HERMISTON PREPARING TO RECEIVE VISITORS

(East Oregonian Special.)

HERMISTON, July 10—The committee on appropriations of the house of representatives of congress composed of 29 men will arrive in Hermiston July 15. The Commercial club are making arrangements for the entertainment of the distinguished gentlemen who are coming to look over the proposed McKay creek project and inspect the Umatilla project. Their work is rather of a serious nature and they have asked that entertainments and speech making be eliminated as much as possible. However, everything will be done to make their stay here as pleasant as possible.

A great many from Hermiston have been attending the Chautauqua at Stanfield this week, the members of many farmers and their families are taking advantage of this course, being between hay cuttings.

The baseball game between Echo and Hermiston irrigation leagues, did not end satisfactorily to all parties on the fourth and the game is expected to be repeated. A little hitch of some sort occurred and the result stands as before.

The Fourth was celebrated on Monday the 5th in Hermiston, stores being closed and the day spent in many different ways. Several picnic parties were held at the Columbia river, while others visited the reservoir, enjoying the bathing there which the big body of water affords.

A farm bureau picnic held at Columbia school grounds Wednesday proved very enjoyable as well as beneficial to the community in general. After the usual big feed (cafeteria style) that the farmers' wives of this locality are accustomed to spread, the afternoon was passed in various ways.

Paul Mehl, J. D. Mickle and M. S. Shrock, representatives of the State Food Commission and Dairy Leagues from O. A. C., addressed the farmers and wives also, interested in work of this nature, their main points emphasizing the needs of farm organizations and many demonstrations were drawn to prove their value. A committee was appointed to visit the farmers in the interests of the Oregon Dairy League and procure signers who are willing to cooperate in the work.

While the above named gentlemen were busy in those matters, County Agent Hennon amused the boys of the pig clubs by managing a very enthusiastic game of ball, after which they were taken to the reservoir for a good swim.

On their return packages of popcorn and good things hailed about them and the boys agreed that Mr. Hennon makes a pretty good entertainer. There was a very large crowd in attendance.

CAMPING IS FUN WHEN ONE KNOWS THE GAME

With all drawbacks of inexperience camping is fun in the end. But here are a few tips for the tourist that will make his camping fun even while it lasts.

The outdoor camper always has visions of a dandy campfire over which the bacon sizzles. But sometimes it rains, even on campers, and it is hard to start a fire. So the two-burner gasoline stove has been provided. The best one comes in a steel box that fits on the running board, and it is ready to make the kettle boil any moment, rill or shine. It is a camping treasure.

That brings us down to foods. Bacon is always the standby. Carry flour and tea and coffee if you must.

It has it, as well as pepper and salt, in friction top cans. Label each. Have the frying pan a big one: one to which a long handle can be added if necessary preferred. Carry nothing in glass. Collapsible buckets and wash basins fill the bill. The electric torch has rather supplanted the kerosene lantern with campers. Your rod ought to supply you with fresh meat. Dried apples, peaches and prunes are fine for camp and easy to transport. A few onions and potatoes are sometimes worth taking along. In the touring country cows sometimes are few. Canned cream serves as well. Softbo tea and coffee may be carried if you wish. Coffee in a jiffy is the result. Unless you are an old hand better buy fresh bread as you pass through the towns.

Good goggles are almost a necessity. And with plenty of extra old clothes, the car turned up, filled with gas, water and oil, you can be off with the sun to the Land of Heart's Desire.

Begin early in the afternoon to look for a night camp site. The big want is a pure water supply. Be sure of that. Don't take chances. The chance farmer that will sell you milk and butter and fresh bread will also set you right on the water proposition.

Wood is desirable for a night campfire and so watch out for a camp spot where deadwood or dry wood is available. Select a high dry spot for the tent of you can find one; smooth and free from stones.

HANDLE NEW CAR WITH CARE AT THE OUTSET

It is of prime importance to handle the new car carefully. After the first trip, take a wrench and go over every nut and bolt to make certain they are all tight.

The engine parts should receive special attention for the slightest defect will result in misfiring and poor carburetion. Make your inspections frequently for the first 1000 miles until the car has worn in somewhat, then you can relax your vigilance a bit.

Make a thorough study of your instruction book. Look at the lubrication chart and familiarize yourself with the location of every grease cup and oil hole, then see that they are kept filled properly. This will insure you against worn parts or scored bearings and, incidentally, allow you to learn the lubrication system thoroughly.

When an automobile is built the engine has been run but little and every part is fitted tight to make them snug after the roughness has worn off. Consequently the car in very still and will not show much speed until those parts wear in. So don't exceed twenty-five miles an hour until the speedometer registers 1000 miles. By so doing, each part will "find itself" and you will be perfectly safe in exceeding thirty miles per hour. If you force a car before it has obtained the 1000 miles it will result in a noisy engine and premature repairs.

Drain off the oil every 500 miles and replace with fresh. The quantity of grit and dirt that comes from the crankcase is usually surprising.

The bearings and pistons throw off small particles of metal, which if not removed with the old oil will work into the bearings and cause trouble. Perhaps the motor will show a tendency to overheat when new. Don't let this worry you, for it is merely the friction caused in wearing off the rough surfaces of the engine. Drive intelligently and use plenty of oil and water and soon this trouble will disappear.

Every now and then the new car should be jacked up, the wheels shaken and the looseness removed. As the bearings become accustomed to their work the need for adjustment will disappear as the other oils.

Be careful of the gasoline adjustment on the dash. Do not leave it "rich" any longer than is necessary, for this results in an extra amount of gasoline getting into the engine base, which will thin the oil.

The body cleaning should be done very carefully for the first month or so. Use a simple flow of water, without spray or force, otherwise the finish will be marred. The longer you drive, without unnecessary cleaning, the harder the varnish will become.

Do not allow the engine to race or to run when the car is standing. Self-starters are made to be used and it is good for the battery to be operated intelligently.

Keep the tires fully inflated—soft tires consume power as well as destroy themselves.
Keep the carburetor adjusted at the leanest possible mixture—a lean mixture reduces carbon deposits.
