NATTY NEW-GREEN AND GOLD JERSEYS DONNED BY HIGH SCHOOL QUINT

Second Week of Basketball Practice Shows That Local Boys Can Shoot Baskets and Have Speed and Weight.

Natty new-green and gold jerseys and Sox were donned Monday afternoon for the first time by the first squad at Pendleton high school for the beginning of the second week of basketball practice. The team that takes the floor in the first games of the season, will look, and sound, a lot like the first team among the wearers of the green and gold. Hanley, and Kramer. The other three will be being worn by Terleson, Stendal and Lawrence.

Coach Dick Hanley had about 25 men turning out last evening and both ends of the floor were swarming with material. The first squad consisted of eight boys last evening, Adkinson and Henderson, being counted in with the regulars, being counted in with the regulars already mentioned. Nearly every man who was out for football during the past season was on the floor last evening.

Squad Shows Promise Although the boys have had only a week of practice, they show a lot of promise. The coach put them through the paces in rapid style last evening, also who brought them through various positions and plays. This was followed by scrimmage in which the team play of the three forward men looked good.

The green and gold jerseys have an eye for the old hoop and were dropping in shots from all angles. They are not weighted yet on the long shiny but with a 16 foot ball out of the regulars are changing.

turning at the guard positions. Cahill held a forward job last year but was placed at guard in order to get a steady man at forward to work with the flashy Stendal. Cahill plays much on the same order as Stendal and the coach converted his brother Myron Hanley, to a forward for balance.

Passing Will Improve Young Hanley handles the ball with more sureness than any of his mates so far. Stendal is the fastest man on the floor and gets off the most spectacular shots when in trim. Cahill, running guard, has his share of shooting to do. Lawrence, at center, tips the ball about where he pleases. Kramer and Terleson both know the guarding game and when they get the direct passing systems down and get the knack of catching the ball will be very valuable men. The passing and catching are weak spots that have thus far been evident but as the boys get more familiar with the second ball after a season of football better results are expected to show.

There is plenty of speed, weight and fight in the squad and the youngsters have any amount of endurance. Both Henderson and Adkinson look promising as sub material and are developing rapidly.

PIE SOCIAL NETS FUNDS FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL USE

(East Oregonian Special.) ADAMS, Dec. 14.—A community pie social was held in the city hall on Friday evening. All young girls and boys who brought pie shared the pie with a partner, who happened to be the lucky one, to receive the pie as the highest bidder. A vote was cast for the two most popular and best looking ladies in Adams and Miss Helen Boyer and Mrs. Bert Kirby won the contest. It was our best vote for such a chance to eat with the winners. Miss Helen Boyer won the contest. The entire proceeds were $22 and will be used to furnish a tent for the young people at Sunday school, as

CHEAPER MILK AT ELECTION BOOTHS

GREEN BAY, Wis.—Housewives here have been going to election booths every morning, not to vote, but to buy milk for 10 cents a quart, 3 cents cheaper than it has been for months. Mayor Elmer S. Hall and the city council back the plan to use the booths as milk distributing stations and it is believed other price drops will follow the slump in milk cost.
