SIX HUNDRED ELIGIBLE FOR REHABILITATION

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Dec. 6.—The Corvallis office handles practically all of the rehabilitation agricultural students for the entire state of Oregon and for six counties in southwestern Washington. The district in which O. A. C. is situated comprises all of western Oregon south of Salem and Klamath and Lake counties in southeastern Oregon.

Rehabilitation is training a man for some vocation in which his disability will not act as a handicap. This is the definition for rehabilitation given by Miles S. Johns, supervisor for the local federal board and O. A. C. graduate of 1914.

Many in School. The federal board has declared 600 men eligible for training in this local district. A great many of these men are now in school and others are receiving training on the job.

Agriculture is popular among the men for there are 169 now registered in training in some phase of agriculture. This condition is brought about mainly through the necessity of keeping many of the men in the open air, especially those who have been wounded.

Trades and industries are represented by 45 rehabilitation men now registered in training who are fitting themselves so as not to be a burden to the country. Disabled service men registered in commerce and professional courses number 75.

Payroll is $30,000. Most of the disabled men in this district who are being trained in agriculture are registered at the Oregon Agricultural college. Approximately 275 of the men in this district are receiving training at the Corvallis institution. The University of Oregon and other institutions in the state have the remainder who are for the most part registered in professional courses.

The monthly payroll for rehabilitation students in Corvallis amounts to $30,000 which means a lot to the municipality for practically all the money remains here.

POMEROY STUDENT WINS TRUNK FOR BRIGHTEST ESSAY

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Dec. 6.—Wayne K. Davis of Pomeroy, Wash. is winner of the trunk offered as a prize by the Associated Industries of Oregon, in the commercial club essay writing contest, held at the club meeting Tuesday. Originally, composition, and general effect were considered in selecting the best essay. The prize will be presented at the next regular meeting.

"How can the Junior commercial club best serve the community and the state?" was the question answered by the five contestants. Many practical and valuable suggestions were offered. All urged that members be trained for future usefulness in commercial organizations by doing tasks close at hand in the way of needed civic and state improvements.
