Little Snow In Mountains
There is but little snow in the mountains, says H. A. Botcher, assistant forest supervisor. The rain caused the melting of the snow and there is none save a light fall above the 5,000 feet altitudes.

Luncheon to be Given
A basket luncheon will be given at the Christian church tomorrow night, according to announcement made today by Rev. R. L. Hussabarger, pastor. Rev. A. R. Liverett, of the First Christian Church in Walla Walla, will be chief speaker.

Mrs. J. F. Beck and Mrs. Lulu Dungan have opened a dressmaking and art work shop at 661 College street. Mrs. Beck will be in charge of dressmaking and remodeling while Mrs. Dungan will manage the art work, which will include the making of curtains and draperies.

Angling Season Closes Tomorrow
The season for angling in this part of the state closes at sundown tomorrow and between that time and April 1, 1921, no trout fishing will be permitted. The closed season will discontinue but few anglers, as high water recently has made trout fishing out of the question hereabouts.

Grading for Tennis Court
Dr. D. B. Hill, a devotee of tennis, plans to entertain his neighbors on the north hill at the racket game next summer without necessity for making the long trip to Round-Up park. He is grading a plot of ground in rear of his residence on Upper Jefferson Street and will complete the court in the spring.

Bankrupt Cases Referred
Jacob Hees, Freewater farmer, and N. E. Morgan, of Pendleton, were adjudged bankrupt in the U. S. court at Portland last week and their cases were referred today to Judge Thomas F. H. Gerald, referee in bankruptcy for this county. The former has liabilities of $14100 and the latter liabilities of $1695.26. Neither has assets which are not classed as exempt.

Annual Meeting Announced
The second annual meeting of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce is to be held in Portland on Tuesday and Wednesday, December 28 and 29, beginning at 10 a. m. on the first day. Notice of the meeting was received today by the Pendleton Commercial Association with a request that it be represented. The sessions will be held in the Portland Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Oregon building.

Ducks Were Scarce Sunday
Hunters who journeyed early to the ponds in the west end of the county Sunday returned with reports of poor luck. The birds which have been in this vicinity for several weeks are native ducks and are difficult to get the drop on. Weather in the north has been so mild that the northern ducks are not yet in these parts. Most of the hunters managed to get a few birds but they were far from plentiful.

Laying Half Mile of Main
The city water department at present is laying nearly a half mile of new mains on streets where paying is to be done shortly. Most of the new pipe, which is of iron, is being placed on important north side streets. There are 1888 feet of four-inch pipe and 394 feet of six-inch pipe, a total of 2282 feet. This, with elbows, tees, wyes, and other connections, cost the department $5436.61. Before the war the pipe could be purchased and laid in the ground for what the pipe now costs alone, the water department reported.

Cash Customers in Police Court
After suffering for several days from the tightness of the money market, police court this morning received $50 in forfeitures. Five drunks, arrested Saturday night, each put up $10 bail for their release Sunday morning and forfeited this morning by failing to appear for trial. Four of the five were Indians. The list included Tyca-ne, George Lucas, Ty-Toy, Tom Conness and George Washington. In addition, $25 was turned over to the recorder to pay the fine of Billy Dick, who was found guilty Saturday of driving an auto while intoxicated.

Club Has New Visitors' Register
A new visitors' register bound in purple suede leather and bearing the emblem of the order and the name of the local lodge, was installed at the Elks Temple Saturday. The first name in the new book is that of J. A. Murray, of this city, who holds membership in Eugene lodge No. 257. The register displaced has given service for the past six years, its date of baptism having been September 18, 1914. George J. Burt, who belongs to Yakima lodge No. 218 and is now a traveling auditor for the O. W. R. & N. Co., was the first to sign in that book.

Cross Sections to Be Made
Cross sections of several city streets which are shortly to be advertised for paving, are to be made by the city engineer's department this week, providing the weather remains as it is today. A crew working under Engineer F. B. Hayes will make the preliminary estimates and grades for Thompson street, Perkins avenue and Grant street from Washington to Wilson, Washington street from Perkins avenue to Grant street and Turk street from court to Turner. Grand street resolution in ready to be presented to the council for the passage.

Additions to Vaults Done
Installation of nearly 800 new boxes in the safe deposit system of the American National Bank was completed on Saturday by safe experts from the Mosler Safe Co., Portland branch. The bank now has 340 boxes of various sizes in its vault. A steel panel ceiling and new lights have been installed and at the far end of the vault is a full length plate glass mirror. A new cork tile floor has been laid.
