CLUB PLANS QUILT MAKING

Thirteen reversed its ill-fame and proved a lucky number, indeed, when Spitzentium Club members met yesterday with Mrs. Anna Nash at her home on Mill street. White chrysanthemums lent abundant charm to the rooms, and as the guests enjoyed chatting plans were laid for a program of social service needlework. Quilt pieces are to be fashioned into blocks and the finished article will be either given to the Red Cross or sold for its benefit. Each member, too, is to make a garment for the Salvation Army.

An interesting feature yesterday was found in old time pictures of the guests. Each was asked to bring her earliest photograph and the guessing of identities was unique, while first "pieces" were again recited.

The approach of Thanksgiving was heralded in a contest of words to be supplied in the narrative of a turkey, read by Mrs. Anna Storie and during the closing hour a delightful luncheon was served.

BRIDGE LUNCHEONS PLEASE

Nine bridge luncheon tables, their appointments marked by a dainty motif of yellow, were surrounded yesterday by friends of Mrs. William J. Clarke, Mrs. Hillis H. Hattery, Mrs. Earle P. Tulloch, Mrs. John Vaughan and Mrs. David B. Hill, who entertained at the attractive home of Mrs. Clark on Jackson street. Guests found their places at one o'clock and ragged yellow chrysanthemums lent their artistic dovetail.

In the play which filled the afternoon hours, score trophies fell to Mrs. Willard Bond and Mrs. Norborne Berkeley. Out of town guests who shared the event were Mrs. J. N. Burgess and Mrs. Robert Stanfield, both former Pendleton matrons who are here from Portland.

DELPHIAN CLUB MEETS

Delphian Club members enjoyed meeting yesterday as guests of Mrs. F. A. Llewellyn and an interesting program and delightful tea hour were shared at her home on Lincoln street. The following numbers marked the study hour:

The Monk as a Civilizer
Mrs. L. L. Rogers

The Feudal System

Miss Barbara Hoch
Mrs. Alger Poe

White chrysanthemums nodded from lovely bouquets to deck the pretty rooms and they formed a central cluster for the tea table which was presided over by Mrs. R. D. Sayres. Mrs. L. M. Spaulding assisted Mrs. Llewellyn in serving the guests and during the closing hour a delightful luncheon was served.

RETURNS FOR VISIT

Friends in Pendleton are welcoming the visit of Mrs. Chauncey Smith who before her marriage was Miss Grace Oliver. Mrs. Smith is the guest of her mother, Mrs. R. L. Oliver on Perkins avenue. This is her first return to Pendleton since her wedding and she will remain for a few weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Smith are making their home at Humsum, Washington.

FORMAL DANCE IS SCHEDULED

The first formal dancing party to be given by Pendleton Elks in the ball room of their new lodge is scheduled for the evening of Thanksgiving day. The event promises to be a delightful one and added anticipation attends the

ENTERTAINED IN WALLA WALLA

A party of Pendleton folk motored to Walla Walla yesterday and enjoyed an interesting day as guests in the Garden City. They were Rev. and Mrs. John H. Secor, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Rigby, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Planting, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Frick, Mrs. Kenneth Warner, Miss A. Caldwell, Miss O. M. Mathis, Mrs. M. Holstrom, Mrs. G. W. Rugg, Miss M. Harris, Mrs. W. J. Stockman, Mrs. George Hunter, Mrs. A. King and A. W. Rugg. The party attended a Sunday school institute and were then entertained at dinner by the Pioneer M. E. church there. The affair was given at the church at 6 o'clock and the guests motored home later in the evening.

EL DEEN CLUB ENTERTAINED

The home of Mrs. Alfred Smith on River Drive was the scene yesterday of a delightful meeting of the El Deen Club. A careful glance at the name taken backward, shows that the club devotes its time to sewing, and Christmas gifts claimed yesterday's attention. A dainty luncheon filled the final hour. Mrs. Smith's table being artistically graced by white chrysanthemums arranged with feathery green.

Ten members constitute the club roll and all were present yesterday excepting Mrs. Earl Gillanders and Mrs. Will Sheahan, to whom sympathy was extended because of illness.

W. C. T. U. PLANS PROGRAM

W. C. T. U. members are anticipating a meeting on Tuesday when a program is to be given. "Happy Homes—A Happy Republic," is the theme for the day. The following numbers have been arranged:

- Devotional.
- Music—"Work for Enforcement Where You Are."
- Business.
- Repetition of W. C. T. U. Catechism (by request).
- Members are asked for 2:30 o'clock and they are to gather in the club room of the library.

DANCING PARTY PLANNED

Late autumn and the nearness of the Thanksgiving holidays usher in a season of festivity, and plans for dancing parties are greeted with interest. On Tuesday evening the spacious rooms of Mrs. William Matlock's apartment on Court and Garden streets will be the scene of an affair to be given by the Parish House Guild of the Episcopal church. The event will be in the nature of a benefit for the furnishing of Parish hall, the attractive church reception room which has already housed a score of city and church entertainments.

WILL WED TOMORROW

Miss Ada L. Prann, of Hermiston, will tomorrow become the bride of Robert Hobbs, formerly of Hermiston, now of Portland. The ceremony will take place in Hermiston. Miss Prann is a popular girl and Mr. Hobbs also has many friends in the west end city. He served during the war as a member of the first Army Corps. The couple will make their home in Portland where Mr. Hobbs is employed by the American Express Company.

ENJOYS DELIGHTFUL VISIT

Mrs. W. N. Matlock has returned from Walla Walla where she has enjoyed almost a fortnight as the houseguest of Mrs. Harriet Ankeny Pope at the Levi Ankeny home. The time was filled with extensive entertaining and Mrs. Matlock's visit was a delightful one.

LUTHER LEAGUE ENTERTAINED

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hudemann again extended pleasing hospitality when last night the Luther League met at their home. A number of readings and musical selections followed by games and refreshments made the meeting an enjoyable one.

IN STURGIS RESIDENCE

Mr. and Mrs. Polydore Moens and daughters, Miss Gabrielle Moens and Miss Blanche Moens, and son, Frank Moens, are residing in Pendleton during the winter months. They are domiciled at the James Sturgis residence, 216 Monroe street.

BIRTHDAY IS COMPLIMENTED

An interesting affair of the week was given Tuesday in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. L. W. Stockman. About 30 friends called to shower congratulations and the evening proved most enjoyable.

BLACK HAZE SETTLES ACROSS DEATH VALLEY AND LONELY OCCUPANT

TONOPAH, Nev., Nov. 20.—(A. P.)—Descending 6,000 feet from Chloride Cliff, in the Piute range, to the floor of Death Valley, approximately 200 feet below sea level, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Boak and Miss Blanche Robb recently motored into that historic valley. They have just returned to their homes here.

Describing the trip, Mr. Boak declared he considered "the view from Chloride Cliff the equal of, if not superior to that of the Grand Canyon in Arizona."

In Death Valley they visited the only white there, named Denton. He lives at Furnace creek ranch, owned by a borax company and maintained simply to protect the water right of Furnace creek.

"The heat at no time during portions of the two days we spent in the valley was excessive," Mr. Boak said "about 90 degrees in the shade being the warmest. Mr. Denton, who has been there eighty years, keeps the government weather records and he told us 'only 134' in the shade' was the warmest on record."

"At times, he said during the heat of the summer, a black gaseous haze would lie motionless on the sump of the valley for days. During such times he never dared go outside the house, he said, he kept his water-power propelled fan going continuously until a breeze dispersed the haze.

"Mount Whitney, in the main range of the Sierras, was clearly visible. Thus one stands in the lowest valley in the world and feasts the eye upon snow-clad peak of the highest mountain in the United States."
