HAS MANY COLORS

Just to give you an idea of the new way in which two or three of our colors are going to be introduced together this fall, take this frock.

Its material is a Japanese brocade in navy and gold for the foundation, and then there are wide panels of black tulle looped over the hips and tulle sleeves. The tulle everywhere is edged with a bright red galloon braid.

Why you must wash your face every day

BECAUSE the network of tiny pores and minute glands, which constitutes what we call the skin, must be cleansed thoroughly every day. Otherwise they clog with dirt, dust and oil secretions. Then you soon have blackheads and pimples.

Wash away these poisonous secretions every day with the mild, soothing lather of Palmolive. This freshens the complexion and allows the skin to breathe.

Result, a clear complexion, a smooth complexion, a fresh, rosy complexion, a complexion blooming with the beauty of health.

Be sure to use Palmolive

Its ingredients are the mildest, most soothing of natural cleansers. The use of Palm and Olive oils was discovered 3,000 years ago in ancient Egypt. They produce a wonderful profuse lather, mild and rich as cream.

Massage this creamy lather lightly into your skin with your two hands. Then dash on the rinsing water. Finish with Palmolive Cold Cream.

Do this thorough cleansing just before bedtime and you will wake with a becomingly fresh complexion.

(If your skin is very dry, apply a little Palmolive Cold Cream before washing. This will keep it smooth and flexible.)

THE PALMOLIVE COMPANY, MILWAUKEE, U. S. A.

Why it is reasonably priced

If Palmolive was made in limited quantity for the favored few, if its use was restricted as in the old days when Palm and Olive oils were the prerogative of royalty, Palmolive would be a very expensive soap.

But because millions use it, the price is no more than that of ordinary soap.

Thus every woman may enjoy its beneficial action, and can obtain it always wherever she may be. Palmolive is sold everywhere by leading dealers.

HEARTS CAN FORGET

(By Frank L. Stanton.)

Never you fear that I'm weeping for you—
 Sighing over a sweet dream yet;
 Wander you on in the dawn and the dew;
 Hearts can forget!

Do you not see in your heaven the blue—
 Beautiful after Love's sun is set
 Dream you no more that I'm weeping for you;
 Hearts can forget!

Sweet was the dream; but no dreams, dear, come true!
 Would it avail if Love's eyelids were wet?
 Life is too real to be weeping for you;
 Hearts can forget!

THE SHOE IS NOW ON THE OTHER FOOT

GOADED by the Cox charges regarding the G. O. P. campaign fund, Senator Harding declares his campaign shall be free of "clamor, insincerity and abuse."

The whole framework of the Harding campaign, constructed by the senate oligarchy, rests on insincerity and abuse. The fight against the peace treaty was not made in good faith. In libelling the league covenant Lodge repudiated his own former position. He had argued for a league of nations. He had bitterly denounced the idea of a separate peace. He fought the treaty because it was negotiated by a democratic president and for no other reason. The evidence on this point is plain and it involves Harding because he was a wheel horse in the Lodge organization in the senate.

Opposing the peace treaty the Lodge-Harding group appealed chiefly to prejudice and to ignorance. They willfully led people astray as to the meaning of important sections. They deliberately and maliciously misrepresented article 10, Britain's "six votes," and the Shantung clause in the treaty. For proof look to Taft, look to Hughes, look to McNary's speech in the senate, look to the report of the American Bar Association's committee.

As for abuse, what have the Harding politicians done during the last two years aside from abusing President Wilson and his administration? Abuse of Wilson has been their chief thought morning, noon and night. Congress had 57 committees at work and they expended two million dollars primarily in abuse of the president and his fellow workers. The song of hate against the president and the treaty was never stopped even though death came near to the white house door. The lower the president sank the louder became the vilification and the clamor. It was a disgrace to the nation.

The Harding plea about abuse is belated. He should have spoken when the assassins were hammering at the sick man's door. If he believes in sincerity he should have shown sincerity when Lodge was playing politics with the peace treaty and the league covenant. Harding's main reliance in this campaign is upon the campaign of vilification and misrepresentation carried on by the senate clique during the last two years. It is in poor grace for him to complain at the expose of his own excessive campaign fund.

GENERAL GORGAS

WASHINGTON recently has witnessed the burial at historic Arlington National Cemetery of a man who has been described as one whose patient was the world, and whose life was so full of works for others that it is impossible to compute his contribution to mankind. Maj. Gen. William Crawford Gorgas, surgeon general United States army, retired. The tributes paid to Gen. Gorgas in London, where he died, and in Washington, while notable, could not adequately express the feelings of the nation or the world he served so conspicuously and so unselfishly.

The most striking characteristic of General Gorgas, aside from his great ability, was his modesty, his self effacement. He was gentleness itself, the personification of courtesy, typical of one who would serve others for the joy of serving. In him ambition seemed a thing apart. His creed was helpfulness. His work in Cuba, in Ecuador, in Panama, and in other countries to the south is well known. He was on his way to do similar work in the disease infested regions of Africa when his body, worn out in service of humanity, would no longer sustain him.

The questions of Japanese admission to America and Japan land ownership in this country are issues that should be settled strictly in accord with American desires. This is our country and we have the right to our own wishes on such matters.

The seasons come and go but interest in the Round-Up never seems to wane. The startling advance seats sales this year offer new testimony to the drawing qualities of the show.

LOCAL RECTOR REFUSES BREMERTON SUMMONS

Rev. Alfred Lockwood, rector of the Church of the Redeemer, has refused an offer to become rector of the Episcopal church in Bremerton, Washington, according to announcement made yesterday. Rev. Lockwood felt that the opportunity for service is greater in Pendleton than in the new territory and yielded to the urgent request of his parishioners that he remain here.

The Bremerton field, in view of the fact that the church has a hand about $50,000 for promoting extension in western Washington, would offer rector many possibilities for work. It is probable that the chosen minister will have one or two ministers as assistants, as the plan is to build up the Bremerton church as a center and in this the Bremerton navy yard is included.

Rev. Lockwood, since coming to Pendleton three years ago, has been prominent in ministerial and civic circles of the city and was active in patriotic work during the war.

The communication declared an unprovoked attack has been made on Polish troops by the Lithuanian forces.
