GOING FOR THE BEST
(By Frank L. Stanton.)

We heed not how the world goes from the shiny east to west;
We just keep on a-hopin' that it's goin' for the best,
Time an' tide, an' trouble—red thorns at the breast,
But this old world I tell you—is goin' for the best!

The wintry days are lonesome, an' filled with storms an' sighs,
But the light of heaven is with us when the rain is round our eyes,
It isn't always sorrow—not always paths unblest;
This old world, I tell you, is goin' for the best!

Then let us sing together—just raise the tune that way!
Even Winter has a blossom that's a memory of May!
The happy times are with us, and love's in light expressed,
And this old world, I tell you, is goin' for the best.

AN IRREGULAR READJUSTMENT

THE period of readjustment will have some surprises, some welcome and some otherwise. There is a general downward tendency at present but according to good forecasters there will be no universal and continuous decline until everything reaches the pre war basis. On the contrary, the view is expressed that prices will manifest irregularity but never really reach the pre war figures, except in spots. Hermiston hay growers say the hay price is already at a pre war figure, but in general such low prices are not to be expected because there is still much financial expansion and will be for years to come.

One reason why there will be irregularities in readjustment that conditions are different in different lines of business and industry. In some lines prices cannot come down until there have been far greater changes than have thus far been experienced. There are other lines where price reductions could be made but the temptation will be strong to keep them up. Raw products naturally fall first. Manufactured goods always pass through several different hands and at times lower prices for the consumer will be delayed. The prospect of a high tariff is also a factor. In the case of luxuries or lines where style changes may occur drastic cuts may be expected. During the next year there will probably be some low prices and some very high prices. Some people will be hurt and others helped. What is one man's meat is another's poison. But the law of supply and demand is working and like the mills of the gods grinds slowly but exceeding fine.

WOULD SALEM GO BACK?

SALEM newspaper is alarmed over the fear that the management of the Oregon Agricultural College has an ambition to make the school the largest of its kind in the United States. The fear expressed is based on the probable cost. The agricultural college does cost money and so does the university. But they are worth it. If this nation can afford to pay from three to five billions annually for war purposes, Oregon digging up her share which runs into many millions, the taxpayer can afford a small charge each year for higher education. If anyone wishes to economize let him take after the War God rather than the schools of the state.

Surely the Salem country need not worry over the cost of the agricultural college. There was a time not many years ago when Salem and that region had no such prosperity as they now enjoy. In the last decade there has been a transformation in the agricultural methods of that section. Acres that were once almost unused now produce good profits from loganberries, from strawberries, dairying, etc. These modern methods were inspired largely by the agricultural college and the change has meant millions to Salem. A capital city newspaper that is not understand the value of the agricultural college's work does not understand Salem.

A RECIPE FOR GOOD TIMES

UTAH paper quotes A. G. Clark, manager of Associated Industries of Oregon, as saying in Salt Lake City that entirely too much of the promotion energy of the West is used in effort to market raw products. The assertion ought to be applied in Oregon.

Population gathers and prosperity abides in centers of manufacture. Oregon's wheat is worth much more to Oregon if ground into flour before it is exported to England or the Orient. Men are employed, payrolls are maintained and the by-product feed becomes an important sustaining element of the dairy industry.

A few people, comparatively, are necessary in cutting the giant trees of Oregon's forests, but the sawmill more than doubles the value of timber, while furniture factories, besides giving many more people employment, multiply several times the value of the rough lumber.

Every manufacturing operation applied to lumber, grain, fruit, fish and meats widens the defensive circle which keeps good times at home and hardship at a distance.—Oregon Journal.

If unpreparedness caused Germany to force this nation into the war we can be thankful we were not prepared because without Uncle Sam in the game the kaiser would have won the war and then we would have had to fight a worse war than we did.

A Boston man who has been left a million dollars says he will not accept it. He may not be as crazy as appears at first sight. If he has ability he can have more fun making a hundred thousand than he could have in spending a million.

Montana has a manhunt underway; a good point for them to remember is that criminals, like all other people, have to eat.

Unemployment will work considerable hardship on many in large cities before the winter is over.

THE FORDSON TRACTOR

Tractor farming has come to stay. The knowledge that the tractor is the speediest, most practical and economical power in common to nearly every one in the farming community.

The general trend now is from the big tractor to the smaller and more economical. Ranchers everywhere are getting away from the big over haul jobs, the expensive parts and high priced operators.

The Fordson is the logical tractor. The tractor that fills the requirements of the smaller economical type.

It does not matter if you already own a caterpillar, you can use a Fordson to good advantage. Place it along side of any six to eight mile team. Keep track of the actual time that each are in the field working during the day. You will find the Fordson will get in an hour more actual work than the mules. You will also see that the Fordson is traveling twice as fast as the mules and that you are using an average of less than two gallons of COAL OIL to the acre.

The Fordson is no experiment. Over one-third of all the tractors in use in the United States are Fordsons.

Come in or call us up and we will be glad to demonstrate. Watch it do the work that you have to do every year. Watch the ease, economy and speed with which it does it. If you have any work to do this fall let us help you get it done and in doing this you will have the opportunity to see the Fordson in action. We know you will appreciate the saving in initial cost, in operation and upkeep. If you don't you owe us nothing.

REPUBLICAN CHAIRMAN ASKS COIN FOR DEFICIT

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(A. P.)—An appeal for contributions to make up a deficit of approximately $1,500,000 in the campaign fund of the republican national committee was sent out last night by Will H. Hays, national chairman.

The appeal, addressed to the "Republicans of the country and those who aided them," called attention to the report of the treasurer filed Monday in Washington, pointing out that although the buying power of the dollar was materially less than in 1916, the 1920 campaign had actually been conducted at less than the Hughes campaign four years ago.

P.)—Harry Jacobs, negro, while on trial yesterday for an assault on a white woman, was taken from the courtroom yesterday and lynched by a mob which gained access by breaking down two doors. Despite efforts of court officials and others to prevent violence, the negro was seized, a rope placed about his neck and dragged two blocks through the main street after which the rope was tied to the axle of an automobile which dragged him to a bridge where the lifeless body was swung to a limb of a tree and riddled with bullets. One man was accidentally shot.

P.)—Thirty-two persons in the army were sentenced to death by courts martial during the last fiscal year, but in no case was the sentence carried into effect, says Major-General E. H.
