JACK JOHNSON "SUMMERING" IN PRISON

Mr. Jack Johnson, late of Paris, Barcelona and Mexico City, is "summering" at Joliet, Ill., prison. He skipped the country seven years ago, after violating the Mann white slave act. A few days ago he surrounded and now he plans to ask for a new trial. He walked across the border from Tijuana, Mexico, and was arrested by Deputy U. S. Marshal George Cooley (left) of San Diego, Cal. Noah D. Thompson, former secretary to the late Booker T. Washington (right), read the warrant to Johnson, who was hustled to Joliet.

CHANGES

(By Frank L. Stanton.)

It is not now as in the days when she
Made life, the world, and all of heaven to me;
Something is missing from that world, those skies—
The old time tenderness in her dear eyes.

It is not now as in the days when she
Whispered: "Love's flowers shall bloom eternally"
When that I deemed one word—one sigh—one breath
Could make Love dare the desolate Gate of Death!

All—all is changed: No earth, nor heaven above
Hold anything that ever I shall love;
The past is dead, and dim the future seems,
And love's a dream within a world of dreams!

THE FIRE IS NOT ALL OUT

IN THE Russ-Polish situation there are possibilities of another world war. Poland was set up by the peace conference as a buffer state to stand between Russia and Germany. Now the bolshevik armies are overrunning little Poland and it is reported their peace terms call for military occupation of the country for five years. That would mean the Russianization of Poland and the elimination of the buffer state.

A sinister aspect of the affair is that the Germans and Russians seem to be working together. It is known that Lenine and Trotsky had their initial successes through German aid. In fact the rise of bolshevism in Russia has been traced directly to Berlin influences. What would be more natural now than a German-Russian alliance for the future, if the way is left clear for such a combination? What is the meaning back of Germany's refusal to allow allied troops to pass through German territory en route to Poland's aid? How secure would be the peace of the world if Russia and Germany should act together under inevitable German domination and should seek revenge for the defeat suffered in 1918? If world peace should be disturbed again, could the United States keep out any more than it was able to keep out in 1917? Could this country afford to see France and England overcome by such a combination?

Such alarm may be groundless and again it may not. The menace in the present situation may be greater than people realize. It is very evident at least that the fires of warfare are not extinguished and meanwhile the United States senate has blocked the effective organization of a proper fire department.

GRAIN INSPECTION DISTRICTS

IN ACCORDANCE with the provisions of the United States Grain Standards Act, the secretary of agriculture has redesignated the grain supervision districts and their headquarters points.

The United States has been divided into 33 supervision districts, each of which will follow state and county lines entirely. The identification of supervision districts by numerals and many of the former dividing lines based upon railroad routes have been discontinued. Under the new arrangement entire counties are included in one or another of the districts named. These changes are expected to eliminate uncertainty on the part of the grain trade and licensed inspectors, especially in the case of county inspection points, that frequently resulted from the division of counties into two or more districts.

The redesignated districts and their headquarters points are enumerated alphabetically in Bureau of Markets Service and Regulatory Announcement No. 63 shortly to be issued by the United States department of agriculture.

CHILDREN IN EMPLOYMENT

THE preliminary report of the permanent committee on standards of physical fitness for children entering employment, appointed by the children's bureau of the U. S. department of labor, is announced.

The report consists of two parts—general recommendations and minimum standards of physical fitness for children entering and working in industry. The general recommendations advocate a minimum age of 16 years for entrance into industry on the ground that the period of pubescence, not completed in the majority of cases until the 16th year, is a time of special strain for the child. No child, according to the recommendations, should be allowed to go to work until he has had a complete physical examination, and has been declared physically fit for the particular occupation which he is about to take up. A re-examination for children when changing occupations and periodical examinations for all working children are deemed necessary. The need of special study by local administrative and medical officers of occupations in which children are likely to be employed is pointed out, and further scientific study of the effect of different kinds of work on the physique of boys and girls in their teens is declared to be essential. The fields which in the opinion of the committee are in need of special research are listed.

The necessity for further study, states the committee, is urgent. However, on the basis of scientific studies already made and the experience acquired in administering child labor laws prescribing physical requirements now in force in a few states, it is possible to formulate certain tentative standards. These it is expected will aid materially in safeguarding children from the evil results of premature and unsuitable work.

The suggested standards cover normal development, indicate what constitutes sound health and physical fitness for specific occupations, and emphasize points to be observed and methods to be employed in physical examinations. Defects for which children should be permanently refused certificates of reemployment and those for which temporary refusals should be made are listed. A record form for the use of physicians in examining children and careful instructions for filling in this form are appended to the report.
