MRS. BISHOP IN SALEM

Mrs. C. P. Bishop has returned from an extended visit in Portland, Hood River and Pendleton. In the metropolis she was the guest of her son, Roy Bishop, and in Hood River was entertained at the home of her sister, Mrs. Roberts. She was joined in Pendleton by Mr. Bishop and was the Thanksgiving guest of her son, Chauncey Bishop, one of the prominent business men of the eastern Oregon city. While in the latter place Mrs. Bishop was guest of honor at numerous social functions, two luncheons, two parties and formal dinner being given as compliments to the charming Salem matron. She renewed acquaintance with a host of old friends and enjoyed her visit immensely.

Returning to Portland she was again the house guest at the Roy Bishop residence until her departure for Salem.—Salem Statesman.

They were Mrs. Kenneth McRae, Mrs. Earl Gillanders, Mrs. David Johnson, Mrs. Joseph Koronick, Mrs. Frank Griggs, Mrs. C. A. Crabtree, Mrs. Alfred Smith and the hostess.

IS DANCING PARTNER OF PRINCE

Mrs. Fred H. Gates (nee Miss Della Shaw of Boise, Idaho) who was recently entertained in Pendleton as the house guest of Dr. and Mrs. L. M. Spaulding, not long ago enjoyed an honor which will interest Pendleton friends who had the pleasure of knowing her during the visit here. The following note is copied by the Idaho Statesman from a Pasadena, California, paper and it is accompanied by a charming portrait of Mrs. Gates:

"Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gates, who will make their home in the famous Gates place, South Pasadena, as a part of the Gates family colony, have just returned from their honeymoon, which was spent visiting the different islands of the Pacific.

"While they were at the Moana hotel, Waikiki beach, the Prince of Wales and his party stopped there for a few days en route home from Australia. Dances were held both evenings at the hotel and on both occasions Mrs. Gates had the honor of dancing with the British heir. The prince is famed as a dancer and it is said to be his favorite pastime. Next to that according to Mr. and Mrs. Gates he enjoys swimming and he spent most of the two days in the water.

"Mr. Gates before his marriage was a prominent bachelor member of Los Angeles and Pasadena society, and upon the opening of the season this winter both he and his wife will be feasted. Before her marriage, August 2, Mrs. Gates was Miss Della Shaw and the wedding was held at her parents' home in Boise, Idaho.

"The couple visited San Francisco and Portland before sailing and returned south upon landing in San Francisco on their homeward journey in Mr. Gates' machine."

When Mrs. Gates visited Pendleton as Miss Shaw she became known here as a girl of beauty and lovely personality. Her marriage to Mr. Gates was a social event of the summer in Boise and Mrs. Spaulding went to the Idaho city to act as her matron of honor.

INFORMAL HOURS ENJOYED

W. McGee.

A dainty luncheon claimed brilliant crimson carnations for its table appointments.

In the party were Mrs. Kim Morton, Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Arthur New-
