PRODUCERS FOR STANFIELD.

(From Oregonian, Oct. 8, 1920.)
STORY OF A CAY OF BEEF.
How a Democratic Tariff Affects One Oregon Industry.

HARPER, Or., Oct. 4.—(To the Editor)—The writer is a merchant, doing business at Harper, Or. Harper is a town located in the center of the headquarters ranch of Miller & Lux, the largest cattle outfit on the coast, if not in the United States.

Last week I ordered from Swift & Co., Holme, among other goods, a case of one-pound cans of corner beef. Today they came, and this was what we read:

COMPANIE
SWIFT & CO. PLATA
ARGENTINE

Argentine beef in the heart of the biggest cow camp in Oregon! And I was going to vote for Chamberlain. But no more. I have never met Mr. Chamberlain, and I have Mr. Chamberlain. I like him for his pleasant personality and his hundred-per-cent American stand for our boys. He is welcome to my cakes and ale, but not my bread and butter.

Here are all my customers loaded up with cattle they cannot sell. We put a million pounds of as good wool as was ever grown in Oregon through our warehouses last spring, and cannot get a collar on it, and our paternal administration is offering cape and Australian wool for sale every day. Our warehouse is full of pelts and hides which the dealers will not even allow us to ship to them, because pelts and hides are not worth the freight. Every ship is bringing in more Argentine stuff to make conditions worse for us.

We talk of the league of nations and wet and dry. We are chasing the shadow and ignoring the real issue, which is, for us: Shall we have five-cent wool and two-cent beef again, as we had in the good old Cleveland days? Five thousand such republicans as I was could stay at home on November 2 and not hurt the chance of Harding and Sunnott by the state or district. But in the senate we have a majority of two, and one of those, (God save the mark!) is LaFollette. That is where an Oregon republican is going to have the only chance to make his vote count in this election. That can of beef showed me wherein my duty lay.

The Pendleton Roller Mills are running night and day and Sunday's grinding 550 barrels of flour daily and still the output does not keep pace with orders. The Lillian Russell show troupe passed through here last night going by special train from Portland to Ogden.

R. N. Stanfield, the old settler and general good citizen is here from Butter Creek. He says the stockmen do not wish to sell their cattle for a song and will feed many a head during the winter. He has 400 tons of hay and will winter 220 head.

U. OF C. STUDENTS CONDUCT CAMPAIGN FOR COX SUPPORT

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—Heckled by spectators, compelled to shout above the noise of the street cars to make themselves heard, told to move on by the police, youthful political enthusiasts from the University of California have invaded this city to preach the doctrine of democracy and do their bit to help Cox and put across the league of nations.

They have adopted the soap-box methods of the old-time politicians and revived the cornet solo of the medicine man to attract a crowd. They shout their political epigrams with an intensity that has broken the general apathy of the campaign.

The orators are led by Miles Hammond, E. A. Morton, George Hickman and Julian Pardini and are members of what they claim is the largest student political organization in the country, 1500 members being enrolled.

MOVIE ACTOR AND GIRL PACE CELLS IN LOVE TRIANGLE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—(U. P.)—While Albert Cross, movie actor, paces a cell of the jail awaiting trial for violation of the Mann act, pretty Myrtle Miles, 22, said by officers to have been taken from New York to Duluth and later brought here, faces a burglary charge and is in jail. "I loved him," was the girl's plea as she admitted she stole money with which to get her sweetheart out of jail. The white slave charge was brought by Cross' wife.

"I loved him, and could never give him up," the girl told the wife. "I forgive you," said the wife, "but I'm through with Albert."

NEGLIGEE OF RIBBONS

Ribbon is used in seemingly endless ways, but it remained for this negligee to exploit its particularly effective use. The negligee is of blue crepe meteor satin and all around it, and forming a dainty shoulder yoke, is a wonderful new ribbon, a glorious clouded silk that starts through the center in a red-gold blaze, then merges itself into pale yellow, deepening from a light into darker green.
