PUBLIC FORCING LOWER PRICES, CLOTHIER SAYS

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Retail clothiers throughout the country are determined to sell at cost, according to Andrew Burkhardt, president of the National Association of Retail Clothiers today. "Continual increases in costs during recent years have brought consumers to a state where they can no longer be appealed to by sheer reason," Burkhardt declared in explaining that manufacturers and retailers "have terminated to forget their usual profits."

NEW TRIAL IS GIVEN JACKSON COUNTY MAN

SALEM, Oct. 29.—(A. P.)—The Oregon supreme court has granted a new trial to Lark Evans, convicted in Jackson county of robbing W. C. White, a taxicab driver, and leaving him bound in the brush. It held the defendant was entitled to the benefit of evidence set out in support of a new trial.

INSANE SERGEANT DIRECTED KILLING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(U. P.)—Details of the killing of two native Haitians on the order of an insane non-commissioned officer of the American marines were learned here today. This incident caused General Barnett to make his charge of indiscriminate killings by American forces occupying Haiti. Barnett will be the first witness before the board of naval inquiry which will start the investigation Friday. Details of the killing of the two Haitians came out in the court martial of the sergeant and two men who acted on his orders. The natives were shot the night of May 23, 1919. One had been arrested for "working magic," and the other for theft. They were taken from the jail by the sergeant and ordered to dig their own graves. Evidence at the court martial shows. Kerosene is said to have been poured over one native's head and only a high wind blowing out the matches preventing him from being tortured by fire. The sergeant then assembled a firing squad and ordered the prisoners shot. At the court martial it was brought out that the sergeant was hopelessly insane. The two privates, it is understood were acquitted as they acted on a superior's orders.

Pendleton, Oregon, Oct. 19, 1920.

A statement of facts, so that the people may know.

Father.—What do you think would be the state of your mind and heart, if after you had finished your evening meal, sat down in your easy chair, picked up your evening paper, and among the first items of news your eye fell upon would be, that your son had that day died guilty to a foul crime, and had been sentenced to pay the extreme penalty.

If you can imagine such a thing, you will then be in a position to appreciate in some small degree at least, the position I am now placed in. Having had no opportunity to render the boy any aid, or assistance before he was sentenced, together with the fact of the boy's mental weakness, I take this means of getting my side of the story before the people of this city and community.

First—Relative to his criminal record: If he ever served a day for any crime before this, I never heard of it and he could not have served long for there has not been more than six months at any time during the last ten years that I or his brothers have not heard from him. So that, if he has a criminal record it must have been indeed been a very short one.

Second—Relative to the boy's mentality: At the age of about 3 1-2 years he was exposed to, and contracted a malignant form of measles not being able to get them out, the temperature ran up so high that it threw him into spasms or convulsions. After trying all day to reduce the temperature and break the spasms, without success, they decided to administer chloroform to it possible break the spell of spasms, and after keeping him in that condition all night, they finally came to the point where he would stay relaxed when they removed the drug, but we never succeeded in getting the measles out, save for a few around the edge of his hair and neck. For weeks he hovered between life and death, but finally we began to see signs of improvement, but was very slow from that time on, until he was 12 years old his mind did not seem to grow with his body.

At the age of twelve because of his mental condition, and his propensity for picking up things that did not belong to him, I had him placed in a reformatory school for correction and kept him there until he was 18 years old. At that time we took him out and brought him home and I tried to teach him my trade. After six or eight weeks of constant trying I was forced to the conclusion that because of his mental condition, coupled with his carelessness, that it would be out of the question to ever make a mechanic out of him. It seemed as though I was at my wits end. But after due consideration I decided, if I could get him on a farm somewhere he might be taught to do that kind of work. Accordingly I corresponded with a relative of mine, living in a distant state, who was on a large farm and finally got them to agree to take him and try and teach him to work. This proved in a measure successful. He seemed to like horses and the handling of stock and farm life and got along all O. K. He stayed there until he was nearly or quite of age. At that age he began to develop a habit of staying out late at night and when they tried to reason with him, he got miffed and left. From that time on he has gone here and there, working on farms, coming home or going to some of his brothers and sisters every year for a short visit. Was in my home town the last of last April and we heard from him in May or June, so you can see he could not have had a very long criminal record.

Now about the crime that he has confessed to committing here. That it was foul, uncalmed for deal, no one is more conscious of it than I am. And God knows if by any power of mine, could restore the life taken I would gladly do so and my heart goes out in sympathy for the bereaved wife and family and my prayer has constantly been that God in his infinite love and mercy would comfort, sustain and uphold them in this awful hour of trial. I do not maintain that the boy is innocent of this foul deed because of his mental condition, for undoubtedly he knows right from wrong and therefore ought to be punished. But I do say that because of his weakened mentality he did not understand the enormity of the crime he committed, nor the awful punishment it involved when he plead guilty to the charge. I therefore ask the people of this city and commonwealth to use other judgment before you snuff out that life.

Don't let your sympathy for me enter into the case, for I am perfectly resigned to God's will in the matter. If you think after reading this, my statement, that in the excitement and frenzy accompanying the arrest and conviction of my boy there was a miscarriage of justice, I ask you in the name of God and everything just right, come to my assistance and help me get signers to him my trade. After six or eight

If on the other hand you think justice has been meted out, I bow in humble submission to your will. I am stopping at the Senate Rooms over the Quille Cafe, if any one after reading my statement of facts wishes to confer with me, you can find me there. I leave my case in your hands. But remember, if anything is going to be done, it must be done hastily for the time is short.

Respectfully submitted by a sorrowing father.

JOHN REED, RADICAL WRITER, TYPHUS VICTIM

PORTLAND, Oct. 29.—(U. P.)—John Reed, well known radical writer and editor, died Sunday in Moscow, Russia, according to a cablegram which relatives here received Monday. Typhus was the cause of his death. Reed spent considerable time in Russia as a war correspondent and writer for magazines. He was previously on the staff of the American magazine. Reed returned after the war with a commission as soviet ambassador to the United States, but the commission was later repudiated.

DIRECTOR OF ARGONNE BATTLE WILL BE GUEST OF PORTLANDERS SOON

SALEM, Or., Oct. 28.—(A. P.)—Lieutenant-General Hunter Liggett, who commanded the American armies in the field in France, and who directed the battle of the Argonne, will be an honor guest at a dinner by national guard officers of Multnomah county in Portland some time next month. This announcement was made here yesterday by George A. White, adjutant-general of the state. The date has not been fixed. Other army and naval officers will attend. General Liggett is now commander of the ninth corps area with headquarters at San Francisco.
