H. B. Richmond, of Walla Walla is a Pendleton business visitor today.

A. P. Knight left last night on No. 23 for Portland where he will visit his father, G. W. Knight.

E. B. Amrich, editor of the East Oregonian, left Friday night for Portland and Astoria on a short business trip.

C. P. A. Loneragan, manager for the Warren Construction Co., here, left on last evening's train for Portland on a business trip.

Sylvan G. Cohn, of Sylvan G. Cohn Co. Inc., is expected to return tomorrow after a business visit to Tacoma, Bend and Portland.

Carl Engdahl, manager of the mill, director of the bank and one of the most extensive wheat farmers of Helix is a Pendleton business visitor today.

Charles Bowers left this morning for Portland where he will see the Multnomah Club football eleven meet the Pacific Fleet squad. He will visit his brother, Russell Bowers and will later go to Roseburg before returning to Pendleton.

Noted as the biggest practical joker in his community, Jean P. Kirkpatrick is also its chief disseminator of news. Pilot Rock and the south of the county hears what "Kirk" knows through the columnist the Pilot Rock Record, which he owns and edits. Mr. Kirkpatrick is in Pendleton today on business.

H. L. Frasier, of Milton, was a county commissioner years ago when Zoeth Houser was sheriff of Umatilla county. The latter got into politics again and was elected but Mr. Frasier is busy with his private interests in the east end, which are extensive and will not get into harness like his friend, this year. Mr. Frasier came down from Milton today with his brother, on business. He reports little activity in the grain trade in his section.

Since removing from Pendleton to Portland to reside, F. E. Judd, formerly vice president of the American National Bank, has been in the wood business. At present there is no wood business, Mr. Judd who is here today on business, said. He came up with W. L. Thompson, president of the American National Bank, this morning, to be present at a monthly meeting of the directors of the institution tonight. Mr. Judd is still a director in the bank.

Stock men in the south of Umatilla county will have a few thousand dollars on their feed bills where last winter they lost more than a few, Sam Nelson, cattleman from a few, Sam Nelson, reported that the grass on the ranges is the best it has been at this season for many years and with virtually an open winter pastures are good enough for all stock at this time, thus doing away with the expense of feeding hay.

Roy W. Ritter, assured of the place as president of Oregon's next senate, left this morning on No. 24 for La Grande to confer with senators in that city and also will look over the needs of the far eastern counties of Oregon with a view to outlining a program for the forthcoming meeting. Under the new law recently adopted, Mr. Ritter, following his installation as president of the senate, will become acting governor upon the absence from the state of the governor or upon his removal from office.

Two bank cashiers of country banks are absent from their windows, desks or whatever they occupy today. Fred H. Moss, of the Bank of Helix, and C. W. Paulin, of the First Bank of Pilot Rock, left on last night's train for Portland and today are transacting business in the metropolis. They will be back on their respective jobs the first of next week.

M. L. Morrison, who formerly operated a large store in Helix but has lately retired to his ranch, was in the city today on business.

G. W. Eade, farmer of Milton, is in Pendleton today to attend a meeting of the Farmers Union at the County Library. James Frasier, of Milton, also is here for the same purpose.

White & Gates, evangelists who have been at Milton for the past month holding evangelistic services at the First Christian Church, came to Pendleton today and will hold a service here tonight. They are to go next to Los Angeles.

Twenty-two years ago A. C. Barnekoff toted a gun in the Spanish American War as a regular in the U. S. army but today he sells bank supplies for Glass & Prudhomme, of Portland. It has been nearly 15 years that Mr. Barnekoff has held this position and he has "made" Pendleton regularly in that time. He is in the city today visiting the banking houses with whom his company does business.

three months. Our wheat surplus has been greatly increased by those conditions.

Expects Congressional Action
"Propaganda for the reduction of the high cost of living has affected all commodities. The farmer should look at the reduction in the price of his commodity from a strictly business standpoint. He should recognize the advisability of moving his products to market in an orderly manner and should receive and is entitled to receive from his banker every consideration. In turn, his banker is entitled to and should receive every consideration from the federal reserve bank, upon which the banks must rely in such a time as this for credit.

"I am satisfied that congress will recognize at the coming session the justice of the demands of the farmers and stockmen. These men were the only ones who, during the entire war period, had the prices of their products fixed by law and now they are entitled to at least definite assistance in financing their affairs.

"Farmers should appeal, both individually and through their organizations, to their members in congress for immediate legislation along the lines suggested. I believe congress will see the justice of their requests and provide for their relief.

"Prospects now look good for another crop and it will be harvested in a few months. It will be the farmer's most expensive wheat crop but I am optimistic over the situation which will prevail by the time it is cut. For the present the relief rests with congress and with the farmer himself."

REBOUND OF OVER 20 CENTS ON BUSHEL IS RECORDED IN WEEK

Rise is of Most Substantial Character Since Curtain Went Up on Unpopular Attraction Early in November.

BY CHARLES C. BROWNE (of Overbeck & Cooke Co.)

Early in November the greatest crash in wheat values of modern times was staged. It proved to be a continuous performance with only brief intermissions throughout the month. During the last days of November the curtain came down and the unpopular attraction was over for the time being, much to the relief of a large portion of the observers, whose attention was commanded by the spectacle. Therefore, it is profoundly hoped that there will not be an early return visitation.

The range of prices during the month of November encompassed a decline of startling proportions. From high to low it was 58 1/2c and 57 1/2c, or $2.10 1/2 to $1.52 and $2.04 1/2 to $1.47 for December and March contracts respectively. This shrinkage in market value of the leading cereal is all the more serious, because the recent decline was preceded by one of even greater proportions, but extending over a longer period of time and therefore of a less violent character.

Wheat Above Other Goods
And yet, as drastic as the cut in wheat prices has been, the fact remains that of all the leading basic commodities, wheat is higher as compared with prewar prices than anything on the list. Prior to the inflation, incident to the great war, wheat above $1.90 was considered high. Prices of $1.10 to $1.20 for wheat started the world and the subject was given first page space in the great daily newspapers of the country. Cartoonists were depicting the situation graphically in their drawings.

As a result of the recent general liquidation and readjustment downward, corn, the crop of greatest volume and potential wealth in this country, is down to within the prewar prices. Cotton, the crop which is largely exported, therefore brings the most cash money into the country from foreign shores, likewise is deflated to ante-bellum levels. Copper at 13 cents a pound is below the average cost of production. Oats and other commodities are deflated. Twelve basic commodities have declined an average of 32.5 per cent, since the high point of record in May.

Changes Beyond Control
This slump in business has demonstrated again that the great movements which make "good times" or "bad times" are spontaneous and beyond control. The movement has gone too far in some directions for confidence to be restored or buying to be stimulated, until it has gone further in other directions. The situation as regards purchasing power, is more disorganized and out of balance, than it has been at any previous time. Farming population has suffered a loss of purchasing power amounting somewhere between 25 and 40 per cent. Prices of articles that farmers must purchase will have to come down in proportion to the decline that has taken place in products of the farm.

There can be no restoration of confidence until retail prices are in line with producers prices. The course of the wheat markets has been shaped and steered by the trend of events in the business world. Vast economic changes are still in progress.

CHARIVARI PROVES ENJOYABLE

An old fashioned charivari was given by Mr. and Mrs. John Crow, Jr. (Miss Mildred Bowman) at the Crow ranch on Tutuilla Creek last evening. A crowd of town people motored to the ranch and an old fashioned dance was enjoyed. Square dances, quadrilles, and tag two steps were again brought into play.

Among those in the party were Mr. and Mrs. William Hanson, Elmer Crow, Miss Edith Hoskins, Miss Carlisle Hoskins, Chester Hoskins, Miss Anna Goddard, Miss Evelyn Davis, Miss Myrtle Dunn, Jack Wirth,

- Scherzo-Tarantelle (Wienlawski)—Jascha Heifetz.
- La Boheme—O soave fanciulla — Amelita Galli-Curci.
- Magic of your eyes—Frances Aida.

RECITAL SHOWS EXCELLENCE
The charming home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Scott was the scene last night of a very enjoyable recital when about thirty of the younger pupils from the McDonald Studios were presented.

The program consisted largely of piano numbers and was exceptionally well played throughout. Many of the tiny tots had learned their notes only since September but they played with poise and finish quite remarkable. The program was varied with a few more difficult selections from advanced pupils and little Miss Laura Elizabeth Woodward and Ralph Terjeson offered violin numbers.

Copper toned chrysanthemums lent their charm to the spacious room which were filled with interested friends and parents of the young students.

Those appearing were Beryl Harrah, Selma Enbysk, Prudence Gray, June Eddy, Ruth Arnold, Vera Leaf, Evelyn Struve, Laura Elizabeth Woodward, Agnes Betrail, Lois McCook, Margaret Scott, Pauline Scott, Glen Simpson, Esther Richardson, Lucile Pearson, Jack Nelson, Ruth Lester, Alora Nelson, Henrietta Rosenberg, Thelma Morris, Esther Winn, Dorthea Dodge, Frances Ross, Doris Macy, Isabella Macy, Evelyn Powell, Florence McDermold, Stella Merton, Robert Dunn, Robert Beck, Ralph Terjeson and La Velle Gray.
