STRAUS BUREAU'S WORK IN PALESTINE LAUDED

LONDON, July 4.—Nathan Straus, of New York, told the International Zionist Conference here yesterday that the Straus health bureau in Palestine had supplied a need that had been ignored for hundreds of years by a "criminally indifferent government" and that it had become a "stronghold in the life of the Holy Land." The bureau was established by Mr. Straus in 1912.

The only problem which took precedence over the health question was the feeding of the hungry for which he said he established a free soup kitchen in Jerusalem which up to now has been feeding 700 to 1,000 persons daily. Members of committees returning from Palestine, he said, had told him that his soup kitchen was "the brightest spot in the Holy city." The health bureau, Mr. Straus said, was established to improve health conditions generally and particularly to eradicate malaria and typhoid, the two diseases which were endemic there. It was intended to serve all inhabitants of Palestine irrespective of creed, race or color and, since the Jews number less than one-sixth of the total population, its work had accrued largely to the benefit of non-Jews.

Fight Is Revived
Mr. Straus revived the fight conducted against malaria by the health bureau in and around Jerusalem in 1916 and 1917, which he said "rippled the cholera epidemic in the bud." Clinics were opened in five districts and injections of anti-malaria lymph were given to all comers, while school children were inoculated by nurses sent by the health bureau into districts. In all 30,750 persons were given preventive injections against cholera. Typhus lymph also was prepared and administered.

More than 25,000 persons were examined to ascertain if they were affected with malaria and where the reaction was positive, quinine was given free of cost. The water in cisterns used for drinking purposes was examined and a museum of hygienic was established.

MICHIGAN MAN WHO IS WONDERFUL ATHLETE AS WELL AS GOOD STUDENT

Billigot, a former colonial soldier, at times newspaper vendor, known to the citizens of Grenelle ward in Paris as "Father of Luck" or "Father of Cherry" (the little fruit being known in the parlance of the Paris gambling circles as the emblem of luck.) He had run up 140 francs, the amount of his pension paid to him as an ex-soldier, into 115,000 francs. The police released him, after giving him a little advice about counting his wealth in public parks while slightly under the influence of red wine.

The university of Michigan has turned out a wonderful athlete, as well as a good student, in Carl E. Johnson.

Children Examined
In combatting trachoma, Mr. Straus said, the health bureau treated 44,374 cases and an attempt was made to examine the eyes of all children who could be reached so as to identify that disease which was prevalent in Palestine. A hospital for eye diseases was opened and the campaign was extended into the towns and colonies outside of Jerusalem, hundreds being sent to various places. Aid was also given to refugees when the Jewish population was expelled from Jaffa. Mr. Straus said that the health bureau had proved its efficacy and that he hoped its services would increase and become greater to the people irrespective of race, color or religion.

TEACHERS LOSE FIGHT
(By Associated Press.)
HONOLULU, T. H., July 2.—School teachers of Hawaii have lost their fight against the commission of public instruction's decision to add half an hour to the school day. The teachers recently protested to Governor McCarthy who has upheld the commission and disallowed the teachers' objections. The pedagogues now are threatening to resurrect the question at the next session of the territorial legislature.

OLD COLONIAL SOLDIER IS PICKED UP IN PARK

(By Associated Press.)

PARIS, July 5.—Ragged, hatless and practically shoeless, and already man was sitting in a park on the south side of the Seine a few nights since, muttering to himself, 50, 60, 70 while stacking the thin little slips of paper one upon the other. He attracted the attention of two gentlemen for he had apparently been drinking too much wine. He was taken to the station.

The desk sergeant was bewildered when the ragged man explained that the little slips of paper he was counting were good bills of the Bank of France and that the figures he was mumbling represented their amount. He had 115, 080 francs.

"I won this money at the races," explained the denizen of the park.

It developed that the man was one Billigot, a former colonial soldier, at times newspaper vendor, known to the citizens of Grenelle ward in Paris as "Father of Luck" or "Father of Cherry" (the little fruit being known in the parlance of the Paris gambling circles as the emblem of luck.) He had run up 140 francs, the amount of his pension paid to him as an ex-soldier, into 115,000 francs. The police released him, after giving him a little advice about counting his wealth in public parks while slightly under the influence of red wine.

Billigot invested 30,000 francs in a life annuity the next morning, bought a suit of clothes, shoes, et cetera, and before departing for Saint Cloud race track called on the friendly police sergeant and gave him a tip on the races for that afternoon. The horse won. The newspaper L'ECLAIR has offered him 100 francs per day for his racing selections until the end of the season.

EVERY ATTEMPT AT AMENDMENT FUTILE

(By Associated Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—In quick and successive votes the democratic national convention yesterday voted down by heavy majorities all attempts to amend the report of the platform committee and threw out all substitute proposals, including the bone dry plank by William J. Bryan and the wet plank offered by W. Bourke Cochran.

The administration's league of nations plank as reported by the committee was sustained against all attacks. The administration supporters were in control by heavy majorities all along the line.

The Bryan prohibition plank rejected by the convention was as follows:

"We heartily congratulate the democratic party on its splendid leadership in the submission and ratification of the prohibition amendment to the federal constitution and we pledge the party to the effective enforcement of the present enforcement 'law, honesty and in good faith, without any increase in the alcoholic content of permitted beverage and without any weakening of other of its provisions."

A NEW TARZAN IS BRONZE-MUSCLED COAST STAR

When Jack Merchant, University of California athlete, came out of the west to meet the eastern cracks he got a new title. He came heralded as California's greatest all-round star. No sooner had Lawson Robertson, Penn coach, set eyes on the bronze muscles of the Golden Gate youth than he remarked:

"Tarzan—he is my idea of Tarzan."

At the intercollegiate track championship event, in Philadelphia, handicapped by torn ligaments in his right leg, he easily distanced the field in the hammer throw. His sling was 169 feet 2 3/4 inches. He has done around 154 feet in coast meets this spring.
