FADING YEAR SEES LAST CAMP SCENES

CAMP FUNSTON, Kan., Dec. 29.—(A. P.)—With the fading of the year the final scenes are being enacted in the history of this cantonment. Through this camp 450,000 Americans passed in the process of training for the world war and here Major General Leonard Wood labored while three complete divisions were whipped into shape to face the foe of democracy.

Abandonment and dismantling of the cantonment under recent orders of the war department probably will mean also the turning of Army City, a civilian municipality on its border, into a deserted village.

In the summer of 1918 there were as many as 45,000 men in training here at one time but when the order to vacate was received 3,000 officers and enlisted men of the seventh division were established here. These are being sent to Camp Meade, Md., with the exception of the Eighth Field Artillery, which is going to Hawaii and the divisional tank corps which is destined for Camp Pike, Ark.

Camp Almost Deserted.
Officers here said today that the camp will be deserted by all except a few hundred caretakers by Jan. 15 of the new year.

CHICAGO PROFESSOR SAYS GIGANTIC STAR MEASURED

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—(A. P.)—An astronomical device perfected by Professor A. A. Michelson, of the University of Chicago, has revealed in experiments at Mount Wilson, Cal., that the star Alpha Centauri, in the constellation of Orion, is 200,000 miles in diameter, approximately three hundred times the sun's diameter, the sun being almost a million times as large at the earth, the earth seems most insignificant in comparison with Alpha Centauri. This was announced by professor Michelson before the American Physical Society.

with $20,000 raised on popular subscription and used as a "community center" by soldiers and visiting relatives.

Camp Funston, occupying 806 of the 40,000 acres in the Fort Riley government reservation, was established early in 1917 and the building plans inaugurated in June of that year. The first troops moved in the following September. It was a training camp, then a demobilization center and of late the station of the Seventh Division.

Wood First Commandant.
General Wood was the first commandant. Under his supervision the 89th division was trained in four months, going overseas in May of 1918. General Wood then was returned to Funston and trained a new division—the Tenth—which was ready to go when the armistice was signed. Prior to the assembling of the 89th, Maj. Gen. J. C. Winn took the Nineteenth division overseas from this camp late in 1917.

Army City represented an outlay in buildings alone of several hundred thousand dollars. Its sole patronage was the Camp Funston soldiers and during the war period it boasted "the largest pool hall, the largest barber shop and the largest laundry in the United States." It also had theaters, stores, cafes, dance halls and churches. With the dwindling of the camp population the town's business has been reduced accordingly.
