

JOHNSON FORCES WON OUT ON FIGHT UPON LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Mild Reservationists Gave in to Irreconcilables; Fight May Yet Occur Upon Floor of National Convention.

BY L. C. MARTIN
(Staff Correspondent United Press.)
CHICAGO, June 11.—The surrender by reservationists forces, headed by Murray Cane, suddenly changed the aspect of the fight in the resolutions committee over the treaty plank and in opinion of party leaders greatly reduced the danger of a contest on the floor of its convention. The Cane forces, in sub-committee, agreed to the plank, which omitted the thing for which they have been battling—an affirmative declaration for ratification of the treaty with reservations. The reservationists were given concessions by the Borah-Johnson group of "bit-ter-enders" in the matter of phraseology, but Borah declared after the agreement that principle of no affirmation in favor of ratification had been conceded.

Johnson gleeful
Senator Johnson said agreement is "a victory for Americanism. It is the signal of overwhelming defeat for internationalism and for international bankers. Of course, I realize there are certain international bankers here determined not alone to write the platform of the republican party but are determined also to nominate the candidate for president. They have been whipped on the first and I am hoping they will be beaten in like manner on the second. If the matter is not settled as has been reported, I will go to the convention."

Some political observers pointed out the apparent defeat of the reservationists may have been a strategic move on the part of the Cane group to get the foreign relations plank into the convention floor and then overwhelmingly defeat it, thus practically eliminating Johnson as a candidate.

BOXERS' WEIGHTS GIVE RISE TO ARGUMENTS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, June 11.—Pete Herman is a featherweight; Johnny Kilbane is a lightweight; Benny Leonard is a welterweight; Jack Britton is a middleweight and Johnny Wilson is a light heavyweight.

So their opponents say.
In fact, Jimmy Wilde and Jack Dempsey are the only champions not accused of parading around in grounds where they don't belong.

Establishment of a uniform scale of weights has been one of the most needed moves to get boxers on a sound foundation in America.

Boxers guard their weights as closely as if a diplomatic secret that might cause war. They weigh in the dark and permit only a member of the first degree of kindred to see what the needle points to.

Under the new Walker boxing bill, which permits fifteen rounds to a decision in New York, a new system of weights is established which may find national adoption.

The division minimums are boosted a bit to get the classes within the reach of others than physical freaks.

The rules of the Army, Navy and Civilian Board of Boxing Control, which will govern the sport in New York, recognize the following scale of weights:

Flyweight, 112 pounds; bantam, 118 pounds; feather, 126 pounds; light heavyweight, 135 pounds; welter 147 pounds; middleweight, 160 pounds; light heavyweight, 175 pounds; heavy-weight, unlimited.

The rules force a champion to make the weight of his class, not the weight of their own liking, a custom that is prevalent in every class in America.
