A JOYFUL FAREWELL.

(By Frank L. Stanton.)
Winds from the blizzard region
Are bringing gray winter on;
Farewell to the old lawn mower
That started my dreams at dawn.
Leave it there where the bleak winds blow,
Barbaric relic of long ago!

Farewell all sounds of summer;
I've paid the bitter price;
Plunked down my last, lone nickel
To the man that shouted "Ice!"
To the trust he represents—farewell,
For a beautiful, long and restful spell;
And welcome the blizzard that drowns his yell!

But lo! in the dreary distance
The form of the Plumber looms!
Really grim, I bow to him,
Lord of the lonesome glooms!
The world has trouble and sorrow still;
I bow to Fate, and its iron will;
(I'll mortgage the house when he brings the bill!)

OREGON ROADS FIRST.

THE La Grande Observer says that it does not know all the ins and outs of the Wallula road scheme, but is inclined to favor Pendleton's protest against such a routing of the Columbia highway, taking the position that the highway should pass through a more populous and cultivated region.

The La Grande paper could go much stronger and be within the limits of propriety. Has Union county secured all the highways it needs, or would it like to have its trunk highways paved so they may be used at all times of the year? Would not Union county like to see a paved road from La Grande to Pendleton and on to Portland? If so, then it would be justified in protesting against building a road from Umatilla to Wallula, which would be of no possible benefit to Eastern Oregon, while Eastern Oregon needs go uncared for.

The indignation expressed in Pendleton against the Wallula project is prompted by the fact our state commission should consider such a move when it has not yet taken care of really pressing Oregon needs. For instance, the road from Echo to Pendleton is not yet gravelled and no steps whatever have been taken towards paving this road. An implied promise that the road would be paved was made when the people of this county voted over a million dollars in bonds to cooperate with the state in highway construction. That promise has not yet been kept. The road program in this county has suffered almost interminable delays. We presumed the delay was due chiefly to shortage of funds and the people have been patient, hoping for more speed when speed became possible. But when it appeared the state, after delaying work that is vitally needed, might build a cross country highway that would not serve a half dozen people it seemed time to show a little righteous wrath.

If the state has some road money we would like to see it expended where road work is called for. Is not this a cause in which all Eastern Oregon counties may well join forces?

ENEMIES OF PEACE

SAMUEL GOMPERS, president of the American Federation of Labor, is an address recently at Driving Park, Columbus, Ohio, denounced as traitors to the republic the men who are endeavoring to bar the entry of the United States into the League of Nations.

"I hold," said Mr. Gompers, "that the men and the group of men who stand in the way of the advancement of the peace program as at present outlined are traitors to the republic of the United States. We want peace. We want industrial peace, international peace, not by being armed to the teeth all over the world but by the international agreement under the League of Nations, the best covenant ever done in the history of the civilized world.

"This covenant, this league, this treaty," he continued, "is the first serious effort made by the peoples and the governments of the world to arrive at peace without arming to the teeth. It proposes to reduce the standing army, the navy construction and the manufacture of arms and munitions. It proposes to do the things that work for the arts of peace and progress rather than war.

"Politically women are equal to men in our republic, and upon them devolves not only the right and the privilege but the duty to exercise that power upholding for freedom, for justice, for right and for humanity.

"I have no desire, much less the power to direct, to order or to dictate the votes of the people of the United States—the workers or anybody else—but I hold it to be the duty of American labor to search the records of public men and decide for itself what should be done in November, using its own good judgment and independent right and activities."

In 1912 Harding said that if the progressives came back into the republican party they would have to come on their hands and knees. A great many former bull moose leaders and their followers are showing their high appreciation of that statement by working for Governor Cox.

If the state has available road money, why not build that road to Grant county or the long discussed road from Pendleton to Cold Springs?

Good men for the city council are just as necessary as a strong man for mayor.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS COVENANT

VI.
When the Covenant of the League of Nations was completed, after the President had spent many weary months reconciling the jealousies and ambitions of European nations, the United States so led the world that it was written in the bond that the League's first session should be called by Mr. Wilson. Also, in deference to the fact that the League must be an organization primarily for peace and in line with the high principles of the Fourteen Points, it was provided that a unanimous vote must be had on decisions by the Council. It was realized that, if America did not agree, no effective action could be taken. Now the Republican Senate has defeated ratification; the Republican platform has dodged the question; and the Republican nominee has opposed our entrance into the League, proposing nothing but an impenetrable maze of words as a substitute. Contrast with this darkness the clear provisions of Article 5:

"Except when otherwise expressly provided in this Covenant or by the terms of the present Treaty, decisions at any meeting of the Assembly or of the Council shall require the agreement of all the members of the League represented at the meeting. All matters of procedure at meetings of the Assembly or of the Council including the appointment of committees to investigate particular matters shall be regulated by the Assembly or by the Council and may be decided by a majority of the members of the League represented at the meeting. The first meeting of the Assembly and the first meeting of the Council shall be summoned by the President of the United States of America." The only way, under this article, by which the League could embroil America in the quarrels of Europe would be by Congress itself casting the affirmative vote and behind Congress would necessarily be the people of the United States.

$16,000 North Side Residence

This house and its surroundings fit into the place for which it was intended; namely a permanent family home.

The house sets in the center of a spacious lawn, it occupies a full corner and the grounds are bordered with low stone walls on three sides.

The matured trees and shrubs give the house a very imposing and beautiful setting.

It is one block from the Umatilla County Library, thus giving the location the advantage of being close to Main street and also far enough away to avoid the commercial traffic, the smoke and dense air of the downtown places.

There are two large verandas, one on the rear and one extending around the Northwest corner. Large downstairs hall at entrance with oak floor, large living room with fireplace and oak floor, pass pantry with large refrigerator and built in china closets, kitchen with combination range and water heater, wash room and back hall.

Full cement basement, stationary wash tubs, gas heater, fuel room, fruit room, toilet and heating plants.

Four bedrooms upstairs, stairs, landing and hall, toilet, bathroom, closets, large upstairs porch, and large attic on third floor.

Modern garage with concrete floor.

With the house is the complete furnishings, including carpets, rugs, draperies and every room completely furnished.

The property is in the center of a district where the finest homes are located and where the homes are owned by the substantial families of Pendleton.

This is without doubt the best offering this year in residential property and compared with the cost of construction at the present time, the length of time in which it takes to mature trees and shrubs on a new property and the fact that 200 feet of paving and 200 feet of concrete walks are all paid for it is a very moderate price.

The owner is leaving Pendleton.
