TENTATIVE DRAFT OF NATIONAL AGREEMENT FOR BASEBALL READY

Treaties Between Two Major Leagues and Between Major and Minor Bodies Submitted to be Ratified Shortly.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(A. P.)—The tentative draft of the proposed new national baseball agreement which is to be the government of the sport, was accepted Sunday by the major and minor league committees which have been working on the document the last two days. The agreement was drafted by Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, George Wharton Pepper of Philadelphia, John Conway Toste of New York, and J. C. Jones of St. Louis.

The committee submitted two tentative agreements, one between the National and American Leagues, and the other between the two major leagues and the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, the minor league organization.

Action on the agreement between the two major leagues will be taken at their annual meetings; that of the National League here on Tuesday and the American League at Chicago Friday. The agreement between the major leagues and the minor league association will be acted upon in a referendum and will be submitted to each of the twenty seven leagues.

Ratification Meeting Next Month.

The latter will hold a meeting at Chicago on January 10 to take final action as an association and on January 12 there will be a joint ratification meeting in Chicago to be participated in by the National and American leagues and the National Association.

The most important controversial point in the proposed agreement between the major leagues and the minors was the relating of the drafting of players from one league by another of higher classification.

The point was not definitely settled by the committee because of the known opposition of the American Association and the International League to the restoration of the draft.

Want Draft Price $7500

The American Association and the International League, it is said, would have no objection to a draft provision if the price for players so taken by the major league clubs is fixed at $7,500. It is understood the major leagues are willing to make the price $5,000.

In order to make progress toward the completion of the new national agreement, the joint committee accepted a provision that the draft be optional. The clause would permit the drafting of players by the major leagues only from those lower leagues but favor such operation, but any minor league that rejects the proposition will not be permitted to draft players from leagues of lower classification. Thus, if the American Association and the International League continued their opposition to the draft, they will be prohibited from drafting players from the leagues of lower class that adopt the provision and the two Class AA circuits then would be restricted to obtaining new players by outright purchase or by developing players not connected with organized baseball.
