NIP OF CANNED HEAT FIRST CLASS FIRE WATER FOR REDMAN'S THIRST

When real whiskey was extant, redmen called it firewater. Now that substitutes only are available, the redskins are turning to various alcoholic substances for their beverages. Perhaps with an idea to sticking to the literal meaning of the term fire water, George Dick, a reservation Indian, on Saturday night told the police he had become drunk on Serno.

Serno is sold as canned heat. It is a mixture of paraffine and alcohol, somewhat denatured. The alcoholic content is said to be about 74 per cent. George had five cans of the substance when arrested. He told the method of preparation as follows:

"Dig out dope, put 'em in hot water. Strain 'em, drink. Make feel good."

Reputable merchants, the chief of police said today, have wondered at the recent demand for Serno on the part of Indians and some white men. They are to be informed that instead of furnishing quick heat it is being used for fire water in hope they will refuse to sell further to Indians for purposes of consumption. George, the offender, was fined $10 for five days for his experiment.

Release for Women who Suffer

The multitude of American women who suffer terribly day after day and year after year from ills peculiar to their sex is almost beyond belief—yet there is hardly a town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman, and often many, do not reside who have been restored to health from some of the worst forms of female ills, and often avoided operations by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

These Two Women Tell of Their Experience.

Carrollton, Ky.—"I suffered almost two years with female weakness. I could not walk any distance, ride or take any exercise at all without resting. If I swept the floor or did any kind of work it would bring my sickness on. I was weak and languid, had no energy, and life was a misery to me. I was under the care of a good physician for several months and tried other remedies. I had read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking twelve bottles I found myself much improved and I took six more. I have never had any more trouble in that respect since. I have done all kinds of work and at present am an attendant at a State Hospital and am feeling fine. I shall always recommend your Vegetable Compound."—LILLIAN TRAPP, 824 South 6th Street, Carrollton, Ky.

Onalaska, Wis.—"Every month I had such pains in my back and lower part of stomach I could not lie in bed. I suffered so it seemed as though I would die, and I was not regular either. I suffered for a year and was unfit to do my housework, could only wash dishes once in a while. I read an advertisement of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other women and decided to try it. I surely did wonders for me. I have no pains now and can do my own housework without any trouble at all. I will always praise your medicine as I do not believe there is a doctor that can do as much good for female weakness as can Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—MRS. LESTER E. WANNER, R. 1, Box 69, Onalaska, Wis.

COX RESTS FOR LAST WHIRLWIND CAMPAIGN

CLEVELAND, Oct. 18.—(A. P.)—Governor Cox obtained a full day's rest Sunday in preparation for what his associates said, would be a whirlwind finish of his campaign. During the next fortnight he will make his fight in the great population centers of the eastern and central states, beginning Monday in Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo, N. Y.

A Madison Square Garden speech at New York next Saturday night will close the week, and the following week the candidate will speak at Indianapolis, Chicago and other mid-west centers.

The league of nations promised to be virtually the exclusive battle ground of Governor Cox for the remainder of the campaign. His advisers today said that he would stress the contention that Senator Harding stands for rejection of the league, but still crying "Kamerad, Kamerad to the hosts of peace," comprising republicans and independents favoring the covenant.

Governor Cox attended vesper service at Trinity Episcopal cathedral and Sunday night conferred with E. H. Moore, Youngstown, Ohio, his personal adviser. Mr. Moore said that prospects for Governor Cox's election were "improving daily."
