WILLIAM FARNUM IN HEART-STIRRING PLAY

Those who love to see William Farnum in heart-stirring drama have a treat in store for them in the coming of "Heart Strings," a William Fox production, which will open an engagement at the Arcade Theatre today.

A love story of unusual theme and great merit, "Heart Strings," like its name, is said to play upon the emotions of humanity, to make one forget self in the alluring beauty of the scenes. It is a story of hope deferred, scenes—for the most part depicting life among the beauty-loving French Canadians. The star portrays the character of Pierre Fournel, a marvellous violinist and composer, who gives up his great ambition and search for fame for the sake of a weakling sister.

The strong cast includes such well-known players as Gladys Volurn, Betty Hiltburn, Kate Blanche, Paul Carencove, Robert Cain and Rowland Edwards. Henry Albert Phillips wrote the story, E. Lloyd Sheldon made the scenario, and J. Gordon Edwards directed the production.

ELSIE FERGUSON PLAYS 3 PARTS IN NEW PHOTOPLAY

The versatility of Elsie Ferguson, the charming star in leading Paramount pictures, is splendidly displayed in "Lady Rose's Daughter," her latest photoplay which comes to the Alta theatre for two days beginning today. Miss Ferguson plays three powerful parts in this picture, and her artistry is conspicuously evidenced in each characterization.

The story of Mrs. Humphry Ward's dramatic novel is divided into three epochs, those of 1860, 1890 and 1920. In the first epoch, Miss Ferguson is seen as Lady Maude, a woman of high social station in England. In the second, she is Lady Maude, while in the present day epoch, she has the role of Julia Le Breton, the illegitimate daughter of Lady Rose.

The three parts are entirely different in conception and treatment, but in this splendidly photoplay, Miss Ferguson portrays each with her usual artistry and dramatic effectiveness. As the daughter born out of wedlock, she endures much suffering, but after her love affair with a rascally army officer reaches its climax, she finds happiness in the love of a worthy man.

The photoplay has been finely produced and the support headed by David Powell, Holmes K. Herbert, Frank Losee, Ida Watermann and Warren Cook, is exceptionally clever.

ALTA SUNDAY AND MONDAY

SOFTENING A CYNIC

His bark was worse than his bite. He seemed a very grim and brusque individual, indeed, rather proud of his ability to say harsh and uncomfortable things, especially fond, apparently, of saying rude and cutting things to Katherine, who was as proud as she was lovely. How he hurt her pride! Yet, young as she was, she came at last to read the real kindness and tenderness beneath his rude manner, and then came her amazing proposal to him. What did she propose? Not marriage, you may be sure, for she was pretty sure he hated the whole institution. But it was a proposal that took his breath away, and will take yours away too, when you see Alice Brady in "A Dark Lantern," a Realart picture which will be shown at the Alta for two days beginning on Sunday.

PASTIME SUNDAY AND MONDAY

"A Double Dyed Deceiver," Goldwyn's latest starring vehicle for Jack Pickford, directed by Al Green, which comes to the Pastime Theatre for two days, is the screen adaptation of O. Henry's famous short story.

Jack Pickford in the role of Llano Kid from Laredo, Texas, overcomes the conventional formula for screen heroes by realistically re-living for the screen. O. Henry's gun-toting youngster who left Texas for obvious reasons and took refuge in a little South American town.

In this new Goldwyn production, Jack Pickford is supported by delightful little Marie Dunn, whose versatility accounts for her rise from small comedy roles to the rank of leading lady in feature pictures, and Sydney Ainsworth who gives a forceful characterization of one of the villainous types which won him fame in many former Goldwyn productions including "The Cup of Fury," "Heartsease," "A Man and His Money," etc. James Neil likewise famed for his peerless portrayals of "heavy" roles, has broken his precedent by acting in a role calling for a kindly rather, and paired with Eddythe Chapman, who in this instance is the loving mother, the combination is winsome and appealing.

Maurice Tourneur comes to the front again with a brand new atmosphere setting for his latest feature, "Deep Waters." This time it is a light house, the story weaving itself around the construction of the light, with thrilling action during a heavy storm and a shipwreck at night.

Many new photographic effects have been cleverly done in this Tourneur offering. Night scenes with the huge beam playing incessantly on the rocky coast, the town and its people, and the scene of the shipwreck, make "Deep Waters" a gripping sea story.

In addition, the excellent cast does some fine work. Betty West, the girl of the story, is played by Mr. Tourneur's new find, Barbara Bedford. Jack Gilbert, who adapted the story from F. Hopkinson Smith's book, "Caleb West, Master Diver," also plays an important part in the story. "Deep Waters" will be shown at the Arcade Theatre for two days commencing Sunday next.

IMMIGRATION IS TOPIC FOR BOARDMAN SPEECH

(East Oregonian Special.)

BOARDMAN, Nov. 12.—A good crowd was in attendance at the Armistice Day celebration held in the auditorium of the school Thursday afternoon, in spite of the fact that the day was stormy and cold. Patriotic recitations and songs, a prayer and short talk by Rev. J. W. Hood, and an address by Lieut. Walter Givens, of Kent, Oregon, chaplain of the 24th Coast Artillery, made up the program. Lieut. Givens spoke of past achievement, present possibilities and future hopes of our nation. On one point he was particularly strong, the restriction and regulation of immigration, advocating that a registering and follow-up system should be adopted with all immigrants, and that after a six months' probation period they should either take out their naturalization papers or return whence they came.

The Red Cross membership roll is growing. Seventeen names reported the first day of the opening of the campaign.

F. F. Kiltz is excavating for a basement 22 by 28 over which he will build a house containing four rooms and bath.

Blake Shaw from Wasco, is building a seven-room house on Heppner street. The house will have full basement and be modern, costing about $5000. Mr. Shaw is a well drilled by profession.

Boardman is well pleased with the prospects of improved transportation facilities. H. J. Curtin, traveling freight agent for the O. W. R. & N., was in the city this week looking over the ground for a hay loading spur at Peters and the possibilities of a depot and agent seem bright. In county highway matters the decision of Mr. Glass of the state department to locate the Heppner-Columbia river market road north of Juniper Canyon to connect with the same road leading out of Boardman, is also of interest.

Several Boardman citizens are in Heppner this week, witnesses in the William Haskins case. Haskins is accused of burning his store in Boardman last winter.
