QUEER LOOKING RACES LAID TO BOOK MAKING

PARIS, July 14.—(A. P.)—So many queer looking races, (despised outsiders) defeating illustrious horses, have been uncovered at the metropolitan tracks since the opening of the racing season that Baron Maurice de Rothschild, himself one of the largest owners in France as well as deputy for Pau, has brought the matter to the attention of the French Chamber.

Baron de Rothschild has asked the chamber to pass a law for the suppression of book making in Paris and largest cities in France, and mooks to be replaced by pari-mutuel booths in the cities.

The French government receives ten per cent on all moneys taken in at the pari-mutuel booths at the various tracks. As the amounts bet at the different tracks vary from 5,000,000 to 10,000,000 francs daily the French government derives from the racing industry a revenue of between 500,000 and 1,000,000 francs per day.

Baron de Rothschild said in the French chamber that more money was bet with the banks operating in Paris each day than at the tracks, estimating that 10,000,000 francs per day were wagered in the city alone. This is a net loss of 1,000,000 francs a day for the government. He charged that several races had been run with such flagrant evidence of crookedness that had such racing been attempted in England or America the owners, trainers or jockeys would have been ruled off the turf for life.

It has been alleged that the book-makers gather in all the city money in the forenoon, no bet being accepted under any circumstances after one o'clock. This gives them ample time to journey to the race track and, if they find that they are overloaded on any one horse and stand go lose too much, to use a little persuasion on the jockey piloting the animal.

Jockey Brethet has just been ruled off for life. He was up on Zizanie II an overwhelming favorite with the public. He did not finish in the start and his bad riding was so evident (he was an apprentice jockey, not an expert in the gentle art of pulling a horse) that the judges summoned him into the stand. He promptly admitted having pulled the horse but claimed not to be acquainted with the men who had made it worth his while to lose the race.

This is one instance out of many which Baron de Rothschild says will kill racing in France unless the government takes stern measures for the suppression of bookmaking in Paris.
