the top of the percentage table.

Helix has a good little family ball team that has been trimming the other five teams with regularity. The Harsets and Thornes, with one or two more ball players, have handled the locals on razzing, and Pilot Rock a couple. Athens and Walla Walla also have tripped up. Milton gets its two flings at Helix later.

While the Bucks are trying to bump Helix from first place Sunday, Walla Walla's tail enders will be entertained at Pilot Rock for the first time this season. Athens, which has lost more games by one run than any other team in the league, will meet the up and coming Twin Cities team on the Milton Diamond. There ought to be three rattling good games Sunday and somebody may get a thrill when the final scores are turned in.

HOLLING CHASES JINX AND PITCHES VICTORY

OAKLAND, June 11.—After losing seven straight games Holling of Oakland broke his streak and defeated Portland, 5 to 3. Oakland overcame a three run lead that Portland made in the first inning when with two out Miller dropped Koehler's fly.

Bees Again Beat Seals. SALT LAKE CITY, June 11.—Speed on bases coupled with timely hits enabled Salt Lake to score a 5 to 3 win over San Francisco. Scott, Seal pitcher, was replaced by Lewis in the fifth after five runs had been scored off him. Off Lewis the Bees got but two hits and no runner farther than the second station.

Seattle Shuts Out Vernon. LOS ANGELES, June 11.—Seattle found Piercy and Dell, the Vernon pitchers, easy to hit and won, 8 to 0. Piercy was knocked out of the box early in the first inning and Dell who replaced him, allowed 15 of the visitors' 17 hits, one of them being a homer by Eldred in the eighth.

Angels Split Double Header. SACRAMENTO, June 11.—Prough won a pitching battle, 1 to 0, over Brown in the second game and enabled Sacramento to split the double header with Los Angeles. The first game went to the Angels, 3 to 1.

SONG FOR HIRAM

CHICAGO—Perhaps Edgar J. Cook, manager of Hiram Johnson's campaign for the G. O. P. presidential nomination, believes music will soothe a flock of delegates. Anyway he has had a song published under the title of "I Am For Hiram."

John S. Drum, president of the Savings Union Bank and Trust Company of San Francisco today told delegates to the convention of the California Bankers Association of which he is first vice president.

"Bankers must turn," he said, "to the orderly definition of the credit expansion which could not be avoided. There is no occasion for hysteria or gloomy forebodings but it is time for recognizing conditions as they exist."

The world's circulation of currency is estimated, he said, at $56,000,000,000, an increase of $19,000,000,000 since the summer of 1914. Of this increase fully $16,000,000,000 had been added since the signing of the armistice, he said.

"The recovery from the unhealthy conditions consequent upon war must necessarily be gradual," he continued. Pointing out that the government contracted an indebtedness of nearly $17,000,000,000 during the war and added to that $4,000,000,000 of Victory notes in the spring of 1919, Drum said it is hopeless to expect these enormous issues of credit instruments to be absorbed by the savings of the people."

He said that since 1913 money in circulation had increased 71 per cent and banks deposits 120 per cent, while the average percentage of actual cash held against these deposits had fallen from 11.7 to 6.4 per cent.

In spite of existing conditions, it is necessary to meet the capital requirements of such essential enterprises as the transportation system, housing, foreign trade and the production of needed commodities, he said.

"The government must adjust its expenditures to its income and provide for its needs otherwise than credits with the banks," he continued. Excessive taxation that restricts enterprise must be discouraged and opposed, he held.
