CALIFORNIA VISITORS PETED
An event of more than usual interest was shared by Oregon folk last week when Mrs. Frank E. King who is sojourning at Long Beach, California, entertained a group of other travelers in the southern state. The affair was an event of Thursday and news of it reached Pendleton friends today. The King family is domiciled at 1692 East Seventh street and the rooms of the home were abloom with California flowers and greens, chrysanthemums and nasturtiums combined to fashion a theme of yellow. Needlework and visiting afforded an enjoyable afternoon and Mrs. King served her guests with a charmingly appointed luncheon. Her list included, from Pendleton, Mrs. Douglas Belts, Mrs. J. M. Brown, Mrs. Nellie Park, Mrs. Gideon Brown, Mrs. J. W. Kern, Mrs. J. E. E. King, Mrs. Jinks Dudley, Mrs. Casey, Mrs. Frank Richmond, Mrs. Charley Davis, Mrs. Johnnie Wynn and Mrs. Elain, and from New York, Mrs. McQuillin, and Mrs. Faye-Jepson, of California.

The Kings who made the trip south by motor are enjoying their stay in the beach city. The two daughters and son are attending school there, Miss Merle King being a student at Healds College and Miss Lorene attending Carrol Park school and the family plans to remain south throughout the winter.

K. K. K. ENTERTAINED.
Miss Margaret Joergler extended a delightful bit of hospitality last evening when she was hostess to a group of K. K. K. members. They were Mrs. Thomas Ward, Mrs. L. W. Kingsbury, Miss Elizabeth Joergler, Miss Alma Rohrman, Miss Eva Black, Miss Edna Beckey, Miss Skoll Farley, Miss Laura Schwartz and Miss Rita Joergler.

A Thanksgiving motif marked the affair and at the supper hour, guests found places at a table where a cloth of crepe paper depicted pumpkins and cornstalks. Yellow streamers fluttered from the electroliter to the covers and yellow chrysanthemums were encircled by miniature turkey gobblers which guarded dainty bon bon baskets at the places. Prints of more feathered companions vied with baskets of vivid fruits to line the walls. The affair was a delightful one.

MRS. BERTHOLET TO DEPART.
Mrs. Gus Bertholet, formerly of this city, now of Pasco, will leave tomorrow for Washington, D. C., where she will represent Pasco at the national Red Cross conference. She will go later to New York and then to Fort Ethan Allen, where her son, Captain Frank Bertholet, is stationed.

MRS. SAUL IS GUEST.
Mrs. G. W. Saul of The Dalles will arrive this evening in Pendleton and will be a guest of Mrs. Constance Isaacs at Hawthorne during Thanksgiving. Mrs. Saul, who was for many years active in club work in Portland, is now secretary of the Red Cross in The Dalles.

WILL VISIT IN LA GRANDE.
Mrs. Anna Furnish, Miss Kathryn Furnish, Roy Furnish and Mrs. Frank Stevens, Mrs. Furnish's mother, are to leave tonight for La Grande to spend Thanksgiving at the home of Mrs. Henry Hill, another daughter of Mrs. Stevens.

LEAVE FOR SPOKANE.
Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Schiller left this morning for Spokane where they will spend Thanksgiving with relatives.

PANTRY TABLE WILL ATTRACT
Caudrons already are steaming, kettles are singing and kitchens are braced by a hundred aromas of cookery—and goodies for everybody will lead the Pantry table on Friday evening, December 3; jellies, jams, mince-meat, pies, cakes, doughnuts and even spaghetti will there abound, for the Pantry Table, in reality is none other than the booth which will feature cooked foods at the annual bazaar of the Church of the Redeemer.

Mrs. Norborne Berkeley is in charge of the interesting event and Mrs. J. B. Perry is assistant chairman, while others working on the committee are Mrs. C. C. Whiteman, Mrs. C. H. Williamson, Mrs. W. J. Clarke, Mrs. N. Burgess, Mrs. Westbrook Dickson, Mrs. Mary A. Dismore, Mrs. A. L. Schaefer, Mrs. Elizabeth Shull, Mrs. Ellen Bond, Mrs. Frank Frazier, Mrs. Ed Strahorn, Mrs. C. K. Cranston, Mrs. Charles H. Carter, Mrs. Clinton Roosevelt, Mrs. Burnett, Mrs. R. M. Sawtelle, Mrs. Constance Isaacs and Miss Edna Thompson.

Besides the Pantry Table will be a tea corner where callers will be served under the direction of Mrs. Whiteman, Mrs. Dickson and Mrs. Frazier.

BAZAAR DATE IS NEAR.
Doors to the annual fair of the Presbyterian Ladies Aid Society will swing wide at one o'clock Saturday afternoon and the Ellis-Schiller display room, already wonderfully attractive, will disclose a fascinating array of gifts and goodies designed to tempt the Christmas novelty seeker or the most fastidious sweet-tooth. The pretty room will also become a tea parlor and throughout the afternoon and evening callers may congregate about the tables to enjoy cake with a cup of tea or coffee.

Needlework, too, will be featured. Among the booths being prepared for by their chairmen are:
Fancywork booth—Mrs. S. H. Thompson.
Miscellaneous booth—Mrs. E. E. Baer.
Apron booth—Mrs. Joe Cox.
Candy booth—Mrs. H. E. McLean.
The tea room will be in charge of Mrs. H. Cox and Mrs. R. H. Horn. Mrs. William Blakley is in charge of the sale.

CLUB PLANS COMPLETED.
The home of Mrs. Charles Daniels, 111 South Main street, housed a delightful affair yesterday when Busy Bee Club members were entertained there in compliment to Mrs. Truman Rogers. A short business session preceded the social hour, Mrs. Dora Allen, vice-president, presiding in the absence of Mrs. Catherine Blahm. A guessing contest was then enjoyed, high honors falling to Mrs. A. H. Wendt and Mrs. F. P. Beltz. Little Miss Mary Louise Dickson gave a clever reading and the guests enjoyed a buffet luncheon. Yellow and white chrysanthemums were used throughout the rooms and luncheon appointments were apropos of Thanksgiving, little turkeys of paper mache made being much in evidence.

Guests other than members who shared the event were Mrs. H. J. Kavanagh, Mrs. W. S. Feischer, Mrs. Forrest Baker, Mrs. Ed Geiss, Mrs. Westbrook Dickson, Mrs. Thomas Robertson, Miss Margaret Elder and Mrs. Earle Williams.

DANCE MUCH ENJOYED.
Delightful, indeed was the festivity sponsored last evening by the Parish House Guild of the church of the Redeemer when guests assembled at the home of Mrs. W. F. Matlock to dance away the evening hours or gather about the card tables to enjoy a few rubbers of bridge or an impromptu game of "500." A note of informality prevailed the affair and made it a charming one. Mrs. Matlock's handsome apartments were attractive with white autumn flower sand foliage, while yellow shades entwined the electroliter. An inviting punch bowl was in charge of the girls of Mrs. George Hartman's Sunday school class and the younger maids of the church sold candy which in the hands of James Welch, as auctioneer, was quickly disposed of for the benefit of the Sanctuary Chapter.

A sum near $50 was cleared by the Guild by last evening's successful event.

DEPARTS FOR PORTLAND.
Mrs. Frank Holdman left today for Portland on No. 17 to spend Thanksgiving and the coming week visiting with relatives. Harold Holdman, her son, who is attending the University of Oregon at Eugene, will be in Portland for the week end and will join Mrs. Holdman there.

RETURNS FROM PORTLAND.

EXPERT SAYS PRICES WILL CONTINUE SLIDE

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—(U. P.)—Living costs, now on the run, will continue dropping indefinitely, expert witnesses testified today in a supplementary hearing before United States Judge Alschuler on the wage demands of 2,000,000 packing house workers. Present price declines are barked by "financial uncertainty, plant closing, lower wages and a general demand for thrift," J. L. Wells, economist and witness for the packers, declared. Wells cited recent bureau of labor statistics showing declines in food costs of three percent in October.

Wells produced other figures to prove that prices on all essentials tumbled 5.4 percent during the last month.

Other witnesses for packers contended that the drop amounted to 10 percent during last year on all articles except food and clothing, which they said fell 50 percent. The greatest reductions were made last month, they contended. Attorneys for employes agreed the tendency of prices has been downward but argued that it is
