

WHITHER AWAY WITH TRILLION YARDS OF TINSEL THAT WERE FLAUNTED ON MILADYS COAT

By "MARJORIE"

(Written for the United Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Whither away with all the trillion yards of tinsel, metallic threads, beads, appliques, stencils and gewgaws of every sort that have been flaunted upon Milady's suit and coat these past few months? It is a curious fact that from the day the first New York store enumerated how many shopping days there were before Christmas, suits and coats seemed suddenly simplified. The curiouse are wondering if there was not enough tinsel for both Dame Fashion and the Yuletide trees.

Whatever the cause the fact is very evident that the better shops are now showing garments almost entirely free from the burden of superfluous trimming that has been in evidence since the opening of the fall season. Fifth Avenue shops are showing suits very chic in line and very simple. Really good furs are used for choker collars, and an occasional motif embroidered or beaded may lurk on collar or cuff. But the ornateness and gaudiness that characterized everything only a few weeks ago is rapidly disappearing.

Even so, the shops look no less like an Arabian Nights bazaar, for there is enough gorgeousness of coloring and fabric to atone for the lesser quantity of tinsel. Soft-spiled fabrics such as velvete, duvet de laine, peach blossom, and velvet are much in evidence and there are wonderful new shades of copper, wistaria, blue and greens. These gayer shades are used mainly in dressy afternoon or evening suits, but the street and business suits exploit quiet shades of taupe and brown, blue and gray.

Albeit that suits and coats have been trained into the way that they should go, the many "other things" of Milady's wardrobe can stand considerable "toning down." Even lingerie is becoming garishly giddy and is showing its true colors of hectic greens, blues, violets, and rose. The most up-to-snuff lingerie is of black lace or net garnished with metallic or silk flowers. This vociferous found from corsets to lounging robes. All the hectic Oriental coloring seems to have betaken itself to negligees. Fashion permits every woman to be a vamps "Serpent of the Nile" in the privacy of her own boudoir. The favored robes are of dark-hued brocaded satins encrusted with stenciled flowers of garnish hue. Black brocades embroidered in huge gold roses or lotus lilies are very in vogue. Trinkets of hammered bronze or copper dingle from girdle and sleeves. Opulence gleams in every fold of these new boudoir robes. Velvet batiks cut in a Mandarin come in rich hues of rose and purple, green or orange. Jeweled girdles of roughly-cut stones are found on others and even less ornate of milk garnish others and even the most ordinary negligees are dressed up with trimmings of colored brushed wool or rich bandings.

The trouser cut is found in many of the negligees. One of the most striking seen upon the avenue used black satin brocade for the bloomer part and solid lace for the overskirt. Flowers fashioned from beads and wool were dotted over the transparent lace. Some of the models make no pretense of being ansuculotte. The pajama lounging robe is featured heavily by the retailers. It comes in the same gorgeous colors and rich fabrics as do the bona fide robes.

A THREE-PIECE SUIT

Some of the most fetching tailored suits are those that involve two or more materials, yet keep to very long, clearly defined lines. This model is a three-piece costume. The skirt is of deep pile lacy-toned velvet, with satin of the same shade continuing into a tailored blouse trimmed with soutache in the same design as the coat. Then the coat, three-quarter length, carries out the idea with the velvet introduced in two panels.

BOSTON BUILDS FORCE FOR HOME NURSE DUTY

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—(A. P.)—A movement to build up an adequate body of nursing attendants to serve at moderate wages in homes where outside care is needed in cases of sickness but where means are lacking to pay trained nurses has been started in this city. The Household Nursing Association is offering women from twenty to forty-five years of age a carefully planned course which it describes as designed to prepare them "for the care of the home during sickness and the care of the home during sickness."

New classes are formed every seven weeks. The expense for the training is small. The course extends over a period of seven months, beginning with study of the care of the house, marketing, cooking, dietetics and nursing. After this preliminary work the students are sent to cooperating hospitals for four months, receiving actual training and experience in the care of patients. After care of a mother baby is then learned in a maternity hospital. When the course is completed the students are given case work under supervision of a trained nurse for five months. If their work has proved satisfactory they are then given diplomas and are permitted to work independently. Through a registry system the association is able to provide constant employment for graduates of the course.

ASHES OF TWO LOVERS UNITED IN MARRIAGE

TOKIO, Nov. 8.—(U. P.)—The rather unusual ceremony of uniting in marriage the ashes of two lovers took place a few days ago in the province of Izu. The young man and woman in question had been attached to each other for some time, but circumstances prevented them from marrying. In despair they committed "suicide" or double suicide, as is quite common under such circumstances in Japan, by leaping into the sea from a cliff at Atami, a well-known bathing resort. Their remains were cremated and the Buddhist wedding ceremony then performed over the ashes, as, according to Buddhist belief, this marriage will carry over into the next world.
