GIRLS ARE HOSTESSES

Black cats vied with witches, towering corn stalks stood on tiptoe to rival fluttering streamers of orange and black which formed a ceiling overhead and gleaming Jack o'lanterns winked at the glad array Saturday evening when a dancing party was presided over by Miss Blanche Isaacs, Miss Marjorie McMonie, Miss Mildred Rogers, Miss Geraldine Morrison, Miss Isabelle Ross, Miss Marian Ross, Miss Genevieve Phelps and Miss Ruth Minna.

Their guests were asked to the home of Miss Isaacs just west of Pendleton and Sawyer's orchestra played as the young folk danced away the hours.

A drop ceiling of the black and gold streamers also decked an adjoining room where four dainty maids, Dorothy Ross, Francis Isaacs, Roberta Morrison and Beryl Harrah dispensed cider, and gay curtains were fashioned in the archways, while crisp black boys doled the walls and clung to the electrolights. Baskets of shining red apples and clusters of roses added colorful charm.

A buffet supper was served after the dancing, about 60 guests sharing the event. Four high school faculty members were among those bidden. They were Miss Dorothy Plegel, Miss Hansen, Miss St. Peters and Dick Hanley.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Seniors to Debate—The senior English classes of the school debated last week on the question resolved: The Wilsonian League of Nations should be adopted without reservations. The negative teams in both classes came out the winners. The classes have now challenged each other to an inter-class debate upon the same question. The first period class will represent the negative or republican view while the fourth period class will stand on the views of the democrats. Miss Genevieve Phelps, Miss Mary Clarke and David Swanson have been chosen by the first period class to plead for the republican side. As yet the other class has not chosen a team. The debate will probably be held in an assembly sometime this week or early next week. Miss Elizabeth Severance is instructor in both classes and will have charge of the work.

Parade Will Be Effective

Plans are on foot to make the parade an effective one by including all veterans of former wars and by inviting fraternal orders to participate. The time of march, as now tentatively outlined, will be short.

Inasmuch as Governor Olcott proclaimed Nov. 11 a state holiday, local banks and public offices will observe it by closing for the entire day. J. A. Murray, of the Commercial Association's committee, today is interviewing mercantile establishments on their attitude toward closing and either a whole or half holiday seems certain.

Present plans call for holding the presentation of the D. S. C. and the principal addresses of the day on the court house lawn, facing court street. The committees representing the legion and the Commercial Association will announce further plans as they are developed.

REV. W. S. GILBERT, STATE COMMANDER OF LEGION, COMING

Chaplain and Major Accepts Invitation of Pendleton Post and Will be Principal Speaker Here November 11.

Rev. W. S. Gilbert, state commander of the American Legion, will be principal speaker at Pendleton's Armistice Day observance, Thursday, Nov. 11. A telegram of acceptance from Rev. Mr. Gilbert was received about 9 o'clock Saturday night by Harold J. Warner, executive of Pendleton Post.

Members of the Armistice Day committee are highly elated over obtaining the state commander for the local celebration. Rev. Mr. Gilbert is a veteran of two wars, the Spanish-American and the World War. He served for many years as chaplain of the Oregon National Guard and during the recent war was a chaplain in the regular army with the rank of major.

In Front Rank of Speakers

One of the best known men in the state today, Major Gilbert has a message that is thought certain to be of great interest to Pendleton folk. He is a forceful speaker and is in the front rank of public life in Oregon. Earlier in the year his friends desired him to enter the race for the senatorial nomination against R. N. Stanfield, but he refused to enter politics. When the state convention of the legion cast about for a strong man to head the organization during the present year, Major Gilbert was advanced as the logical man and his election was made by a unanimous vote.

As the chief address by Major Gilbert, Armistice Day will witness the presentation to Dr. F. A. Llewellyn of his distinguished service cross, the only one awarded to a Umatilla county man in the recent war. Adjutant General George M. White has been asked to be present to make the presentation but has not been heard from. It is understood that he has been asked to act as Marshal in the Portland parade on Armistice Day. Officers from the regular army are also sought for the presentation event.
