WILLIAM FARNUM IN HEART-STIRRING PLAY

Those who love to see William Farnum in heart-stirring drama have a treat in store for them in the coming of "Heart Strings," a William Fox production, which will open an engagement at the Arcade Theatre today.

A love story of unusual theme and great merit, "Heart Strings," like its name, is said to play upon the emotions of humanity, to make one forget self in the alluring beauty of the scenes. It is a story of love deferred, scenes for the most part depicting life among the beauty-loving French Canadians. The star portrays the character of Pierre Fournel, a marvellous violinist and composer, who gives up his great ambition and search for fame for the sake of a weakling sister.

The strong cast includes such well-known players as Gladys Voburn, Betty Hibburn, Kate Blanche, Paul Casanova, Robert Cain and Rowland Edwards. Henry Albert Phillips wrote the story, E. Lloyd Sheldon made the scenario, and J. Gordon Edwards directed the production.

VILLAGE BURNED DOWN IN "MAN TRAIL" LAST ACT

Heavy completed its work on the of poignant sorrow; of sublime love. Abounding in tense situations, the plot is unfolded in a series of stirring six-act photoplay, "The Man Trail," adapted from the recently published novel by Henry Owen, by burning down a whole village. It was a "real" village, however, and was built especially for scenes in this picture at "The Pines," at the mouth of Dead river, near Waikagan, Ill. It consisted of two score houses for the logging camp officials, several large bunk houses for the lumberjacks, a large office building, stores, bar rooms, gambling places and dance halls. The powder house was fired and blew up, scattering burning boards in all directions. The other buildings quickly caught fire and the village was reduced to ashes in two hours. The flames could be seen for miles around and attracted 5,000 persons from Waikagan, Chicago and the surrounding country. "The Man Trail," featuring Richard C. Travers and June Keith will be seen at the Pastime Theatre

ELSIE FERGUSON PLAYS 3 PARTS IN NEW PHOTOPLAY

The versatility of Elsie Ferguson, the charming star in leading Paramount pictures, is splendidly displayed in "Lady Rose's Daughter," her latest photoplay which comes to the Alta theatre for two days beginning today. Miss Ferguson plays three powerful parts in this picture, and her artistry is conspicuously evidenced in each characterization.

The story of Mrs. Humphry Ward's dramatic novel is divided into three epochs, those of 1850, 1880 and 1920. In the first epoch, Miss Ferguson is seen as Lady Maude, a woman of high position in England. In the second, she is Lady Maude, while in the present day epoch, she has the role of Julie Leighton, the illegitimate daughter of Lady Rose.

The three parts are entirely different in conception and treatment, but in this splendidly photoplay, Miss Ferguson portrays each with her usual artistry and dramatic effectiveness. As the daughter born out of wedlock, she endures much suffering, but after her love affair with a rascally army officer reaches its climax, she finds happiness in the love of a worthy man.

The photoplay has been finely produced and the support headed by David Powell, Holmes E. Herbert, Frank Losee, Ida Waterman and Warren Cook, is exceptionally clever.

90,000 SEEK TICKETS TO ELI-CRIMSON GAME

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 12.—(A. P.)—Applications for tickets to the Yale-Harvard football game Nov. 29 have reached about 90,000. The actual number of seats available is 72,000, although several more thousands will be able to get standing room. The crowd is expected to be about 80,000.

HARVARD WILL NOT NUMBER. CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 12.—The players of the Harvard football team will not be numbered in the game with Yale, or in any other contests. Robert Risher announced last night that the principal reason was to protect the system of play which Harvard has been years in building.

FOOTBALL

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 12.—(A. P.)—Before a crowd of 7000 frenzied football fans, Coach Thomas Kelley's University of Idaho football team demonstrated marked superiority over the University of Utah by winning Thursday's game 10 to 9. Idaho's most effective offensive play was what is known as a split or delayed buck. This enabled the Idaho team to march down the field to within striking distance of the crimson line.

HOME BREW IS DEALT BLOW BY OFFICIALS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Homebrewing was brought actively under the prohibition ban yesterday when it was learned that enforcement officials had ruled against the sale of hops and malt to others than bakers and confectioners. Great secrecy surrounded the prohibition bureau's action, but it was definitely ascertained that such instructions had been issued. Details of the order were lacking. The only admission by prohibition officials in the absence of Commissioner Kramer was that the Volstead act had been construed to mean that the sale of malt and hops as component parts of home-made beer were without the pale of the law and that their sale must stop. Enforcement officials throughout the country have been notified of the government's determination, but they have not been supplied with the technical language of the decision.

INTRIGUING COSTUME

This intriguing costume is pellucid, airy tulle with three cross-wise rows of the sixes that are pulled straight after the whole has been accordion pleated. The bodice is simply cut with a hemmed-in down collar in the neck, and roll-back cuffs on the elbow sleeves. But it is the ornate scarf and the little rouse turban of white feathers with its two white wings across the sides that give the costume its particular appeal.

REVISION IMMINENT IN STATE TAX FIXING

SALEM, Or., Nov. 12.—(A. P.)—County assessors of Oregon expect to have a bill introduced at the coming session of the legislature to remove the duties of the state tax commission from the governor, secretary of state and state treasurer and create a commission of three members, two of whom would travel about the state and one do office work. The reason back of the move is dissatisfaction with the valuation of the present state commission is accustomed to fix on public utilities. This plan developed at a convention of the assessors here yesterday.

An alternate plan suggested was to have the duties of the state tax com-

The inward effects of humor are worse than the outward. They endanger the whole system. Hood's Sarsaparilla eradicates all humors, cures all their inward and outward effects. It is the great alternative and tonic, whose merit has been everywhere established.
